Troops Guard New Orleans Grand Jurors In Vote Probe

Huey, on Scene, Calls In Leaders

Soldiers Mobilized After Court Decides to Open Ballot Boxes.

New Orleans, July 31 (AP).—The battle between the district attorney's office and the grand jury over investigation into charges of fraud in last November's election was climaxed today by the declaration of martial law by Gov. O. K. Allen for the city of New Orleans "to such an extent as is necessary to protect the grand jury."

Instructions were issued to the commander of the State militia to arrange for "such protection that may be necessary to enable the grand jury to discharge its functions without violence or molestation." At nightfall the troops had not been remobilized, after their discharge early today following upon their mobilization yesterday and last night.

It was regarded as probable that the troops would be used more as bodyguards for the grand jury than as massed troops, as at first apparently had been intended.

Plans to Open Ballot Boxes.

Declaration of martial law came only two days before District Attorney Eugene Stanley planned to open the seized ballot boxes on order of Judge Alexander C. O'Donnell, of criminal district court, who refused to accept a "no true bill" from the grand jury after one of the jurors had told the court the grand jury report was being submitted without any examination of the boxes.

From the bench in open court, Judge O'Donnell ordered the district attorney, who has been superseded in the case by Attorney General Gaston L. Porterie, to take charge of the investigation, seize the ballot boxes and examine them Wednesday.

Sheriff's deputies seized the ballot boxes and stored them in a sealed room under guard and the grand jury was denied access to the ballots. The grand jurors were driven from the room by the deputies.

Long's Faction "Victorious."

The ballots in questions were on constitutional amendments, supported by the Huey P. Long faction. Totals from many of the precincts were identical and charges of fraud were filed. Before the charges were filed the amendments had been declared adopted and as a result State bonds have been issued.

Action started as soon as Senator Long reached New Orleans yesterday from Washington. He called a conference with his political leaders, including Gov. Allen.

Soon two companies of State militia were mobilized at Jackson Barracks, were issued rifles and revolvers with two clips of ammunition and told to stand by for orders. They stood armed and ready throughout the night and then were demobilized on orders from the executive department.

Grand Jurors Ask Protection.

A few hours after the demobilization, Gov. Allen issued his order for martial law in response to a petition filed by 11 of the 12 members of the grand jury asking for protection from "near anarchy in the courts" and requesting destruction of the November ballots.

The governor ordered the "protection," but declined to order the destruction of the ballots, saying "the courts in their final judgment can be relied upon to pay their proper respect to their previous jurisprudence on these kind of questions; if they should not, I have sufficient authority to protect all parties affected thereby."

Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley was out of the city and the acting mayor, Commissioner A. Miles Pratt, expressed surprise over the martial law order an hour after it had been issued. He said he had not heard of it, but said he had no statement to make.

Food-Poisoning Attack Confines Long to Bed

New Orleans, July 31 (AP).—Senator Huey P. Long was confined to bed at his home tonight with what members of the family said was an attack of food poisoning, but his condition was not considered serious.

The senator's daughter, Miss Rose Long, said the family physician had given her father a medicine to induce sleep.

Rolph Signs 2½ Pct. Retail Tax in California

San Francisco, July 31 (AP).—Gov James Rolph, jr., signed today a bill levying a 2½ per cent tax on gross retail sales. The measure is effective at midnight.

Fever May Awaken 18-Month Sleeper

Chicago, July 31 (AP).—Medical science today began another effort to rouse 28-year-old Patricia Maguire from the sleep in which she has been for almost 18 months.

Her physician began treatments which consist of typhoic inoculations to produce a fever, which, it is hoped, will "burn out" the infection of sleeping sickness which has kept the girl in a coma since February, 1932.

Miss Maguire, an Oak Park girl, who was the secretary to a publisher, has been unconscious since the day she fell asleep in her home after suffering for a week or more with extreme drowsiness. During the long sleep she has contracted and recovered from pneumonia, has undergone a minor operation and has been given several blood transfusions. Her condition has changed very little, however.

Police Arrest Go-Between in O'Connell Case

Albany, N. Y., July 31 (AP).—Manney Strewl, who contacted the kidnapers and negotiated the release of Lieut. John J. O'Connell, jr., was taken into custody tonight by Detectives Dolan and James O'Connell, of the New York City undercover squad.

He had been missing since Sunday afternoon, and even his family did not know of his whereabouts until it was learned tonight that he was being held for questioning in connection with the part he played as go-between.

Meanwhile, District Attorney John T. Delaney said he was satisfied with the progress being made toward the arrest of the abductors and the return of the $40,000 ransom money.

Early Arrest Seen.

One of the men investigating the case told the Associated Press that the arrest of "one individual" will spring the trap on all who had a part in snatching the 24-year-old nephew of Ed and Dan O'Connell, up-State Democratic leaders.

Although an attendant at the mountain camp of Dan said Johnnie had left there, it was generally believed he has not left the remote Helderberg retreat since he was delivered there before dawn on Sunday morning. District Attorney Delaney, in charge of the investigation, has refused to let O'Connell be interviewed until after the prosecutor has questioned him further.

Three Men Are Held.

"I intend to have another talk with the young man when he has had an opportunity to recover from his experience," said Delaney. O'Connell was kidnaped on July 7 and held in a New York City flat until his release in East 220th street (the Bronx), at 1 a. m., Sunday.

Three men are being held for questioning by Delaney. Six others were interrogated but released The district attorney refused to reveal their identity but it was said

Boy, 8, Chasing Frog, Drowns as Kin Watch

St. Louis, Mo., July 31 (AP).—Chasing a frog into deep water in the Missouri River, David Bushdiecker, 8 years old, was drowned in the sight of two of his brothers, Charles, jr., 10, and David, 6.

The brothers, fearing they would be whipped for going to the river, hid his clothing on the river bank and said nothing of what happened. The drowning was reported today by an itinerant who made a vain attempt to save the boy.

Political Snag Is Menacing Cuban Strife Settlement

"Activities" of Welles Are Opposed by Machado.

Economic Plan Thought Harmed

By Harold J. T. Horan.

American efforts to bring order out of chaos existing in Cuba have suddenly hit a snag in the opposition of President Machado and his forces to the "political" activities of American Ambassador Welles.

It is the opinion of circles favorable to the Marchado forces that Ambassador Welles' offices have detracted from the economic efforts to rehabilitate Cuban finances.

These efforts have been quietly carried on here for the past few weeks by a corps of Cuban experts under the direction of Cuban Ambassador Oscar Cintas and including the Cuban minister of agriculture, Gen. Eugenio Molinet.

With the Cuban experts, several American legal authorities have been collaborating in the preparation of the Cuban proposal to the special board of the agricultural act, which will determine the sugar quota of Cuba. The sugar hearings will begin August 10.

Visits Here Secretly.

Not the least significant feature of these conferences was the secret visit to Washington of President Machado's private secretary, Ramiro Guerra, who appeared here and in New York, but kept himself incommunicado so far as contact with any journalistic sources. He visited the Cuban Embassy here and returned to Cuba two days ago.

The economic activities of the Cuban experts and Ambassador Cintas have not been helped by what have been called in Machadoista quarters Ambassador Welles' "political" activities. They are of the opinion that the ambassador in Havana should cooperate more closely with President Machado or else their efforts before the department of agriculture authorities will be seriously compromised.

By "political" activities these Cuban sources seem to refer to Ambassador Welles' willingness to negotiate with the opposition in preference to confining his peace-making efforts to President Machado and the members of the Machado government.

Denies Discussing Welles.

"I can assure you that we never discussed Cuban political affairs or Mr. Welles," he said. "Our conversation dwelt exclusively on Cuban economic matters, in which President Roosevelt is greatly interested and which concerns me far more than anything else. Any other attributions are misleading and pure invention."

The apparent stalemate at this point of the Welles negotiations has a similar effect on the quota preparations that are now going on here. It is felt in Cuban official sources that if the political situation is stressed in cabled reports from Havana now, this will militate against a favorable "ambiente" to the discussion of a generous and favorable sugar quota.

There was no authoritative criticism of Ambassador Welles' efforts from any Cuban sources, but it was plainly indicated that the recent course of the negotiations under his direction have not been exactly

Gandhi Jailed

Mahatma and Wife Held in Individual Civil Disobedience Drive.

Ahmadabad, India (Tuesday), Aug. 1 (AP).—The Mahatma Gandhi, who recently announced his intention to begin a campaign of individual civil disobedience, and Mrs. Gandhi were arrested here today at 1:40 a. m.

To prepare for his launching of the new policy which supplants the mass campaign for Indian independence, the little Indian leader decided to dissolve his seminary or college of devotees at Sabarmati.

Members of the seminary agreed to join Mr. Gandhi in the new method of calling attention to the Indian independence movement.

Mr. Gandhi and his wife and his secretary and 32 members of the Ashram, the college of devotees, were taken to Sabarmati Jail.

Opinion Given By Court in Suit of Post

Holds That Preliminary Injunction Should be Issued.

In the District Supreme Court yesterday, Justice Luhring handed down an opinion granting a motion of The Washington Post Publishing Co. for a preliminary injunction restraining the Washington Herald or the Washington Times from publishing the comic serials, "The Gumps," "Gasoline Alley," "Dick Tracy," and "Winnie Winkle," and feature articles by Dr. Evans and Westbrook Pegler, until a final hearing of the case instituted by The Post against the Washington Times Co., publisher of the two newspapers.

The Supreme Court of New York has already decided that the Chicago Tribune Co. and its syndicate corporation, which distributes those comics and features, must continue, until final hearing, to deliver them to The Washington Post under an existing contract.

Readers of The Post will therefore continue to have those comics and features in the daily and Sunday issues of the paper.

Harriman Suffers Stroke at Hearing

New York, July 31 (AP).—Joseph W. Harriman, former chairman of the Harriman National Bank & Trust Co., suffered a heart attack in a Federal courtroom today at a hearing to determine his fitness to stand trial on charges of altering the bank's books.

The banker was taken to the United States marshal's room and an ambulance was summoned from Bellevue Hospital. Federal Judge Francis G. Caffey then adjourned the hearing until tomorrow.

Dr. Menas S. Gregory, head of the psycopathic ward at Bellevue, examined Harriman after he collapsed and told Judge Caffey that Harriman had been so overcome that his pulse could barely be felt. He said the banker had suffered a serious heart attack brought on by the excessive heat and the mental strain of the hearing.

Fireman's Shot Routs Noisy Bird

Augusta, Ga., July 31 (AP).—Firemen at Station No. 1 are enjoying quietude they hadn't experienced in a long while, for a woodpecker has finally given up the hopeless task of pecking a hole in a copper helmet atop the bell tower.

Month after month, it came each day and resumed the attack on the headgear which the firemen kept aloft as an insignia of their calling.

The monotonous "Rat-tat-tat" went on with the vigor of a steel worker's triphammer. The noise could be heard a block away.

Fireman Jack Bessman stood it as long as he could and took a shot at the noise-maker with a rifle.

Record Shortage Of Crops Forecast

(Associated Press.)

The poorest crops in years were forecast yesterday by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

It said "this is going to be one of the short-crop years as regards the major food and feed crops. It begins to resemble the drought year, 1930."

The bureau's surveys showed that "corn over a wide area has tassled out on stalks about 4 feet high," and it added:

"Thousands of grain growers will have little to sell this year, no matter how high the price goes and other thousands of live stock and poultry raisers are hurt, not helped, by high-priced feeds.

"The rise in grain already has raised a serious problem for Eastern dairymen and poultrymen."

Code for Retailers Ordered Into Effect at Once as Big Bond Issue Passes Quota

Two Company Police Injured When Pickets Stone Workmen.

Brownsville, Pa., July 31 (AP).—Mine strikes and threats of new walkouts spread swiftly through western Pennsylvania today as Gov. Gifford Pinchot moved for "permanent peace" and the militia put down four sporadic outbursts of disorder.

With 20,000 miners on strike demanding union recognition, and a walkout of 6,000 more in prospect, national guardsmen acted quickly and sternly to quell the first disturbances since they assumed control of the Fayette County soft coal fields on Saturday.

Three workers, two coal company police, five pickets and one bystander were injured in the outbreaks.

Withdraw Troops Today.

Despite this, Maj. Kenneth W. Momeyer, commanding national guardsmen in the Fayette County strike zone, informed a group of coal company representatives tonight that his troops will be withdrawn from patrol duty tomorrow morning.

He revoked all passes to newspapermen and officers of the guard refused to answer questions.

Alarmed by new developments in the turbulent strike zone, the Uniontown Retail Merchants Association hurriedly met and drafted a telegraphed request to President Roosevelt that he take a hand in the strike situation.

They informed the President they considered the situation so serious it was disrupting the operations of the national recovery act in Fayette County.

Peace Meet Spurned.

Gov. Pinchot called for a "peace conference" of officials of the H. C. Frick Coke Co. and striking miners in Harrisburg tomorrow, but Thomas Moses, president of the Frick Co., immediately turned down the offer of mediation.

The Frick Co., a United States Steel subsidiary, owns 20 of the 30 or more mines closed, or partly closed by the strikes.

A clash occurred between pickets and Frick Co. police at the Leckrone mine, 20 miles south of Brownsville and 8 miles below the military-patrolled area mapped out by the guardsmen.

The trouble started when workmen crossed the road to get some horses. Pickets began stoning the miners and two of eight company policemen, Steve Jernic and Rockwell Kane, were struck by stones.

Strike Spreads.

As the strike spread in adjoining Washington County, Sheriff J. A. Seaman notified Gov. Pinchot he is ready to accept State police aid.

He offered to sign an agreement giving State police control over peaceful picketing by miners. It was such an agreement that Sheriff Harry E. Hacknet of Fayette County refused to sign. He declined to withdraw his pickets and then the governor called the troops and declared a modified form of martial law.

The new strike threats loomed in the west-central section of the State, where District No. 2 officials asserted 6,000 miners may be called out if the companies refuse to permit the union to pay its own checkweighmen.

Lindberghs Soar 5 Hours Over Ice

New York, July 31 (AP).—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh today completed a five-hour flight over the inland ice fields of Greenland, a message from their base ship reported.

The message, received from the S. S. Jelling, off Godhaven, was addressed to Pan-American Airways, for which the Lindberghs are making an aerial survey of Greenland.

For the last three days, the dispatch said, the Lindberghs have been flying up and down the west coast, from Godthaab to Holstenborg and points farther north. Their observations have been restricted somewhat by fog along the coast, but on their flight over the inland ice fields they reported finding clear weather.

Militia Goes to Strife-Torn Coal Fields

National Guardsmen move under orders from Gov. Pinchot into heart of Pennsylvania's great bituminous coal region to preserve peace among 12,000 miners striking for union recognition.

Marital Clause Is Inoperative In New Agencies

Cummings Rules it Binds Only Federal Offices With Civil Service.

By Robert C. Albright.

The married workers clause of the economy act, center of a pitched suffrage battle because it requires dismissal of working wives or husbands where both are employed in the Government, yesterday was ruled inoperative in the new Federal emergency agencies.

Attorney General Homer S. Cummings handed down the decision. It applies specifically to the new National Recovery Administration, but the scope of its influence will extend to every Government agency lacking Civil Service status.

On the heels of the ruling, the National Industrial Recovery Board took action formally approving the Attorney General's view. Secretary of Commerce Roper, chairman of the board, said appointments in the recovery administration hereafter will be made without regard to marital status. It follows there will be no dismissal of married workers in this unit.

If other emergency agencies follow the recovery administration's lead, two diametrically opposite policies in the treatment of married workers will have official sanction in the Government.

In the various departments and in other old-line agencies under Civil Service jurisdiction, married workers must now be the first dismissed where separations are made, and must be the last hired back where reemployment programs are inaugurated.

In the National Recovery Administration, however, and in other noncivil service agencies following its lead, marital status need not be considered in hiring new workers or in making separations of old ones.

If all new emergency agencies are to fall into line, the Civil Service Commission must revise its reemployment lists to give married employes an equal footing with single workers when it submits names from its registers to the new

Chess Champion Moves Too Fast for Bandits

The pair stopped his car, climbed into the seat and commanded: "Don't stir and hand over your cash."

Chicago Board Halts Falling Grain Prices

Chicago, July 31 (AP).—Seeking to stem the downward trend in grain prices, directors of the Chicago Board of Trade, after a protracted meeting tonight announced that "there shall be no future trading in grain and provisions below the closing prices on grain and provisions Monday, July 31, 1933." The ruling is effective until August 15.

The upward maximum fluctuations of 5 cents for wheat, barley and rye, 4 cents for corn, and 3 cents for oats are not affected by the order.

The order curbing downward currents in prices will remain in effect at least until the close of trading August 15, and if any change is to be made then three days' notice will be given members of the board, the announcement said.

The action came after the market for three days saw grain prices decline the maximum amount permitted under the fluctuation ruling issued several days ago.

It was understood the board's decision was reached after conversations with officials at Washington.

Kansas City, July 31 (AP).—Directors of the Kansas City Board of Trade decided tonight not to permit the price of wheat and corn to fall below closing prices of today until further notice.

Steel Industry Wipes Out Union Provision From Its Plan.

Moffett Is Named To Advisory Post

U. S. Regulation of Oil Production Proposed to Industry.

By J. Bernard McDonnell.

The national recovery program moved forward along all fronts yesterday as codes were hastened toward completion and investors throughout the country oversubscribed the $650,000,000 recovery securities issue offered by the Treasury.

The powerful steel industry, responding to official suggestion, wiped out of its code the criticized company union provision. This had been expected to prove a bitterly fought section, which would tend to delay completion of the entire code.

Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, national recovery administrator, ordered into effect immediately the code shortening hours in the retailing trade, but allowed dealers in foodstuffs a 48-hour work week instead of the 40 hours applied to other retailers.

Wool Code Completed.

Work was completed on the code for the wool industry and that will be submitted promptly for approval by President Roosevelt.

Federal supervision of petroleum production was proposed by the recovery administration in a trade practice code submitted to the leaders of the industry for their approval.

James A. Moffett, who resigned as vice president of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, was named by Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper to the Industrial Advisory Board of the administration. He resigned from the oil company when his prospective appointment to the advisory board caused a dispute with Walter C. Teagle, company president.

Henry I. Harriman, of Boston, president of the New England Power Co., and Robert L. Lund, vice president and general manager of the Lambert Pharmacal Co., of St. Louis, also were named to the board by Secretary Roper.

Issue Called Success.

Dean Acheson, Acting Secretary of the Treasury, announced the success of the recovery securities issue. Responses indicated both the bond issue of $500,000,000 and the $350,000,000 issue of Treasury notes had been oversubscribed, he said.

The notes will bear interest at the rate of 1⅝ per cent and will mature in two years. The bonds mature in eight years and bear interest at the rate of 3¼ per cent. The securities were offered in denominations as low as $50, and Secretary Woodin announced small buyers would receive the amounts of their subscriptions. The retail orders will affect something like 4,000,000 workers throughout the country.

The 40-hour work week will apply to retailers of shoes and dry goods, furniture, hardware, clothiers and furnishers and mail order concerns.

Both the 40-hour week order affecting these and the 48-hour week for retailers of foodstuffs were made effective immediately and

Mills and Lucas Are Named In Suit for $1,318,000 Taxes

Alleged to Have Assisted Distiller in Evading Income Levy.

Louisville, Ky., July 31 (AP).—Ogden L. Mills, former Secretary of the Treasury, and Robert H. Lucas, former executive director of the Republican national committee, are among defendants in a taxpayers suit filed here today for $1,318,000.

The suit alleges that William F. Knebelkamp, president of the Louisville American Association Baseball Club and former distiller, failed to pay income taxes on allegedly illegal whisy sales in 1919, when Lucas was United States collector of internal revenue for Kentucky.

The amount sued for, according to Federal statute, is double the amount of taxes alleged unpaid. Knebelkamp is not a defendant. The defendants are accused of having "connived and schemed to circumvent the laws of the land in order to relieve the said Knebelkamp from payment of taxes."

The plaintiff is Moody Boyd, a former storekeeper gauger for the Internal Revenue Department. His petition charges Knebelkamp's income tax return for 1920 was fraudulent in that it failed to disclose "profits exceeding $1,000,000 on illegal sales of whisky."

Other defendants are Arthur A. Ballantine, former Undersecretary of the Treasury; J. H. McMurtry, acting internal revenue agent; David Burnet, acting commissioner of internal revenue, and Elmer L. Irey, acting chief of the Intelligence Bureau of the Revenue Department.

The petition charges that McMurtry, Lucas, Burnet and Irey initiated the alleged wrongful acts and that Mills and Ballantine acquiesced in them.

Knebelkamp and R. E. Wathen were prosecuted in 1920 for violation of the wartime prohibition laws through illegal removal and sale of whisky. Knebelkamp paid a $5,000 fine and the suit against Wathen was dismissed on payment of taxes and penalties amounting to $115,000.

French Communists Plan Huge Protest Against Warship Costs

Wide Display Today Will Cite Expensive Fleet Now Being Built.

Paris, July 31 (U.P.).—A gigantic demonstration against France's heavy naval building program was ordered for tomorrow by Communist leaders, in observance of the nineteenth anniversary of the declaration of the World War.

The demonstration is to climax antiwar and antinaval construction meetings begun Sunday throughout the country. Communist leaders called mass meetings tomorrow in Paris, Bordeaux, Brest, Boulogne, Le Havre and Marseilles.

The Communists are seeking to stage a one-day strike of workers. Speakers will protest against the construction of warships which they estimate will cost 10,267,496,000 francs (about $550,000,000).

Police on Guard.

Police ordered customary precautions to maintain order, but said they did not anticipate the demonstrations would be as violent as the annual "May Day" or other radical holidays. Steel and shipyard workers expressed opposition to the manifestation.

The Communist leaders said the seven building programs from 1924 to 1932, against which their protest is levied, resulted in the order to add to the French fleet some 32 submarines, 25 destroyers, 15 torpedo boats, 7 dispatch boats, 13 cruisers, 1 battleship (the Dunkerque, now under construction), 4 escort cruisers, 4 tankers, 6 mine-laying submersibles and 10 auxiliary craft.

Increased Cost Shown.

Plane Thrills Veteran, But He Still Holds Ace

Fort Smith, Ark., July 31 (AP).—An 84-year-old Confederate veteran, J. W. Weaver, of Muldrow, Okla., got a thrill out of his first airplane ride—but he still had one to tell the pilots.

Weaver related that on June 16, 1884, he went aloft in a balloon filled with smoke and thrilled a crowd by leaping to earth with a crude parachute.

First NRA Signs Go on Display This Morning

Window Cards, Stickers and Letter Seals Launch Drive Today.

A man mailed a letter last midnight and quite without ceremony he wrote a bright chapter into that rapidly growing volume—American economics—for his letter carried the first official insignia of the National Recovery Administration.

The man doesn't matter and the letter not particularly. It was the seal on the back that counts. It bore the NRA eagle, which means that a corporation or individual has complied with the President's agreement with industry and big business in another effort to bring the country back to normalcy.

First About Stickers.

Strangely enough, the first letter was from a company that sells the Government insignia and the first letters were to corporations that had met the President's agreement and who are now ready to display the insignia showing they are participants in the recovery program. The initial message carried information from the Reid Publishing Co. about NRA posters and stickers.

At midnight last night it was permissible to display the eagle of NRA, hence the one on the back of the letter. It was only one of the many forms of the insignia. Others are windshield stickers, large and small, window cards, placards and posters.

Must Sign Agreement.

Manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers and consumers may use them, but only after signing the statement of Government cooperation, which isn't as difficult as it seems. If you buy a pair of shoes from an NRA store you will be given a consumer's card. After filling this out and mailing it to a certified handler of insignias, you, too, may display the eagle.

Today's the day, and from this point on dealers in NRA eagles expect to be swamped with orders. Their initial consignment to American merchants was 50,000.

Sending Out Official NRA Insignia

Two officials of the Reid Publishing Co., Washington, shown with the NRA posters and window cards that may be used for the first time today. Only concerns and individuals who have complied with the President's agreement on recovery are authorized to display them. Cyril Haus and Richard W. Reid, jr., are handling some of the letters bearing the eagle which left their office last midnight.

Textile Code Violations Reported in Carolina

Raleigh, N. C., July 31 (AP).—Maj. A. L. Fletcher, State Commissioner of Labor, said today he had forwarded to Washington a number of complaints that the cotton textile code is being violated in North Carolina.

Fletcher said most of the protests claimed the "stretch-out" system is being extended in some mills and that experienced employees are being classed as "learners" and given the minimum wage of $12 for a 40-hour week.

Marriage Ban Void For New Agencies

agencies. Until now, the Civil Service Commission has been refusing to certify for reemployment any married worker whose mate is in Government service. These reemployment lists, carrying the names of approximately 3,000 workers, have been increasingly active since the President declared for reemployment. Last week 200 more persons received reappointment from the lists. Action is expected to be taken at once to bring the commission's register into line with the Attorney General's ruling.

No Wage Limit Set.

Although it had been suggested that only married couples drawing limited salaries be safeguarded against the married workers' clause in the new agencies, Secretary Roper said there was no discussion at yesterday's meeting either of salary limits or of the number of married workers likely to benefit from the ruling.

Attorney General Cummings' decision as applied to new units was just the reverse of a ruling he made a month ago affecting old line agencies. At that time he held the married workers' clause is permanent legislation as it applies to agencies with Civil Service standing. He insisted that in these agencies married workers must be the first let out, even before employes retired under involuntary 30-year provisions of the independent offices act.

Text of Decision.

Yesterday's decision, rendered in a letter to Secretary Roper, was not inconsistent, although the dual married worker policy it permits certainly will be. Mr. Cummings' letter read:

"In regard to whether the provisions of section 213 of the economy act of June 30, 1932, with reference to appointments are applicable to the act of June 15, 1933, known as the 'National Industrial Recovery Act.'

"'In the appointment of persons to the classified Civil Service, preference shall be given to persons other than married persons living with husband or wife, such husband or wife being in the service of the United States or the District of Columbia.'

"This provision has no application to appointments under the national industrial recovery act for the reason that the preference in appointment is restricted to the appointment of persons to the classified Civil Service, while appointments under the industrial recovery act are made without regard to the Civil Service laws or the classification act."

Shoe Factory Jobs Gain.

Lowell, Mass., July 31 (AP).—The Merrimack Shoe Manufacturing Co., employing 600 persons, today said it had reported to President Roosevelt adoption of the blanket code. More than 100 additional employees will be taken on the weekly pay roll.

Dr. W. L. Thorp Named to Head Trade Bureau

The President yesterday appointed a college professor, with a background of political economy rather than politics, to direct the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce of the Department of Commerce.

Selection of Dr. Willard L. Thorp, of Amherst, Mass., was hailed immediately as another victory for merit as opposed to politics.

It came after assignment of two other posts in the bureau on a merit basis. Lynn W. Meekins, in the service since 1916 was appointed commercial attache to London two weeks ago, while Commercial Attache Henry Coit MacLean, in the department for 14 years, received the Paris post.

Author on Economics.

A month ago Lieut. Col. Henry M. Bankhead, brother of Senator John H. Bankhead and Representative William B. Bankhead, of Alabama, was named commercial attache at Ottawa, Canada.

A professor of economics at Amherst since 1926, Dr. Thorp prepared the chapter on "The Structure of Industry," carried in "Recent Economic Changes," published during the Hoover administration. He has been a member of the research staff of the National Bureau of Economic Research, Inc., since 1923, and is a staff member of the committee on Government statistics and information set up by the American Statistical Association and Social Science Research Council.

Under his guidance the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce will lay stress on issuing economic facts and figures considered essential in supporting the work of the National Recovery Administration and long-range economic planning, Secretary Roper said last night.

Study Economic Policies.

It was said the established functions of the bureau in promotion of trade at home and abroad will be carried on as usual, but more attention will be given to studies aiding in determination of broad economic policies, helpful to both business and Government.

Dr. Thorp was born in Oswego, N. Y., May 24, 1899. He obtained his A. B. degree in 1920 from Amherst, his M. A. in 1921 from the University of Michigan, and his Ph. D. from Columbia in 1924. He prepared a monograph entitled, "The Integration of Industrial Operation" for the Census Bureau in 1921 and from 1925 to 1926 was director of research for the New York State Board of Housing.

Among his books are "Business Annals" and "Economic Institutions." He is the author of 50 or more magazine articles, and prepared a report on the causes of the depression for the Massachusetts Commission for the Stabilization of Industry.

U. S. Links Shoals And Cove Creek

Power Transmission Lines to Connect Two Big Projects.

Knoxville, Tenn., July 31 (AP).—The Tennessee Valley Authority today moved another step nearer its goal of developing the Tennessee Basin by announcing that preliminary plans had been ordered for the construction of a power transmission line between Muscle Shoals and the Cove Creek Dam site in Tennessee.

The directors, Dr. A. E. Morgan, chairman; Dr. H. A. Morgan and David E. Lilienthal, also announced immediate action had been authorized to supply power to Florence, Sheffield and Tuscumbia, Ala., cities in the vicinity of Muscle Shoals.

Kansas City Lumber Industry Accepts Code

Kansas City, July 31 (AP).—Retail lumbermen of Kansas City and nearby towns decided today to adopt the national recovery act blanket code, effective tomorrow, when the 40-hour week will be put into operation.

G. N. Daniels, vice president of a Kansas City lumber company, said many of the concerns now operate 52 hours a week and that the shorter week would afford the employees more leisure time at no reduction in wages.

Ruling Averts Civil Service League Split

Secession Avoided When Marriage Is Held Not to Ban Rehiring.

Attorney General Cummings' decision that married workers are eligible for reemployment in the Federal emergency agencies probably came just in time to save the Civil Service Retirement League from a schism, it was disclosed last night following the Attorney General's ruling.

A committee of 10, headed by Miss Eleanor Nelson and Miss Gertrude M. Price, threatened secession from the league and held a protest meeting against the league's alleged inaction.

Watchful Policy Urged.

John Simpson, chairman of the league, explained he was following a policy of "watchful waiting" until the National Industrial Recovery Administration was ready to act.

Expressing his faith in President Roosevelt, Chairman Simpson had told the protestants he believed better results could be obtained by not antagonizing the administration. The "direct action" group had committed themselves to a policy of frequent meetings with protest parades and mass rallies.

Ungratefulness Claimed.

Cecil Mears, an executive of the American Federation of Government Employees told the group they were extremely ungrateful and unappreciative of the work that Simpson was doing in their behalf. He informed them that if they were dissatisfied with the policy of the league in handling the matter they could form their own association.

All of the league officials present argued against "high pressure" methods in dealing with the administration. At the close of the gathering the committee stated they would take under advisement the suggestion that they form a separate group. The committee denied charges that they were affiliated with Communist groups.

A. & P. Puts Code In Effect Today

'Many Thousands' Will Be Put to Work, Says Company.

New York, July 31 (AP).—The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. announced tonight that its 15,700 retail stores, offices, warehouses and food plants throughout the country would begin operating tomorrow under the provisions of the national recovery act.

As a result of President Roosevelt's agreement with the retail grocery trade, the announcement said, "many thousands" of additional workers will be employed by the A. & P. during the next few weeks. Officials were unable at this time to give a more approximate estimate of the number of new jobs to be created.

"The purpose of the act, as the A. & P. understands it," said the company's announcement, "is to increase employment and wages and continue serving the public as usual. The company's service to the public through its stores will not be reduced because of the changes involved."

Codes Rushed As Bond Issue Passes Quota

will remain in force until permanent codes have been drafted and approved for specific businesses.

Wage Minimum Fixed.

The temporary retail code provides for minimum wages ranging from $13 to $15 per week, depending on the population of the area in which the business is located. Trade centers of more than 500,000 will have a $15 minimum wage. Child labor is prohibited except three hours a day.

Withdrawal of the company union provision of the steel code was agreed to by Robert P. Lamont, president of the American Iron and Steel Institute, who formally presented the code. The action was taken after Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins had attacked the section and Gen. Johnson had referred to it as at least on the borderline of conflict with the recovery law.

Elation of labor leaders was somewhat tempered, however, by the statement of the steel men that they still felt the same way about organized labor and did not intend to change.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, protested that the attitude of the steel men was in violation of the spirit of the collective bargaining guarantee contained in the recovery law. Donald Richberg, general counsel of the recovery administration, admitted the question might rise again later but for the moment at least had been disposed of.

Green Makes Challenge.

Mr. Green challenged the industry to permit its workers to vote by secret ballot on the kind of unions they wanted. Mr. Lamont, responding to questions by Gen. Johnson, said the company union provision had been put in because it represented the belief of the industry in the open shop principles.

Secretary Perkins congratulated Mr. Lamont on the action of the directors in drafting the code. But she immediately criticized its wage and hour provisions.

She said the 30-cent wage in the South and 40-cent in the North were inadequate and would not bring about the desired increase in purchasing power.

More Jobs Claimed.

Mr. Lamont said that the proposed work week would mean an increase of something like 85,000 in the number of men employed in the industry, bringing the total to 500,000.

Mr. Green proposed a 30-hour work week with a 60 cents an hour wage of at least $18. He wanted the child labor age limit to be raised from 16 to 18 years.

Drug Stores Excepted.

Drug stores were not included in the temporary retail codes ordered by Gen. Johnson. They are working on a code for quick application.

The grocery code fixed a 48-hour week, with an 8-hour day. Minimum wages range from $14 to $15 a week.

Washington merchants were given advantage of a $1 differential in the wages prescribed in the general retail code. The same differential was allowed fifteen Southern States. The wage scale fixed in the code for the rest of the country was $14 in cities of 500,000 or more; $13.50 in cities between 100,000 and 500,000, and $13 in cities between 2,500 and 100,000.

The oil code submitted by leaders in that industry provides for a 40-hour work week in the marketing division with minimum wages ranging from 40 to 47 cents an hour. Administration of the code would be given to a committee of nine, six of whom would be named by the industry and three would be appointed by the President.

Rift May Delay Cuban Strife End

pleasing to the supporters of President Machado. It was even rumored that the visit of President Machado's private secretary at this time may have been designed to convey this dissatisfaction to sources close to President Roosevelt. However, Ambassador Cintas declared that Guerra was only a visitor here for the purposes of conferring with the Cuban minister of agriculture and that he returned to Havana immediately afterward.

Ferrara to Visit.

A major offensive in favor of the regime of President Machado to coincide with the presentation of Cuba's sugar proposals will shortly be made here with the arrival from Europe of Cuban Secretary of State Orestes Ferrara, who for many years was the Cuban Ambassador here and is a warm personal friend of President Machado.

Ambassador Cintas has prepared a forceful and cogent statement of Cuba's economic position. He has been assisted by other experts. Their plan is to convince the authorities of the Agricultural Board that Cuba requires an absolutely irreducible minimum of 2,200,000 tons of sugar in the quota instead of the 1,600,000 that has been tentatively proposed.

The Cuban experts will show that the economic interests of the United States require a sugar source of supply within 100 miles of the American border instead of 10,000 miles as would exist under the present trend so favorable to the Philippine exportation. Until this economic problem has been satisfactorily disposed of, the forces of the present Cuban administration are opposed to any further activities in Cuba toward a settlement of the internal disorder.

Too Late

Flier, Officer Race Death to Child's Side—and Lose.

New London, Conn., July 31 (AP).—A race to safe the life of 5-year-old Barbara Bourne was lost today, although an aviator, ambulance driver and a policeman on a motorcycle did their level best.

The child, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Rolland Bourne, of Wethersfield, was admitted to the Lawrence Memorial Associate Hospitals at 1:11 p. m., and physicians diagnosed her illness as spinal meningitis less than an hour later.

Serum was needed to save her life, they said, and the nearest to be had was in New York City.

A telephone call to Trumbull Field at Groton started Capt. Reilly, of the Connecticut National Guard, speeding through the skies to New York.

Meanwhile, another telephone message sent an ambulance from a New York Hospital to the Curtiss flying field, where Capt. Reilly was to land.

It took only a moment for the precious serum to be transferred from ambulance to plane, and the flyer started back. He reached Trumbull Field less than an hour and a half after he first took off and State Trooper John H. Smith was waiting with his motorcycle. Seven miles away in New London, the child's life was ebbing away.

Smith raced along the highway, some moments at 90 miles an hour. He made the run in less than seven minutes, but he reached the hospital too late. The child had died at 3:25 p. m., just a few minutes before the serum arrived.

(Associated Press.)

Improvement in the condition of the Nation's banks was reflected yesterday in the June report of the Reconstruction Corporation by a marked decline in authorizations for loans to both open and closed institutions.

The report, made public by South Trimble, clerk of the House of Representatives, detailed a total of $198,304,439 in authorizations for loans and relief purposes, of which $119,954,404 was for financial institutions.

Only $38,841,466 was for banks and trust companies, including $21,474,583 to aid in the reorganization of liquidation of closed institutions. In May the corporation sanctioned advances totaling $64,110,259 to banks and trust companies, of which $35,850,500 was for closed organizations.

Mortgage Loans Increase.

However, June authorizations to mortgage loan companies amounted to $49,842,643, compared with $5,417,458 in May.

Advances authorized for self-liquidating employment-providing programs and storm and earthquake reconstruction projects aggregated $25,772,613, while the corporation turned over to the Federal Emergency Relief Administration $37,910,142 to be distributed among the States to care for the destitute.

The Great Northern Railway Co. at St. Paul was authorized to borrow $6,000,000 and the Denver & Rio Grande Western Co. $950,000.

Besides authorizing loans totaling $3,350,000 on preferred stock of banks, the corporation purchased preferred stock in similar institutions totaling $4,838,999.

The largest loan authorized in June was $35,000,000 to the Progress Mortgage Co. of San Francisco.

A loan of $1,320,000 went to the Pacific Coast Joint Stock Land Bank of San Francisco; $1,400,000 to the San Antonio Joint Stock Land Bank of San Antonio, Tex., and $410,000 to the Fremont Joint Stock Land Bank at Lincoln, Nebr.

Another item considered in the report was the cancellation or withdrawal in full during June of $65,168,619 in loans authorized since July 21, 1932. In addition, in the same month parts of authorized loans aggregating $1,728,352 were canceled or withdrawn.

Under the new home loan bank act, the corporation allocated $200,000,000 to the Treasury for the capital stock of the Home Owners Loan Corporation, which in addition has authority to issue $2,000,000,000 in bonds to refinance home mortgages.

U. S. to Control All Production Under Oil Code

Tentative Draft Calls for Short Weeks, But No Price Fixing.

(Associated Press.)

A tentative trade practice plan for the oil industry, calling for Federal supervision of production as a basic step toward stability, was laid before petroleum leaders last night by Hugh S. Johnson, the industrial administrator.

The program, written by Johnson after futile efforts by factions in the industry to compose their multiple differences, will be further discussed between oil leaders and the administration before a final draft goes to President Roosevelt.

Johnson asked that committees representing the groups within the business be set up at a meeting tonight, in which the administration will participate, with authority to act during the week with Federal officials in drafting a binding agreement.

Prices Not Fixed.

Control of production would be vested under the code in an administrative agency designated by the President, expected here to be the Interior Department, with James A. Moffett, former vice president of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, actively in command.

The code did not seek to fix prices—for which a campaign will be waged by the majority of the industry's spokesmen in the discussions with Johnson—but prohibited sales at less than cost of production.

The trade plan proposed a 40-hour week in the marketing division with the pay rate at 40 to 47 cents an hour and set forth a pay scale for the drilling, production and pipe-line operations of from 45 to 55 cents an hour with a 40-hour week for clerical employees and a 36-hour week for the others.

No Lease Bans.

No provision was made for pipe lines other than they should adhere to the general code of practices, nor was there any specific prohibition against the lease and agency system under which retail dealers are bound to handle exclusively the products of one company.

The code, in the various sections of the marketing provisions, prohibited price rebates and the furnishing of free supplies to retail dealers, including a stipulation against extending credit improperly.

To administer the code the plan proposed a planning and coordination committee of nine, six to be representatives of the industry and three to be appointed by the President and a Federal agency to be designated by the President.

After submitting the proposed wage and marketing code to members of the industry, Gen. Johnson told the oil men to meet with him and his representatives tomorrow to work out a final code.

Mrs. Putnam Delays Party for Mollisons

Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam will postpone her flying-luncheon-swimming party in honor of James and Amy Mollinson until tomorrow because of the reception by the Mayor of New York to the English fliers today, it was learned here.

Leaving Newark airport in two Condor planes, the party will fly to Atlantic City, have lunch, a dip in the Atlantic, and then return to New York. It will be the official congratulations of the fliers of the country to the British "flying family."

The party will include Gene Tunney, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Trumbull, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Chandler Christy, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bel Geddes, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tichenor, George Palmer Putnam, Fannie Hurst, Blair Niles, Sophie Kerr, William Chenery, Ralph Ingersoll, Elvy Kalep and Corey Ford. Capt. Thomas B. Doe, president of the Eastern Air Transport, will be the transportation host. Mayor Bacharach of Atlantic City will arrange an informal welcome.

Haifa's Harbor Open Today; One of Finest

Jerusalem, July 31 (Jewish Telegraphic Agency).—The new harbor at Haifa will be opened to all commerce and shipping tomorrow.

The harbor will make the approach to Haifa one of the finest among the famous of the Mediterranean ports dominated by "Carmel, the Majestic."

(Associated Press.)

An appeal for "fair play" on the part of the public toward small employers, particularly owners of shops, who have not found it possible to comply overnight with the provisions of President Roosevelt's blanket wage and hour agreement, was issued yesterday by the National Recovery Administration.

Asserting reports have reached Washington of small stores being subject to pressure, the administration said that many employers of two or three persons had signed the agreement and complied, so far as possible, with its provisions, but had been unable to adjust their establishments to all of the specifications immediately.

Pending complete compliance with the plan, it was pointed out that these employers did not have the Blue Eagle insignia.

"The hope of the administration is that consumers will deal fairly with the employer who is willing to adopt the reemployment plan but who requires time to make adjustments," the administration said.

"The fact that an employer has signed the agreement but does not have the Blue Eagle, through no fault of his own, should entitle him, it is felt, to the same consideration as those who have obtained the insignia."

At the same time the administration pointed out that the agreements were sent out only to employers with more than three workers, leading many small employers to believe they were not expected to cooperate in the reemployment program.

Harvester Company Complies With Code

Chicago, July 31 (AP).—The International Harvester Co., will operate all plants and departments of its business in compliance with terms of the National Industrial Recovery Administration blanket code, effective tomorrow, Alexander Legge, president, announced today.

Hoover Airport Sold on Block To Ludingtons

This, according to observers of the clouded airport situation in Washington, leaves the matter of an adequate airport as confused as ever, with two owners in possession of Washington and Hoover Fields.

The successful bid yesterday was made by Frances H. Sheetz, attorney, in the name of Lester Cohen, 1615 Kenyon street northwest. Cohen presented the $10,000 qualifying check, and later said he had no announcement to make about what he would do with the field, or whether he represented other interests. Later, Sheetz admitted the purchase was made in the name of Nicholas and Townsend Ludington, long identified with aviation here.

Edward Burling, attorney, who bought Washington Airport two weeks ago for an unnamed client, did not attend yesterday's sale. It was assumed that he represents National Aviation, a syndicate, but no announcement has been made from his office. Sheetz was the only bidder against Burling at the previous sale, and at that time Sheetz explained he was only bidding to protect the interests of his clients, the Ludington brothers, who held a mortgage also on Washington Field.

Covers Big Mortgage.

Yesterday's purchase price of $174,500 represents the total mortgage holdings of $164,942, of which the Ludington brothers hold $155,442, plus taxes on the property from January 1, 1933, to date. There are 37 1-3 acres in the field, two hangars, an administration building, a machine shop and a paint shop. A right of way across Military road into Washington Airport on the south is also a part of the sale.

The whole field, divided by the War Department road, known as Military road, now stands at a purchase value of $626,500. As it exists today, it is not suitable for use by large transport planes such as those which serve Washington. The field has elicited some very uncomplimentary remarks from pilots, the latest of which came from the queit-spoken Wiley Post, who said the field is "particularly rotten." It is not considered worthy of a rating by the Department of Commerce, Aeronautics Branch.

Military road, which is War Department property, is under the direct charge of Col. Kenyon Joyce, commanding officer of Fort Myer. To effect a removal of this road, and thus to throw both airports into one, it will be necessary to obtain an act of Congress, allowing the War Department to sell or give away its title to the road.

McMillan Is Wroth.

"Washington could have had an adequate airport by this time if the District officials had shown some spirited action in Congress," Representative Thomas S. McMillan, of South Carolina, member of the House Public Buildings and Grounds Committee, said yesterday. "The bill now pending in Congress will be brought up next session. In the committee we have remarked again and again that airports all over the country have been municipal affairs, and cities have gone out and spent money to buy and develop them. The situation here is a little different, but I do believe that a litttle more cooperation out of the city authorities would have better results. My bill provides for lease with option of purchase, and I intend to push it again next session."

Burling said later last night that he had purchased the Washington Airport for the National Airport Co., adding that the organization had already received a deed to the property and taken possession. He stated further that the offices of the company were at the airport.

Film Supply Men Approve New Code

Chicago, July 31 (AP).—Manufacturers and dealers of motion picture theater supplies in separate meetings today considered codes for regulation of their industry under Federal supervision.

The independent theater supply dealers adopted in principle the President's blanket code, while the manufacturers' group formed a new association to operate under the industrial recovery act, naming E. A. Williford, of Cleveland, president, and Oscar F. New, of New York, secretary-treasurer.

Wage and hour provisions of the Federal master code were approved by the manufacturers.

Miles Taylor, Aid of Senators 40 Years, Dead

Served as Secretary of Many Members From Western States.

Funeral services will be held at 1 p. m. today for Miles Taylor, 75, whose death yesterday ended 40 years of work on Capitol Hill as secretary to six senators. Rites will be at the S. H. Hines funeral home, 2901 Fourteenth street northwest, with interment at Glenwood Cemetery.

Mr. Taylor, who was born in Georgetown, Ohio, did newspaper work in several Western cities before coming to Washington in 1888, remaining here since.

He was first employed in the Census Bureau, and in 1893 became secretary to Senator Martin, of Kansas. He later served Senator Mantle, of Montana, in 1895; Senator Gibson, of Montana, in 1901, and Senator Dixon, of Montana, in 1907.

In 1913 he became secretary to Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana. When Senator Erickson succeeded Walsh at the latter's death, Mr. Taylor remained as secretary.

Mr. Taylor belonged to the Mount Pleasant Lodge, No. 33, F. A. A. M.; the Mount Vernon Chapter, No. 30, Royal Arch Masons, and the Columbia Commandery, No. 5, Knights Templar.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Fannie McElroy Taylor; two daughters, Mrs. Helen T. Steinberger and Mrs. Elmer T. Cummins, both of Washington; three brothers, Thomas T. Taylor, of Butte, Mont.; Carl W. Taylor, of Hutchinson, Kans., and Dr. Bruce L. Taylor, of Washington, and a sister, Mrs. S. A. Shipman, of this city.

John E. Downin, Federal Aid, Dies

Attorney With Veterans' Administration Was Maryland Native.

John E. Downin, for fifteen years a lawyer in the Veterans' Administration, died yesterday at his home, 906 Baltimore boulevard, Riverdaye, Md.

Born in Hagerstown, Md., December 31, 1877, Mr. Downin lived all his life in Maryland. His demise was the result of a heart attack.

Mr. Downin was a member of the Federal Bar Association and the American Legion.

He survived by his wife, Cecelia, his sister, Mrs. Olive D. Buhrman, and his son, Jack, jr. Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 1 p. m. in Gasch's funeral parlors, Hyattsville. He will be buried in the Baltimore Cemetery in Baltimore.

Man Disposes Of Body Before Taking Poison

Patent Examiner Also Had Given His Clothes to Salvation Army.

Bert Russell, 59, an associate examiner in the United States Patent Office, died early yesterday at Washington Sanitarium from poison he swallowed last Saturday, after giving his clothes to the Salvation Army and leaving his body to the Washington Medical Association for scientific study.

The disposition was made in a note left to friends. In choosing the poison, friends believed, he was careful not to use a lethal drug which would impair the use of his body for scientific study.

Despite years of suffering from arthritis and pleurisy, he was noted for his research work. While at the Patent Office he examined classes in chemistry, carbon compounds and metallurgy. He also contributed articles to leading scientific magazines.

He helped organize the Patent Office Society and founded the Journal of the Patent Office Society.

He was a graduate of the University of Minnesota and Georgetown University Law School, and was a member of the District bar and legal fraternities. He had practiced law in Los Angeles and New York. Recently he had maintained his home at the Y. M. C. A. He went to the sanitarium about two weeks ago.

Surviving him are his wife and two daughters, all of South Pasadena, Calif.

Capital Auto Dealers Pledge Recovery Aid

Independent Bus Owners' Protest Says They're Not Protected.

The Washington Automotive Trade Association joined in the march toward national recovery last night when it voted to support the President's agreement on reemployment and drew up a code to be submitted to the National Automobile Dealers Association.

The local branch of the National Association of Merchant Tailors withheld action. Indications were given that the local branch will be guided by the code to be adopted by the national association.

Independent bus operators, meeting at the Willard Hotel, opposed a draft code prepared by the National Motor Bus Association. The independents complained that the code was prepared exclusively for railroad affiliates and that independent operators were not properly protected.

Support to the National Recovery Administration was pledged by the board of directors of the Better Business Bureau.

The Automotive Trade Association, meeting at the Racquet Club, voted to rejoin the National Automobile Dealers Association.

The Washington branch of Laidlow & Co., brokerage house, demonstrated its support of the recovery program by presenting its employees with a bonus of an extra week's pay.

Col. Fauntleroy, 63, Hero of 1898, Dead

Officer of Medical Corps Held Citation for Bravery in Action.

Funeral services for Col. Powell C. Fauntleroy, U. S. A., retired, will be held tomorrow at 11 a. m. at Gawler's funeral parlors, followed by burial in Arlington National Cemetery.

Col. Fauntleroy, 63, died at Walter Reed Hospital late Sunday night. He was appointed assistant surgeon November 15, 1895, serving through the grades of the Medical Corps until 1922, when he was retired for disability. He received his M. D. from the University of Virginia in 1893 and was graduated from the Army Medical School in 1896.

Col. Fauntleroy received the Silver Star citation "for gallantry in action at Manila, Philippine Islands, August 13, 1898." He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary S. Fauntleroy, of the Hotel Brighton, 2123 California street northwest.

Engine Blast Burns Worker.

4 Jailed in Fake Cigarette Racket

Boston, July 31 (AP).—Four New York men, accused of implication in what police described as a Nation-wide fake cigarette racket, were held in default of $50,000 bail each today.

The four were John Lewis, Edward W. Harrison, Charles Edward and Samuel Goldstone.

Police seized a truck loaded with cases of what purported to be a nationally-known brand of cigarettes. Police said that in each case there was only one genuine carton. The others were imitations, filled with wood blocks and bearing counterfeited labels.

Chicago Milk 'Outlaws' Cling To Cut Prices

Independents Plan Court Fight Against U. S. 10-Cent Order.

Chicago, July 31 (AP).—Independent milk dealers, claiming to sell at cash-and-carry cut prices a volume equal to more than one-fourth of Chicago's milk supply, were ready tonight to defy the fixed price policy of the Federal farm relief program.

Tomorrow the Chicago "milk shed" goes under the protective roof of the Department of Agriculture. Licensed dealers will dispense milk at no less than 10 cents a quart, the price agreed upon by the organized industry and approved by Secretary Wallace.

Cling to 6-Cent Price.

But a group of independents, retailing milk now for a fraction more than 6 cents a quart to those who will come and get it, announced they would go right on selling at their own price.

Proprietors of 100 or more milk stands ringing the city—they are kept outside the municipal boundary by the frowns of the city Board of Health—formed into the Independent Milk Producers Association of Northern Illinois, employed counsel and said they would go into court tomorrow to attack the agricultural adjustment act and the fixed price plan it embraces.

Face Big U. S. Fines.

While they plan an offensive against the law, the independents may at the same time have to defend themselves from prosecution by the Government. Selling below the approved price is declared by the code to be unfair practice punishable by fines up to $1,000 a day.

Attorneys for the independent group were drafting a petition for an injunction to halt enforcement of the code. Joseph E. Green, chief counsel, said the bill would contend that the licensing system was not authorized by the agricultural adjustment act; that it was an unconstitutional exercise of power, and that the act itself was contrary to the Constitution in destroying property rights without due process of law.

First Lady Posts Blue Eagle On Her Furniture Factory

President Watches Details of New Bond Issue by Treasury.

By Lawrence Sullivan
(Post Staff Correspondent.)

Hyde Park, N. Y., July 31.—The first blue eagle, emblem of support for the National Recovery Administration, was posted in Hyde Park today. Mrs. Roosevelt proudly tacked the poster on her handcraft furniture shops at Valkill, on the eastern edge of the family estate, and pleaded for the prompt acceptance of the spread work program throughout the entire Hudson Valley.

"It may appear to some that the increased wages and shorter working hours will impose a hardship on small business managers," Mrs. Roosevelt said, "but we feel confident that the accumulative effect of such sacrifices will prove them worth while."

Eleven men are employed in the Valkill shops. The minimum wage is 80 cents an hour, considerably more than the rate fixed in the blanket code. Because the demand for the handmade colonial reproductions of this factory recently has been slack, Mrs. Roosevelt has been compelled to furlough all save the married workers. She has arranged a spread-work schedule which she hopes will keep all the married men on the pay roll. The men have been working about 30 hours a week.

President Shortens Hours.

Because of the intense heat, uninterrupted since the Presidential party arrived last Saturday, Mr. Roosevelt limited himself to less than two hours in his Krum Elbow study today. He talked on the telephone with Attorney General Cummings and Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson. Attaches at the summer executive offices explained that the President merely had discussed details of the recovery and public works programs.

Mr. Roosevelt followed with keen interest today telegrams from the Treasury Department announcing details of the August 15 financing. It was revealed officially that the success of this bond issue will govern to a large extent the projected refunding program, to be announced in the fall. The President feels that a saving of perhaps $100,000,000 annually in interest might be accomplished by a refunding issue which would trade outstanding 4¼ per cent liberty bonds for new obligations at a lower interest rate. Whether the investment market is ready to handle such an operation probably will be determined by the results of the present issue.

Six months' notice is required for refunding liberty bonds. The 3¼ per cent interest rate on the announced $500,000,000 new issue of intermediate Government bonds was in line with expectations of the New York financial community. These bonds will mature in 1941.

Attaches of the summer White House indicated today that the whole question of Federal finances probably would be discussed by President Roosevelt this week with Secretary of the Treasury William H. Woodin.

The Poughkeepsie Chamber of Commerce held a special meeting tonight to organize a local committee of commercial and industrial leaders to supervise application of the recovery program in that city. Thirty business firms, including several large factories whose products are distributed nationally, already have pledged adherence to the plan.

Hull to Visit Hyde Park.

The first emphasis will be on the spread-work principles. Factory managers here have pledged themselves to reduce the hours of labor without a corresponding reduction in wages wherever possible.

The family circle at Krum Elbow was enlarged tonight by the arrival of Mrs. Anna Dall and her two children, and James Roosevelt, the President's elder son.

Louis M. Howe, the President's confidential secretary, also spent the afternoon and evening at the Roosevelt mansion. He will return to Washington tomorrow.

Secretary of State Hull, en route home from the London Economic Conference is expected to visit Hyde Park on Thursday.

48-Hour Week, Minimum Pay Scale Set; Prices Wait Arguments.

Denver, July 31 (AP).—Coal operators in Colorado, New Mexico, Wyoming, Montana, Utah and Washington have submitted by mail their national recovery code, F. O. Sandstron, executive secretary of the Colorado and New Mexico Coal Operators Association, said today.

The basic wage scale of the Colorado-New Mexico district provides a minimum of 53½ cents an hour underground and 45 cents an hour for miners above ground, with a 48-hour week.

The unclassified labor underground [illegible] minimum wage of 50 cents an hour is provided for, and above ground work, 38 cents an hour. The code leaves a price scale open to arguments in Washington.

Mayor of Homestead Routs Miss Perkins and "Radicals"

Secretary and Workers Go to Postoffice to Debate Code.

Thus Miss Frances Perkins, Secretary of Labor and ardent crusader for the cause of the worker, explained her rout from the town hall and public park of Homestead last Saturday to a final refuge in the town's postoffice.

And it was all because she insisted on hearing the pleas of the little steel village's so-called "radical" labor leaders, who had views of their own about what should go into the steel recovery code.

The story leaked out yesterday, following Miss Perkins' return to Washington. Although a score of newspapermen accompanied the Labor Secretary to Homestead, "they went out for some pop," and she didn't think to tell them about it, Miss Perkins explained.

Now, it seems the Mayor of Homestead is called a burgess, after the old continental custom. And the "nervous mayor" in question was one John Cavanaugh, who feared Miss Perkins' liberal treatment might incite radical steel workers.

Police Interference Alleged.

Miss Perkins first learned about it when telegrams began reaching her in the town hall protesting that interested labor leaders were not being permitted by police to enter the hall to participate in her steel code discussion.

Miss Perkins succeeded in smuggling one or two of the liberal leaders in, but when she suggested that the doors be thrown open wide, Burgess Cavanaugh rebelled.

The Labor Secretary was bent on giving all comers a hearing, so she proposed an adjournmnet to the public park across the way. Nervous Burgess Cavanaugh became more nervous. He said it just couldn't be arranged.

So Miss Perkins led her following of steel workers, "radicals" and all, to the town's postoffice, where she saw a possibility of exercising her Federal rights. There she held her meeting. The radicals presented her with a code she said was not "radical" but "rational."

Explanation of Cavanaugh.

Associated Press dispatches from Homestead last night quoted Burgess Cavanaugh as explaining his opposition to the public meeting. He said a "radical" tried to attend.

He was told of reports made both by Miss Perkins, and the Rev. Francis J. Haas, of the National Catholic Welfare Board, who accompanied her to the scene.

"Father Haas knows some of the story of what happened, but not all," Burgess Cavanaugh was quoted by Associated Press. "Miss Perkins knows the whole story. A man named Pat Cush had been making trouble for some time here in anticipation of the visit of Miss Perkins.

"I decided against the meeting being held in the park for the sole reason that Cush wanted to speak there, which he couldn't do in the Borough Hall, and I had determined that as long as I am burgess, Cush will not be allowed to speak here."

New Federal Law Worries Oil Men

Tulsa, Okla., July 31 (AP).—Royalty owners and oil operators were concerned today over a report oil and gas leases and royalty had been classed as securities under the new Federal act.

J. R. Simpson, president of the Midcontinent Royalty Owners Association, said he had heard unofficially such a ruling had been made in Washington and that he feared it would invalidate virtually all existing lease and royalty contracts.

Simpson has called a membership meeting of the association for tomorrow to protest any such ruling.

"Gas and oil lease and royalty values change overnight," Simpson said. "If these are bunched with ordinary securities it would be almost impossible to deal in oil paper."

Go-Between Jailed In O'Connell Case

one of the trio under restraint is a Beaver street waiter.

The search for the kidnapers today also became the immediate concern of the Federal Government with a Washington announcement that the Department of Justice is maintaining an "active interest" in the abduction. Thomas F. Cullen, agent in charge of the New York district, arrived to direct the several agents on duty, and to cooperate with Delaney.

While young O'Connell was not mistreated by his captors he was blindfolded, his feet were tied and his hands manacled. He spent the 24 days of his captivity lying on a bed. Although given enough food, he ate little because he tired of a steady diet of sandwiches. Several times he was given pills which made him drowsy. A physician who examined him said that O'Connell, if the pills were drugs, had recovered from the effects. He signed several notes to his family, but did not see any of his captors during the writing since his taped blindfold was raised only enough to permit him to see the letter paper.

Board Official Asks Arlington To Back NRA

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Despite the fact county and city governments do not come within the provisions of the industrial recovery act, Fred A. Gosnell, member of the Arlington County Board, at its meeting yesterday declared the county should cooperate with the Federal Government and comply with all provisions of the act.

With the cost of living having increased 20 per cent, Gosnell declares, the county should provide increases in wages that the employees could better meet the increased cost of living.

Chairman Harry A. Fellows took the stand that the policy of the Federal Government has been to reduce cost of Government and to comply with the provisions of the recovery act would be to upset the budget under which the county is operating.

The board approved the pay roll of $16,599.16, of which $12,732.92 was actual wages, the remainder including operating expenses of the office of the county treasurer, commissioner of revenue and current bills. The pay roll for employees receiving in excess of $1,320 showed a cut of 10 per cent.

Sheriff Howard B. Fields, protesting the cut of 10 per cent in the $75 salary of Harry L. Woodyard, who is janitor to the courthouse in addition to serving as deputy sheriff and jailer, persuaded the board to rescind the cut.

The board approved a loan of $47,000 to the county school board upon the request of the chairman, John M. Stewart. The loan was in the form of a note for 30 days with the interest waived.

The board authorized improvement of county roads at an estimated cost of $25,000. The board also authorized the employment of James Simmonds as assistant to Commonwealth's Attorney Lawrence W. Douglas at a salary of $150 a month, effective June 27. The appointment was made at the request of Douglas, who informed the board his services were needed in preparation of data for the proposed sewer bond issue. The appointment is for 60 days.

Indorsement of President Roosevelt's industrial recovery act was given by the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce at a meeting yesterday. President Walter U. Varney was directed to appoint a committee of three to participate in the drive soon to acquaint the people with provisions of the act.

The secretary was instructed to write the commander at Fort Myer and ask that the machine gun practice at the post be discontinued. It was pointed out that it interferes with proceedings at the Arlington County courthouse.

Lost Child Brings Moment Of Joy to Bereaved Mother

Louis Johrden, Post Staff Photographer.

Woman Finds Baby Near Grave; "I Was Sure She Was Mine."

The bright lights of an automobile pierced a thicket near Rock Creek Cemetery last night and there Mrs. Florence Burdett, 3306 Warder street northwest, saw wreathed in the mazda flare her baby girl, Florence, who died nine years ago.

Florence's grave lay not 100 yards away in the dim cemetery. Mrs. Burdett's mind lost logic for a moment and the years slipped away.

"I was sure it was Florence!" she told a Post reporter. "I didn't know how it could be my baby girl. But I just knew for the moment it was Florence."

But in a house a few hundred yards away another mother was frantic. Eyes red with weeping, she was telling police of returning from a trip to the ice house to find Molly, Ann, her 2-year-old baby, gone.

Then the phone rang.

"Is this Mrs. Walter Allen? This is the Tenth Precinct police. Your little girl was found a while ago by Mrs. Florence Burdett."

Then police cars, photographers and reporters swooped down to the Burdett home. Mrs. Allen, who lives at 5201 Rock Creek Church Road, not far from the cemetery, was in one of the police machines.

Molly Ann Allen won't know for a long time that for a few short precious moments last night she was another little baby girl who sleeps on a quiet hillside.

Barbers Vote Support To NRA, Raise Prices

Indorsement of President Roosevelt's national recovery act program was voted by the Master Barbers of Washington last night at its meeting at the Pythian Temple. Roy Adams presided.

Prices on haircuts and shaves will be raised to 50 cents and 25 cents, respectively, effective today. The Master Barbers comprise about 350 Washington barbers.

3,000 Expected To Vote Today In Alexandria

Gubernatorial Race Holds Interest; Peery Picked to Win City.

Chief interest in the Democratic primary today, so far as Alexandria is concerned, centers in the race for governor, it being freely predicted that State Senator William Worth Smith will carry the city, with George C. Peery second and the vote for Joseph Deal being negligible.

The contest for the State Legislature, in which there are five candidates, also is quite spirited. For civil and police justice, the three candidates all claim victory.

All local candidates were invited to speak at a rally in the auditorium of the Maury School Building. The meeting was opened with a radio presentation of the speech made by Representative Howard W. Smith, favoring the candidacy of his brother, William Worth Smith. Then three of the five candidates for the Legislature, Joseph H. Kretchmer, Paul L. Delaney and Clyde B. Lanham, addressed the meeting, the incumbent, J. Fred Birrell, and the fifth candidate, Thomas Priest, being absent.

The platforms of the three candidates who spoke appeared to be practically the same, all favoring additional school facilities, a flat tax of $5 for automobiles and a tax on trucks and buses from other States using the Virginia roads.

Two of the three candidates for civil and police justice, Frederick G. Duvall and Irving Diener, spoke. The incumbent, William S. Snow, was absent. Mr. Diener announced he had no particular platform, but pledged himself, in the language of the prophet, to "do justice, love mercy and walk humbly with his fellow men."

Mr. Duvall promised to separate the police court from the juvenile and domestic relations court; to appoint a bailiff of the court who would be a competent and courteous man who would be on duty from 9 to 4 o'clock, and to conduct the civil court every day instead of twice a week, as at present. He also said he would hold the juvenile and domestic relations court in his private office, instead of the public courtroom.

The only other contests in the city are those for members of the city Democratic committee, in three of the six wards.

The indications are that the total vote today will be in excess of 3,000. The polls open at sunrise and close at sunset, or from 5:08 a. m. to 7:20 p. m.

The voting places and election officials follow:

First Ward, the Armory, South Royal street—Scott Grimm, registrar and judge; Lewis Poss and Bernard Fegan, judges; B. H. Cook and Robert A. Bowman, clerks.

Second Ward, 110 North Royal street—W. F. Creighton, registrar and judge; E. E. Lawler, jr., and Herbert Bryant, judges; Alvin Friedlander and Edward Lannon, clerks.

Third Ward, Odd Fellows Hall, 218 North Columbus street—Edward J. Fleming, registrar and judge; H. H. Martin and Charles S. Sherwood, judges; M. P. Frasca and Oliver S. Stone, clerks.

Fourth Ward, Friendship Fire Engine House, South Alfred street—George H. Railing, registrar and judge; Howard J. Fannon and Charles Keegan, judges; James N. Colasanto and T. E. Patterson, clerks.

State to Seek New Trial Site In Clark Case

Petition Today Asks Venue Change in Embezzlement Hearing.

A petition for a change of venue in the embezzlement case of Berry E. Clark, former clerk of the Montgomery County Commissioners, which has resulted in three hung juries, will be heard today in Montgomery County Circuit Court at Rockville, Md.

The hearing will be presided over by Chief Judge Hammond Urner and Associate Judge Arthur D. Willard, who were trial judges at the three trials. The petition, filed by State's Attorney Stedman Prescott, bears the names of more than 300 citizens of the county and alleges that a fair and impartial trial cannot be obtained in the county by the State. Fifty of the signers have been summoned to testify at the hearing.

Clark, who is being tried on the first of 97 indictments alleging embezzlement of county funds, is represented by Attorneys Albert M. Bouic, E. Barrett Prettyman, F. Barnard Welsh and Thomas L. Dawson.

A pior motion for a change of venue, filed after the first trial by State's Attorney Prescott, was denied by the court.

Recognition of Board Election Winners Likely

While there has been no official ballot with names of candidates for membership on the Arlington County Democratic committee to be voted upon today, it was learned last night that ballots have been printed bearing names of two candidates for Ballston and Cherrydale precincts. For Ballston, ballots will bear the names of Thomas J. Crack and Wesley McDonald; for Cherrydale, Hugh Reid and Mrs. Grace Donaldson.

While these ballots are not official, it is believed the newly elected committee will recognize the election and confirm it by placing winners on committees as members from their precincts.

Posse Fails to Find Robber.

Hagerstown, Md., July 31 (Special).—Authorities had no clews today to the identity of the masked armed robber who late last night held up an attendant of the Charles Hoffman garage, Smithsburg, and escaped with $30. A posse of citizens was formed, but he has not been found.

Mrs. Anderson Death By Motor Held Accident

Sister of Florida Representative Exonerated by Coroner's Jury.

A verdict of accidental death was returned by a coroner's jury yesterday after hearing testimony regarding the death of Mrs. Lena Anderson, 78, widow of State Senator Hugh C. Anderson, of Tennessee, after she had been struck by a car driven by Jeanne E. Caldwell, 1701 Sixteenth street northwest, at Sixteenth and K streets, last Thursday.

The car and its occupants disappeared after taking Mrs. Anderson to Emergency Hospital. Testimony brought out that Miss Caldwell and Kate McDaniels, also in the car, had become highly agitated. They decided to notify Miss Caldwell's brother, Representative Millard F. Caldwell, of Florida, 1701 Sixteenth street northwest, before reporting to police.

Witnesses said that Miss Caldwell had been driving east on K street and as she started to turn left on Sixteenth street, the left front fender of her car struck Mrs. Anderson, who was in the middle of the pedestrian lane.

Sunday Beer Sale To Have Test Trial

As the result of a plan of Prince Georges County merchants to test the Sunday beer-selling law, Jack O'Neal, manager of a Forestville road house, will face trial Friday in the Police Court at Upper Marlboro.

O'Neal was arrested early Sunday by Sergt A. W. Hepburn, G. W. Gray and Elon Turner, of the county police force. They are alleged to have bought the beer with marked money.

Realizing that an arrest on this score was imminent, a number of Prince Georges County dealers "chipped in" a common fund to pay the expenses of a test case. Although 3.2 beer has been sold in the county since June 1, Sunday sales have been prohibited by the old Maryland blue laws.

Virginia Votes In Democratic Primary Today

3 Gubernatorial Candidates Carry on in Last Hour Plea to Electorate.

Richmond, Va., July 31 (AP).—Heavy campaign guns flashed into action again tonight laying down a last-minute verbal barrage of politics over the voters who tomorrow are to choose the Democratic nominee for governor of Virginia in the general election next November.

Not until almost midnight did the three candidates—Joseph T. Deal, of Norfolk; W. Worth Smith, jr., of Louisa, and George C. Peery, of Tazewell—yield the field to the Democratic electorate who beginning at sunrise will nominate the party's gubernatorial candidate.

Simultaneously most of the nominees for the 100 seats in the House of Delegates are to be chosen, as are those for two of the four vacancies in the Senate.

There are more than 200 candidates for the House of Delegates nomination in the primary, with more to be chosen in conventions. Two of the Senate nominees are to be chosen from five candidates in two districts.

In addition to these tomorrow's primary is to be the choosing ground for numerous local offices in practically all cities and counties in the State.

Two of the three gubernatorial candidates put in a busy primary eve in Richmond, and third—Joseph T. Deal—was engaged in campaign matters in Norfolk. His son, Joe Deal, jr., was doing his political pinch hitting in the capital.

Smith and Peery and Joe Deal, jr., delivered rapid fire speeches at a city-wide Democratic rally and then hastened to a radio station, where they spoke. Peery spoke last and seized the opportunity of making a final reply to his two opponents.

All three headquarters forecast victory for their respective candidates.

Skies Clear, But Balbo Stays at Shoal Harbor

Shoal Harbor, New Foundland, July 31 (AP).—Although weather conditions were reported improved at Valentia, Ireland, the next objective, no word came tonight from the Italian seaplane squadron of Gen. Italo Balbo as to the time of their take-off.

Unfavorable weather held the flotilla here over the week-end. It has been here since last Wednesday.

Veteran Railroader Quits After 48 Years In Which He Had Only One Big Thrill

Thinks He'll Visit Shop to See That Engine Is Kept Right.

By Harold Stone
(Washington Post Roving Reporter).

"Casey Jones mounted to the cabin,
Casey Jones with his orders in in his hand;

Forty-eight and more years ago Bill traded a cow for an Elgin watch and began "railroadin'." Yesterday, he pulled the throttle on old No. 23 for the last time, tucked the old timepiece in his overalls pocket and waved a good-by "to the boys and railroadin'," and took his farewell trip to the promised land of retirement.

"Yes sir," old Bill declared, "I'm sayin' good-by to railroadin' and to all these boys I've worked with so long. I hope these youngsters will leave the service in the same spirit I'm leaving it—knowin' that I've put in 48 and more good years doin' the job the best I knew how."

With the acquisition of the watch from his brother, Brown, who now lives at 718 F street northeast, began his railroading career in the roundhouse of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Sixth street and Virginia avenue southwest, under Jesse Lascallett, roundhouse foreman. That was the only job he ever applied for in his long span of railroad service.

In a year he was promoted to brakeman, then fireman, and in 1900, Bill became an engineer.

"You must have had plenty of thrills in your years of driving an engine," Bill was prompted.

"No, not so many," came the reply. "The best piece of work I ever did was when I was a fireman. We were coming from Philadelphia to Washington, running on a 2-hour and 56-minute schedule, when a girl fell off the train. Well, the passengers grabbed the safety brake rope and pulled the whistle at the same time. The train stopped so fast that one car leaned clear off the track over on the next track.

"It was right at Stanton, Pa., and I knew that we were supposed to meet another train from the other way on the other track in a few minutes. If I didn't stop it, it would certainly sideswipe the half-turned-over car and cause a real wreck. I grabbed a flag and ran down the track, flagging the other train down just as the engine came even with ours. Believe me, it was a narrow escape for all of us."

"Are you married?" Bill was asked.

"Oh, yes, I got flagged down up in the old home town," he smiled, "got sidetracked like a young fella will and married Katie Walsh from Bowie. We have seven kids—that is, they're grown up now. That's about the best trip I ever made."

Bill, who had his 70th birthday July 11, took a last look at old No. 23—"the best engine in the yard"—and then left for home; not at all sure that he was going to like this idea of being retired.

"Guess I'll come down here every now and then and see that Jimmy treats that engine right," said Bill about his future plans.

Welles Hears Teachers Rap Use of Force

Protest Against Routing of Meetings Made; Women May Get Vote.

Havana, July 31 (AP).—Representatives of unpaid Cuban public school teachers today protested to Sumner Welles, United States Ambassador, against the treatment they said they received at the hands of police and soldiers when they attempted demonstrations in Havana, Santa Clara, Camaguey and Santiago last week.

The American envoy, seeking to mediate Cuban political difficulties, was informed that armed forces broke up peaceful meetings or parades, resulting in the slight injury of many teachers, the majority of them women. A score were hurt at Santa Clara.

Mr. Welles continued hard at work on the constitutional reform program being worked out under his chairmanship by representatives of the opposition and the three political parties.

In today's three-hour session the conferees, it was reliably reported, agreed to grant women the right to vote under certain yet undecided conditions and to permit military men to run for political office one year after their discharge from the service.

Mr. Welles said it was expected the reform program would be ready for submission to Congress next week.

More than 200 veterans of Cuba's war for independence paraded to protest their inability to collect pensions, twice clashing with police. Several veterans were slightly injured. A delegation called later at the embassy to protest to Mr. Welles.

Lost Again

Jimmie James Renews His Acquaintance With Policemen.

Jimmie James.

After he had made himself perfectly at home at the Ford building, Pennsylvania avenue and John Marshal place northwest, most of the day, a youngster who identified himself only as Jimmie James, late yesterday was taken to the First Police Precinct

And it was all the same to him. In fact, he seemed to like policemen and having a propensity for using the crayon recklessly, he proceeded to sketch them in free-handed manner on any and everything. Later he was taken to the Receiving Home—and still it was all the same to him. He has the knack of making himself at home anywhere, it seems.

Police says his name really is Jimmie James, for he has been lost before, but they had no record of who called for him previously.

John W. Souder Rites Set for This Afternoon

John W. Souder, 84, guard at Glenwood Cemetery for 40 years, will be buried there this afternoon. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. at his residence, 1228 Randolph street northeast.

Souder died Sunday afternoon after about a year's illness. He had lived all his life in Washington. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Ada Souder, two sons, John and Alfred, and two daughters, Mrs. Arthur Kidwell and Mrs. Delbert Kidwell.

Camp Members Get $1,003,502 For July Work

Foresters From Capital and Nearby States Share Big Sum.

Baltimore, July 31 (AP).—Third Corps Area Army officials estimated that approximately $1,003,502 was paid out today in Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia and the District of Columbia to members of the Civilian Conservation Corps and their families for reforestation work.

Approximately 32,000 men are working in the three States, and of the million-dollar salary check from the Government, their families receive in round figures four-fifths of this amount or $800,000.

Increases for July were occasioned by increases in the number of men, particularly in Virginia where 2,000 were added, and also to creation of camp foremen who draw $45 monthly, and subsection foremen who receive $36. Other camp workers receive $30, of which approximately $25 goes to their families.

4,000 Reported Dead In Big Chinese Flood

Peiping, China, July 31 (U. P.).—A serious flood has devastated the Kwanchung district of Shensi Province, west of here, telegrams from Sianfu reported today.

The King and Wei Rivers reached record high levels, inundating large areas, it was said. Hundreds of houses collapsed in the roaring torrents, and crops were destroyed. One uncomfirmed report said 4,000 corpses had been counted floating in the rivers.

Vienna Police Foil Red Antiwar Rally

Vienna, July 31 (AP).—Plans of Communists to put on an antiwar demonstration tomorrow were frustrated today by police who raided Communist headquarters and arrested the leaders.

Seventeen persons later were sentenced to prison terms ranging from one to six weeks for violation of a law banning Communist activities. Eighteen others were held for trial on charges of high treason.

Helping the P. W. A.

Nothing is more conducive to the development of inventive genius than a large sum of public money awaiting expenditure for the public welfare. The budding of brilliant ideas since Congress appropriated $3,300,000,000 for public works is truly astounding. Many alert minds are gravely concerned over Secretary Ickes' responsibility for expenditure of this money, and are therefore making the most diligent efforts to help him in making wise decisions.

Flood control projects have suddenly come to light in many States. What town is there that can not work itself into a frenzy of fear over flood waters when Uncle Sam has so much cash on hand for public works? Buildings? Is there any young city that doesn't need a postoffice, a courthouse, a schoolhouse or two, a municipal auditorium or a football stadium? But these are prosaic things. While municipal officers and politicians are straining every nerve to assist Uncle Sam in deciding how to invest his $3,300,000,000 fund, more poetic minds are inventing novel schemes that are guaranteed to reduce the public works purse with great velocity.

Gov. Murray, of Oklahoma, came to Washington to protest against the expenditure of Federal money for the construction of a flood-control dam in Texas, but he has some projects of his own to urge upon Secretary Ickes. It is reported that the governor has a plan to relieve drought in the Middle Western wheat belt. If funds could be obtained from the Public Works Administration, he said, farmers who have little or no wheat to harvest this year could be put to work building dams in the prairie country. Ponds thus created would fill with water in the wet season, according to the governor's theory, and add to the moisture of Mid-Western atmosphere.

But even Gov. Murray can not qualify for first place in the contest to devise novel ways and means of spending this $3,300,000,000. W. A. Conrad, of the United States Naval Academy faculty, proposes that $100,000,000 of the fund be set aside for a flight to the moon. Who can say that the American public would not derive great benefits from a rocket trip into lunar space? Mr. Conrad admits that the tangible benefits may appear meager to one unaccustomed to think in terms of cosmic travel. But, he asks, who could see tangible results from Columbus' historic voyage? "In fact," says he, "I think Isabella could no better afford to finance Columbus than Roosevelt could afford to finance a rocket trip to the moon."

While these magnificent projects are being worked out Secretary Ickes is setting up advisory boards to assist in the selection of worthy public works. "It will be," he says, "as much the duty of these boards to say 'no' as it will be to say 'yes.'" Alas! The progress of the world may be hampered by unimaginative boards that insist upon being practical.

French Films.

The action of France in restricting American motion picture importations has raised a violent protest from French exhibitors. They assert that at least 500 films yearly are necessary to satisfy the French public, and that French producers can supply not more than one-fifth of that number. They also assert that the public prefers films made in America, even if the Americans are reduced to the necessity of furnishing synthetic French dialogue. But some of the American films are supplied with such dialogue by workers in France, thus affording considerable employment. Notwithstanding these protests, the law limits foreign films in France to 15 theaters, and not more than 140 films may be admitted with French dialogue.

The preference of the French public for American films is presumed to rest upon the superior quality of lighting, scenery, and lavish use of "properties" by Hollywood producers. Where French producers spend their thousands for effects, American producers spend tens or hundreds of thousands. Language barriers are overcome by ingenious methods of synchronization, so that a typically American-language film may be transformed into one carrying the French or any other vernacular.

The French government gives no sign of weakening in its determination to favor native as against American films. The law recently enacted will remain in effect until June, 1934. How the French producers can supply 400 films more than at present is a problem which the French government does not pretend to solve. Nor does it explain how the French public can be compelled to patronize French films, even if deprived of the American product.

Living Costs.

Officials in charge of the statistical bureaus of the Government agree that the cost of living is going up. As late as last month the average family bought its food, clothing and most necessary services for less than they have cost at any time during the last sixteen years. During the last five weeks, however, Isador Lubin, Commissioner of Labor Statistics, finds that prices of food, clothing, furniture and house furnishings, all show a rise from the low points earlier this year.

The cheering opinion comes from this same source that, while the trend upward is inevitable, the extensive economies that have been made in industrial plants should obviate a return to the excessive prices of the boom period. These offsetting advantages in production are expected in most instances to more than counterbalance increased labor costs which will be entailed through compliance with the NRA code regulations.

It is one of the most encouraging features of the present situation that so many industries have, with fine confidence in the future, utilized the dull periods of the depression to make plant improvements, get rid of obsolete machinery, and prepare to resume more normal operation on a much more efficient basis than ever before. Factories that have seen their output demands curtailed 50 per cent or more will not have to recover their production records of four or five years ago in order to operate at a profit. An increase of 15 or 20 per cent probably will take most of them out of the red.

Along with the higher prices for farm products will come an increase in manufactured goods, though probably in lesser degree. Last year the dollar was buying about 66 per cent more than in 1929, but still approximately one-fourth less than in 1913. While many of the necessities of life are comparatively low, there is a list of miscellaneous requirements such as the services of the doctor and dentist, telephones, street car fares, hospitalization and laundry charges which were not affected in the general reduction. These services combine to absorb about one-fourth of the family budget, and they cost nearly twice as much as they did before the war. It is evident, as Commissioner Lubin finds, that in the present readjustment of costs of commodities, goods and services, some prices must now advance much more slowly and moderately than others if an equitable adjustment is to be secured.

Aged Workers Retained.

Several surveys have been made recently to determine the status of aging workers in industry. Interest in the subject has been augmented by a popular belief that the so-called machine age has been particularly cruel to workingmen beyond middle age. But the findings of investigators do not appear to support that assumption.

The most recent survey in this field, conducted by a large insurance company, indicates a growing tendency on the part of employers to make some provision for workmen who are no longer able to hold their regular jobs. This investigation covered 800 American corporations. A great variety of methods of dealing with aged workmen was revealed, but in general the investigators found "a hesitancy to resort to drastic action in the case of veteran employees, since there is a growing feeling that employers have an obligation to them."

Adjustments are frequently necessary to avoid loss of efficiency when older employees are retained, yet many companies have found that the long training, skill and reliability of older men make them more valuable assets than new recruits who have more strength and vigor. At any rate, many concerns are making special efforts to retain their aged employees. The insurance company report has this to say:

> Many companies in diverse fields indicated that they have succeeded in prolonging the period of service of older employees by relieving them of those parts of their jobs which they can not perform. In some cases many older employees have been retained through the assignment of helpers who assist them with the more strenuous activities associated with their jobs.

Studies of unemployment among men beyond middle life were made from the 1930 census data. They showed a remarkable number of older men still engaged in gainful occupations. Apparently there is no foundation for the belief that most workingmen are discarded after middle age by modern industrial organizations.

This tendency to retain aged workers does not, of course, mitigate the difficulties of such employees when they do lose their jobs. It is hard for an older man to find a new job and adjust himself to it. No doubt this situation is an important factor in the arrangements many companies are making to retain employees beyond the age of their maximum usefulness.

Forced Landings.

A valuable service to aviation has been rendered by the Department of Commerce by the investigation of accidents. Mishaps in the air are carefully recorded by the aeronautics branch of the department. Details of each accident are then made available to aircraft operators and manufacturers, without revealing the identity of the pilot or plane involved. In this way weaknesses in the construction of planes may be eliminated and the repetition of fatal mistakes in the piloting of aircraft may be guarded against.

An addition to this service has now been announced by the Commerce Department. Forced landings of all scheduled transport planes engaged in interstate traffic will be investigated. Every forced landing is a potential accident. It is as important to know what weather conditions and structural defects in airplanes cause forced landings as it is to know the reasons for fatal accidents. It is quite probable that close study of forced landings and their causes by competent authorities will result in safer air transportation.

When an airplane crashes, killing its occupants, it is frequently impossible accurately to determine the cause of the accident. Forced landings that are not in the accident class provide an excellent opportunity to study the hazards of flying from accurate information. The admirable safety record already established by first class air transport lines may be further improved by this Department of Commerce Service.

Work for District Men.

For some reason which has never been made clear, Congress inserted in the District appropriation bill a clause requiring the approval of the Director of the Budget before the Commissioners could expend certain funds for public works, although these funds are District revenues. They consist of gasoline and water tax collections. The District now possesses a surplus of $1,500,000 in the gasoline tax fund and a surplus of $635,000 in the water fund. Congress set apart $575,000 from the gasoline fund to be applied to the new Calvert street bridge. The Commissioners estimate that 400 men could be set to work at once on useful public works if the funds on hand were made available.

Senator King, chairman of the Senate District committee, has intimated that he will urge the Budget Bureau to release a part of these funds in order to provide employment in the District. A schedule of necessary public improvements is in preparation to be exhibited by Senator King in support of his plea.

Some delay will be unavoidable in beginning construction of the Calvert Street bridge, because of the decision of the Fine Arts Commission in favor of a concrete and masonry structure. Plans and specifications must be drawn up before work can be given out. But several other public improvements, notably highway work, can be undertaken without delay if funds are provided. The approval of the Budget Bureau is all that is now needed to furnish relief to several hundred unemployed men in the District.

Measuring Cosmic Time.

The visiting geologists did not have time to exploit all the various methods of determining the age of this terrestial sphere, as there are approximately forty ways of making estimates. It was not to be expected that they would all reach the same conclusion, though their ideas are valuable in checking one estimate against another. Calculations formerly varied from 100,000,000 to 5,000,000,000 years, but geologists and physicists today more generally agree that the earth's age is 3,000,000,000 years, or thereabouts.

In measuring the vaster geological periods scientists look to the progressive record left in the wearing away of continents, or the salinity of the sea. But according to Prof. Alfred C. Lane the best method discovered to date is that of the regularly recurring paroxysms which he characterizes as the ticking of the uranium clock. This is held to be the most reliable means of time measurement, because uranium radiates without regard to external conditions. For millions of years uranium has dissipated its energy, ultimately reducing itself to lead. By counting the time rate of radiation a fair idea of the earth's age is obtained.

It is possible to make a more or less complete record of the past 26,000 years by the study of tree rings, the annual deposit of clay by rivers, and the bands of anthracite in salt. Through this and more intricate scientific research much has been learned regarding the climate and conditions of past periods. Yet this span of the centuries is but a tick of the cosmic clock.

If the popular sport of gangdom continues unabated, some promoter may start a lottery with big winnings to the fortunate one who can guess who'll be kidnaped next.

Hot-Weather Regimen.

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

A Southern newspaper calls attention to the fact that during recent torrid temperatures, or temperatures that would be considered torrid in any other climate, prostrations from the heat have been exceedingly rare in that section. It used to be said that the only persons who contracted typhoid in Pittsburgh were visitors—the natives were immune to the germs in the drinking water. Natives of the Southland should be inured to hot summer weather. But the explanation for their powers of resistance, according to a journalistic authority, is to be found in their method of adapting their work and play to fit the season.

A Southerner, it is asserted, is as susceptible to sunstroke as a Northerner. But he is more careful with regard to his regimen when the mercury is tapping the top of the tube. He dresses chiefly in garments of light texture and color. He refrains from exertion in the glare of the sun. He waits until winter to run for street cars or trains. And when opportunity offers—as it seems to do more frequently south of the Mason and Dixon line—he indulges in the luxury of a midday siesta.

Doubtless dwellers in Northern climes have much to learn from their Southern cousins in the fine art of comfortable existence in hot weather. However, not only temperatures but temperaments enter into the problem. Logically, Northerners should be as inured to the high temperatures in their region as Southerners are to theirs, which are not so much higher after all. But Northerners may find it impossible to take life as easily. Boston, for instance, can be one of the hottest of cities when the wind is just right, or just wrong. But it is difficult to imagine any one with a New England conscience willing to be caught napping in a noonday siesta.

Golfers.

A golfer is a man who thinks
Exquisite is the putt which sinks,
And goeth home with heart elate
When drives of his were far and straight.

A golfer is a mortal mad
A mashie shot makes sad or glad,
Who counts that day well spent when he Scores the four one-shot holes in three.

Lions and dogs and cats reveal
Contentment when they've had a meal;
But golfers, to be happy men,
Must make a "birdie" now and then.

Dinner and dress and fame are not Enough to grace a golfer's lot.
Granted all these, he'll dismal look
If he should either slice or hook.

Golfers are people who will bear
Life's ordinary round of care
Without complaint, and whimper sadly
Pecause they play a game so badly.

Workers Know How to Make the Brick If You Will Provide the Straw

By Robert Quillen.

A CERTAIN poor man who was a craftsman had a workshop where he made furniture for the public.

Because of his poverty he was unable to keep a large stock, and the only material he had in the shop was a quantity of seasoned maple inherited from his father.

Customers brought him orders for chairs and tables and chests of drawers and other things, and he did their bidding as best he could, in the matter of design; but no matter what he made or how he made it, and though he used stains as required to imitate oak or mahogany, every piece of furniture that left his shop was made of maple, for the inherited stock of maple was the only material he had.

Now consider another workshop.

A certain boy listened, as boys will, to the conversation of his parents, and often he heard them say that Frenchmen are rogues without conscience who never will pay their honest debts.

When the boy became a man he was approached by a friend who said to him: "Advise me in a certain matter. A Frenchman wishes to borrow money from me and I am reluctant to take the risk. Do you believe he is trustworthy?"

We can not believe or disbelieve a thing at will. Believing is much like falling in love. We either do or we don't, and there's an end of it. We believe a thing without trying to believe, or we disbelieve in spite of an earnest desire to believe. We simply have no choice in the matter.

So this man, being asked whether he believed the Frenchman trustworthy, answered promptly: "I do not."

How did he make this opinion? He used the only material he had in the shop. No other opinion was possible, for he had no material to make any other kind.

It often happens that judges and juries reach decisions that seem out of harmony with the evidence presented. The explanation lies in the fact that they do not consider the evidence alone. They combine it with the material already stored in their minds—as all men do, despite themselves.

The moral is that intelligence alone is not enough to form sane opinions. You must also have knowledge. You must know the truth.

All sensible men might agree if they had the same material of which to form opinions.

It isn't folly that endangers the world, but ignorance of the truth. Give the people the truth and they will use it, without further help, to form sound and sensible convictions.

Political Comment

Federal Fight on Kidnapers.
Detroit News.

By brushing aside obstructions in the way of moving arrested suspects from State to State, Federal warrants have already added strength to America's war on the abductor for ransom. If Washington contributed no more than this to the fight, it would still have contributed a great deal, as illustrated in the Factor case and, particularly, in the Luer kidnaping.

The celerity with which the suspect, Fitzgerald, in the latter case was hustled from St. Louis to Murphysboro so shattered his self-assurance that he proceeded to spill a complete account of the crime. The Tuohy gang, charged with the Factor and Hamm abductions, was stunned when the usual gestures looking to a squabble over the technicalities of extradition were found useless in the face of Federal warrants that operate with equal force on either side of a State line.

In other ways, the Government's hand is a powerful new factor in the war. Many local officials, asked to unravel kidnapings, are dealing with a highly specialized crime for the first time in their experience. Federal agents, assigned to one abduction case after another, acquire a constantly larger familiarity with the limited range of tactics open to the abductor for ransom, and the action calculated to meet those tactics.

Second Phase of Women's Struggle.
Chicago News.

At the final session of the International Congress of Women, a manifesto, prepared by a special committee, and unanimously approved, definitely marked the closing of one phase of the feminist movement and the beginning of a new phase.

For many decades women have worked and fought for equality of rights and opportunities. As the manifesto acknowledges, the movement has been crowned with success in many countries. In recent years enormous power has been conferred upon women. Many old discriminations have been removed, and new fields have been opened to women's talents and energies. Henceforth, the manifesto proclaims, women should direct their efforts in cooperation with men, toward the conquest of poverty and the acquisition of security and other conditions of a worthy, abundant and civilized life. Women must reform systems, not male nature.

Mr. Wallace's Plan.
Minneapolis Journal.

The Secretary of Agriculture is quoted as saying that the first benefits to farmers who reduce wheat acreage will be 90 million dollars and they will begin to get the money September 1. That's getting quick action. Total benefits are estimated at 138 millions and the remainder will be paid in the spring of 1934, when proofs of acreage reduction are checked and final settlements made. The first payment will be on basis of 20 cents a bushel and the second will be 8 or 10 cents, depending upon whether the Government holds back 2 cents to create a fund for opening up new export markets, or decides to pay the full 30 cents that the law provides for farmers who comply with the requirements.

From the viewpoint of visibility of benefit Mr. Wallace is going to be able to show results more quickly than his fellow administrators of railroad or industrial relief, whose efforts, however, may be no less beneficial finally.

The Once Over.

CONTENTMENT UNDER THE CODES.
(With apologies to Mr. Holmes.)

Little I ask, my wants are few;
I only wish a perfect code—
(A code I write myself will do),
To help me bear the coming load;
I'd come to Gen. Johnson's aid
By living by a code I made.

II.

Plain rules are quite enough for me,
Too many only tend to bore;
I'd get along on two or three—
I have no need of any more.
This is the only thing I'd say:
In writing them I want my way.

III.

I care not much for profits high—
Give me the peaks of '29,
With stocks all leaping to the sky
And no one there to regulate;
I welcome codes, if they will bring
The good old days of which I sing.

IV.

Jewels are baubles; 'tis a sin
To care for such unfruitful trash;
I haven't had a diamond pin
Since Roger Babson's famous crash;
I'll take a limousine (silk lined)
If Gen. Johnson doesn't mind.

V.

A super twelve will do for me—
Since all recoveries are slow;
While trade still plows the stormy sea
I'll have to show restraint, I know;
While Franklin saves the U. S. A.
I'll patient be from day to day.

VI.

Some golf I'll have to play, you bet,
Now that the worst of it is o'er—
Two rounds a day (Oh, I can let
Some other fellow mind the store).
I trust these new codes do not say

VII.

Some polo ponies—just a few—
Enough for simple exercise,
I'll have, now that the deal is new
And Washington will supervise;
Will run my plant and make it pay.

VIII.

A yacht—200 feet or so—
I'll buy to sail the open sea;
'Twill help me keep my skin aglow
While Johnson tends the shop for me;
I hope my business he will nurse—
He can not make it any worse!

IX.

Thus humble let me live and die,
Nor long for Midas' golden touch;
With Washington my partner I
Don't think I'll have to worry much;
To save my business is their wont—
I hope they know the way . . . I don't!

Letters to the Editor.

Suggests Pan-American Pact as Substitute for Monroe Doctrine.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir:

It is rather significant that on July 27 there should have been delivered two addresses bearing on the Monroe Doctrine.

In Atlanta on the evening of the twenty-seventh, Senor Ramon Arias, of Panama, expressed the belief that President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hull are going to bring the peoples of North and South America in a real pact of Pan-Americanism.

In Washington Dr. A. C. Curtis Wilgus, director of inter-American studies at George Washington University, said: "The Doctrine must be defined and enforced, not as an exclusive right of the United States but as a Pan-American policy." He maintained that the growth of imperialism in this country is responsible for the disrepute into which the Monroe Doctrine has fallen.

The present interpretation placed on the Monroe Doctrine is costing the American business man millions of dollars in trade, and it is a potential source of trouble to us internationally.

Let us scrap the Monroe Doctrine, the brain child of George Canning, and put in its place a doctrine that is a real fact of Pan-Americanism.

VICTOR H. DANIEL.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir:

Doesn't it look like a breach of faith with the public when our Government asks American industrialists to accept and sign codes fixing hours, wages, &c., while Government officials do nothing for their poorly-paid employees? For example, the Postoffice Department has reduced forces, but not working hours. Vacancies by retirement and death are canceled. Enforced furloughs, which were intended to give work to substitutes, are absorbed by men on these assignments who already are overworked. Wages were cut nearly 25 per cent, while almost every item of clothing and food has advanced in price.

If the recovery administration officials have faith in the fair code, why not show it by restoring wage cuts to Government workers whose pay is less than $2,000 a year? I would suggest the postman leave a code blank at Postmaster General Farley's door.

$550,000 Debt Laid to Kreen In Chicago Suit

Ohio Loan Firm Names McCormick Heir as Bankrupt.

Chicago, July 31 (AP).—An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in Federal Court today against Edwin D. Kreen, business advisor of the late Edith Rockefeller McCormick and heir to five-twelfths of her estate.

The petition was filed on behalf of Paul A. Warner, superintendent of the Building & Loan Association of Columbus, Ohio, and State liquidator of the Columbian Building & Loan Co. of Columbus.

$550,000 Debts Charged.

It claimed debts in excess of $550,000 on a contract on which Krenn and his partner in the real estate business, Edward A. Dato, guaranteed payment of interest and principal on a debt of $550,000 owed by Devon-Hall, Inc., of Columbus, to the Columbian company.

Stocks and bonds valued at the time at $375,000 were posted to guarantee the debt, the petition states, but since have declined in value to about $50,000.

The petition charged that Krenn failed to pay interest, taxes, or principal on the debt.

Allegations that Krenn committed acts of bankruptcy in transferring all his interest in the Edith Rockefeller McCormick trust and in executing a chattel mortgage for all his belongings also were included in the petition.

Krenn asked the court last week for an injunction to restrain the Ohio organization from filing the petition against him.

He was prineipal heir to the estate of Mrs. McCormick, once known as the "richest woman in the world." The estate had declined in value by about 75 per cent in the few years preceding her death, it has been estimated.

Man Ends His Life On Trolley Tracks

Unidentified Victim Uses Papers to Hide Self From View.

An unidentified white man committed suicide early today by lying on the Cabin John track of the Washington Railway & Electric Co. and allowing a street car bound for Washington from Glen Echo Park to run over his body.

Motorman George E. Meyers, 1876 Monroe street northwest, told Maryland State police he saw what seemed to be a pile of newspapers on the track as he approached stop 27, east of Rock Spring, Md.

When he realized a man's head was sticking from underneath the papers he was unable to stop the car before the front truck had passed over the body, he said. The man was described as being well dressed. The only mark of identification was the monogram "E" on a belt buckle.

L. B. Clark, Dies; 35 Years in G. P. O.

Funeral services for Lewis B. Clark, 6, veteran former employee of the Government Printing office, who died Sunday at Providence Hospital after a lingering illness, will be held from his late residence at 904 B street northeast, at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Interment will be in Rochester, N. Y.

A native of Middletown, N. Y., and a son of the late State Senator Lewis M. Clark, he came to Washington in his early manhood and entered the Government Printing office as a proofreader. He was retired five years ago, after 35 years of service. He was a member of the Typographical union of Washington and of the Press Club of Buffalo, N. Y. His widow, Mrs. Maude M. Clark, survives.

Today, perseverence crowns effort with achievement — the blueberry gains another quarter of an inch in girth; the painstaking pursuits of Government scientists are rewarded.

SWARMI FEDD stopped his bicycle with a start. He had found just how a graphic efficiency scale rating can be made to work. Here's how:

Tear the old arithmetic tables into shreds. The efficiency raters who put this one over knew all the answers before they started.

The case in point is that of a man graded on reliability, speed, initiative, judgment, knowledge of work, industry and cooperativeness. They say anything in the Government service can be done if you know how to do it. For reference study the appended table of figures.

Basic Ratings on Rating Scale	1932	1933
2. Reliability	91	85
4. Speed	89	87
5. Industry	90	87
6. Knowledge of work	91	86
7. Judgment	88	82
9. Cooperativeness	92	91
10. Initiative	90	89
Final grade	87.50	87.50

"Well, tickle my ribs," said the Swarmi. "How to get the same efficiency totals twice with entirely different figures to work on!"

Nudist Promoter Removed From Larger Life League

Dr. Alice Caporn Severed From Position; Club Explains Ideals.

Nudist enthusiasm here received a jolt yesterday when the League for the Larger Life severed Dr. Alice M. Caporn, physical instructor and erstwhile nudist promoter, from her advisory position with the league.

The league, dedicated to "healthful living," declares it is no nudist group. Dr. Caporn, 56-year-old Australian, was removed after it became known she had been connected with a New Jersey semi-nudist cult and had favored nudism in the Chesapeake Bay summer camp of the league.

A second shock to prospective Washington nudists came when J. R. King, promoter of the league's beach property, promised to give $100 to any one who could furnish sufficient information to convict persons of exposing themselves "indecently" on his property.

Hearing persistent rumors that the league favored nudism, members met in special session last Friday to decide what steps to take to correct the impression. It was revealed that some members had participated in nude sun bathing at summer camps for several years. Guy H. Gerald, chairman of a special investigating committee, explained that this performance was justified by the fact most of the participants were married couples.

Mr. Gerald said that the league was composed of no extremists and no faddists. Its members are of "rather" conventional habits and behavior, he emphasized.

French Will Ease U. S. Trade Tariff

Paris, July 31 (AP).—Relief for American business interests which were hit by the recent raising of French tariffs will be granted shortly in a decree modifying the original measure.

Under the new decree American goods under intermediary rates will remain in that classification instead of being increased, except where the new minimum rate was higher than the intermediary one, in which case the new minimum will apply.

Scores of guests were buried in the wreckage when the blast tore away the entire front of the building, but authorities had difficulty in determining the exact number of victims. After a hurried investigation, police said the bomb may have been set off by a man who wished to kill himself and his wife and child.

Several of the injured were said to be critically hurt.

The entire city was rocked by the explosion and flames shot 200 feet into the air. The disaster occurred at 7:45 a. m., when most of the guests were in the hotel.

The rescue work was done by police, firemen and soldiers, who also were called on to maintain order among the frightened populace.

The marriage of Miss Catherine Gretchen Lorenz, daughter of Mrs. Lorenz and the late Mr. Eugene G. Lorenz, and Mr. Frank Maxon Allen, son of Mr. Leonard I. Allen, of Watertown, N. Y., and the late Mrs. Allen, took place at 2:30 o'clock yesterday at the residence of the bride's mother in Livingston street. The officiating minister was the Rev. Thomas G. Smyth, rector of the Blessed Sacrament Church. The drawing rooms were decorated with midsummer flowers, ferns and palms.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Eugene H. Lorenz, wore a white satin gown with a square neck outlined in bugle beads. A short jacket completed her costume. Her bouquet was of brides roses and lilies of the valley.

Mr. Lorenz acted as best man for Mr. Allen.

A small reception limited to members of the two families and a few close friends, because of the recent death of the bride's father, followed the ceremony. Mrs. Lorenz assisted the bride and bridegroom. She wore a gown of flowered chiffon with a corsage of lilies of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen left later on a motor trip to New England and Canada, the latter traveling in a dark blue georgette ensemble with accessories of white.

Mr. Allen and Miss Elizabeth M. Allen, father and sister of the bridegroom, came from their home in Watertown to be present.

There will be several Washingtonians at the opening of the races at Saratoga Thursday. Among them will be Mr. and Mrs. William F. R. Hitt, Mrs. George Mesta and Rear Admiral and Mrs. Cary T. Grayson.

Maryland Revives Old Tournaments

Knights and ladies once again will hold sway at Upper Marlboro as the famous old southern Maryland tournaments are revived in Prince Georges County tomorrow, taking the place of the Volunteer Firemen's annual entertainment.

When the knights gather in the arena in preparation for the lance-and-ring tournaments, they will be addressed by Senator McCarran, of Nevada.

The contests will determine who will name the lady of his choice as queen of the festivities and to reign over the grand ball in the evening. The knights' program also will feature several addresses. Among the speakers will be former Representative John Philip Hill, of Baltimore.

Mix-Up on Cotton Stumps Merchants

Special to The Washington Post.

Waynesboro, Va., July 31.—Merchants are puzzled today when it comes to placing future orders for cotton goods. Increased labor costs added by the manufacturer, lining up with the Roosevelt recovery plan, plus an excess tax of 4½ cents per pound on all cotton goods, which will be applied on August 1 by the Government, is causing much concern among ready-to-wear merchants in this community.

Many merchants buy their materials by the yard and those who have placed future orders are unable to tell just what they will weigh by the pound; therefore, they complain, they are practically "lost" in making quotations for future business.

Boy Meets Sister After 19 Years

Helen Straube and her brother, Karl, left in 1914 at the State Home for Dependent Children, met here yesterday. Both had been adopted, and rules of the State home prevented them from learning each other's whereabouts until they were 21 years old.

"It's certainly a thrill to find my sister after 19 years," said Karl. "All we need now to make us completely happy is to find our mother."

Wanted to See World, Says Hiking Woman, 90

Colorado Springs, Colo., July 31 (AP).—Because she was tired of having a fuss made over her and was anxious to "see a bit more of this modern, exciting world," Mrs. Bridget Ford, 90, ran away from her daughter's home in Denver yesterday.

By hitchhiking, she was on her way to gratify her desire to see the world when Colorado Springs police, acting on the daughter's request, interrupted her travels.

Firemen Rescue Baby, 'Swimming' in Bathtub

Oklahoma City, July 31 (AP).—The fire department was called when Shirley Jane McCall, 14 months old, went swimming in the bathtub.

The child turned on the water while playing alone. Mrs. Joseph S. McCall found her daughter unconscious, and the firemen resuscitated Shirley Jane.

A Desperation Play.

WHEN you are playing in a Duplicate game which is being scored on a match-point basis there are many plays which must be made and many chances which must be taken which no good player would dream of taking in Rubber Bridge.

In Rubber Bridge if one is playing a game contract which can be made, one should never jeopardize this contract merely in order to make one or two overtricks, as it is quite easy to see that the percentages are decidedly against risking a four- or six-hundred-point loss in an effort to make a thirty- or sixty-point gain. However, when the game is being scored on a match-point basis, an extra trick may be the difference between a top and a bottom score, and as such is definitely worth trying for.

The hand below was played by Mr. Samuel Fry, jr., of New York City, in the All-American Pair Championships held at Hanover, N. H., last month.

North, Dealer.

The bidding: (Figure after bid refers to numbered explanatory paragraph.)

North	East	South	West
1♣	Pass	1♠	Pass
2♠	Pass	2NT	Pass
3♠	Pass	3NT (1)	Pass
Pass	Pass

1—This bid by Mr. Fry is quite doubtful. After his partner's spade raise and subsequent return to three spades, four spades would probably be the better bid. However, with his balanced hand, Mr. Fry decided that the hand would produce as many tricks at no trump as at spades, and with the match-point scoring in mind he decided to gamble for a top by not playing the hand at the suit declaration.

West had no way of choosing between his two five-card suits for an Opening lead and finally decided upon his fourth-best heart. Before playing a card from Dummy, Declarer took stock of the situation. He saw that if West held the Ace of hearts, or even if East held it and did not immediately shift, his contract of three notrump was assured, unless the spade suit broke very disastrously. However, Mr. Fry further saw that the contract of four spades seemed equally certain, and it occurred to him that probably at every other table the hand would be played at that declaration. And, he reflected, the 20 points difference between three notrump and four spades would be more than enough to give him a bottom score on the board.

Therefore the problem was not how to make three notrump, but how to make four notrump and turn a threatening bottom score into a top. With spades and clubs having been bid, it seemed almost certain that if Declarer tried to set up another heart trick in the usual way the opponents would almost automatically shift to diamonds and defeat the contract at least one trick. The only hope, therefore, seemed to be to employ deception and force the unwitting opponents to play into Declarer's own hand.

Accordingly, on the first heart trick Mr. Fry played low from Dummy and, when East played the Knave, won the trick with the Queen, now feeling almost certain that West, the Opening leader, held both the Ace and ten.

Mr. Fry now led the ten of clubs from his own hand, overtook with the King, and immediately led a small diamond from Dummy, employing the old military strategy of putting up a bold front on one's most vulnerable spot.

East, of course, played low on this diamond trick. Declarer playing the Queen and West winning with the Ace. At this point West fell for the ruse, hook, line and sinker. He led the Ace and ten of hearts, hoping against hope that the suit would break, although he suspected that it wouldn't, because if Declarer held only three hearts he would probably have played the King on the first trick. After the ten of hearts was played, West was up against a complete guess as to what to lead next, for, fortunately for Mr. Fry, East could not discard a high diamond on the third round of hearts without sacrificing the setting trick. West finally decided to lead another heart, knowing Declarer had a high one anyway and deciding to let him guess any possible subsequent finesses himself. Of course, after this Mr. Fry had only to take his spade and club tricks to make four notrump. The ruse had worked, and a probable bottom or close to bottom score was turned into a cold top. Naturally, to be successful South had to be aided by imperfect defense, but his method of playing the hand made it most difficult for West to realize the true situation.

Tomorrow's Hand.

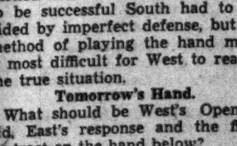
West, Dealer.
East and West vulnerable.



The hand will be discussed in tomorrow's article.

Sam Rork, Film Director, Dies.

Music Ability.

TOO MANY the fact that children vary inherently in their ability in reading, spelling, arithmetic and geography is not known. Almost every one knows that there is variation in musical ability. The inheritance laws of this ability are fairly well known and can be found in Davenport's book on eugenics and in other places as well.

It is also generally realized that there is no necessary relation between musical ability and other kinds of mental ability. At least one imbecile enjoyed a reputation as a musician. He could perform the compositions of others, his memory for music was phenomenal, and besides that he had some musical inventiveness. He was something of a composer.

Musical ability is a combination of several qualities. Singers must have a properly designed larynx, pharynx and voice. They must have good control over the muscles that tighten the vocal cords and some training of their respiratory muscles. Instrumental performers must have good muscle coordination. All of these are independent of ear qualities. At least one master composer was deaf and even stone deaf during a period in which he was composing great music. These are all somewhat accessory to the purely mental qualities termed musical ability.

These inherent differences in people need to be taken into consideration. To attempt a musical education where the child's makeup does not meet the requirements is a waste, or worse. Some St. Vitus dance and much fatigue effects of other types result from efforts to make a square peg fit in a round hole in this field. If the child has the mental portion of this thing called musical ability but lacks the anatomic qualifications or such physiologic qualifications as coordination the temptation of the parents to waste time on a musical education is strong. It is all right to expose the child to such an education, but it must be done with discrimination. It should not embrace those fields in which the child has no ability.

Most of the qualities that enter into the combination called musical ability are congenital and they are usually inherited. In a measure some of them can be acquired and some can be lost as the result of disease or accident. Much is known about the loss of hearing, including the capacity for extra nice discriminations between tones. Singers know that age, infections, improper use of the voice exact a heavy toll. There are other ways in which disease can affect some phases of musical ability.

What has been written above about musical ability is true, so far as general principles are concerned, of what goes by the name artistic ability, drawing, painting pictures, and chiseling statues.

Attention Needed.

O. L. writes: 1. How long does syphilis stay in the system when it is not hereditary?

2. Is medical attention necessary

Reply.

Throughout life in many cases, in the sense that somewhere in the body the microbes are present and living, and it is possible for them to regain some activity.

2. Yes.

Have You a Passport?

By Mary Brook Lucas

"Now, young lady, here's where you tell your age," teases Howard. "And where is your birth certificate?" "All the red tape to go to Europe" fusses Judy. "Here, Howard, you make it out, please do!"

For this warm August morning Judy chooses a brown and white plaid wash taffeta that is cool and practical.

"I'll help you fill out the slip, dear, while Dad gets our passports renewed. It's all very simple," suggests Mother. Her dress of sheer black crepe, printed in tiny yellow-green designs, is draped to a high front neckline. The slashed sleeves and straight skirt, ankle length, are other important details.

"How I wish Howard and I could go with you," sighs Jeanne. "Judy's first trip—I know she will love it. Now, let's go over and see about reservations—it isn't far from here." The simple dress of brown linen is combined with white pique in a novel arrangement of yoke and draped sleeve.

In spite of the depression people seem to be going places and choice staterooms are hard to get. "Um, those furs look hot but aren't they chic?" Jeanne whispers to Mother. Eight Kolinskys are worn in an unusual arrangement. The white satin tunic over a dark skirt is a costume we all will be wanting.

Rider-in-the-Sunshine Asks White Man to Preserve First Americans' Traditions

Ancient Spirit Lends Helping Hand to Dealer

By Ann Davis.

The scene was an antique shop. The locality, Connecticut avenue. Dramatis persona: the proprietor, the Shopper and the Spirit of Times Gone By.

The Shopper and the proprietor stood in the rear of the shop admiring an old mahogany desk in the early American Chippendale style. The invisible spirit floated above them.

"This was Samuel Livermore's desk," explained the proprietor. "He was, as you remember, president pro tem of the Senate during Washington's time."

The invisible spirit alighted on the desk. It spoke in a sibilant undertone: "American history was written here, letters of state, and secret documents!"

The Shopper gazed impressed. Those many drawers, those pigeon holes, that little locked compartment, what secrets they must have held!"

"A paltry sum, a small sum," whispered the Spirit, "to pay for historical value."

They're here! And they're reasonably priced! They fit beautifully, and they're a becoming length. You know, those black satin gloves we've wanted. What if they wrinkle, we've wondered, what if they're too long, or too short? No more whats! This shopper has seen them, and she's satisfied. All the way from the tips of her satin fingers to the flare of her satin skirt, milady may have a well-groomed satin look.

The bronze of your sun tan skin may have led you away from a black outfit, but still left you with satin tendencies. You fall back on brown, perhaps. The shops are prepared. You pay only $1 for a pair of charming sheen gloves in a beautiful rusty brown. Black satins, $1.95.

It could have been a lovely room, but it wasn't. A portable typewriter, a pile of paper, a stack of letters, a bottle of ink, pens and pencils by the score cluttered the top of the desk and table. Mother looked and shook her head. "My dear," she tried to expostulate gently, "why can't you keep your things in order?"

And my dear answered that one small desk could scarcely hold all her writing equipment. Dad was listening in. He chuckled to himself. "Legitimate excuse? Maybe. We'll see."

Now daughter's room is spic and span. Dad has sent her one of the new home secretaries made of lightweight steel especially constructed to hold the raft of these and thats which a young lady's room is heir to. Separate compartments for bills, letters, for the typewriter, ink, pencils, paper clips, and any number of odds and ends. Price, $29.75.

"It may be fun for some people, but its only trouble for me," sighed the young housewife, as she busied herself with the sandwiches and salad. The kitchen clock ticked pitilessly away. The hands crept closer to the picnic hour, and the lunch was only half ready.

Let that be the story of someone else. Order your luncheon over the phone. A downtown bakery prepares one for you on an hour's notice. It includes one-half fried spring chicken, a half pint potato salad, a half pint cole slaw, two deviled eggs, four rolls, two liberal slices of gingerbread, pickles, olives. Could you do it yourself for 89 cents.

As the shopper passed the beauty shop her gaze was attracted by a black and white bathing suit in the window. A beauty shop and a bathing suit? Her news nose (careful printer, not new nose) twitched. Fie fi fo fum, watch out story, here we come!

She entered the neat, airy little front room of the shop. The lady in charge was seated back of a counter. "May I inquire about the bathing suit?" asked the shopper.

The proprietor smiled and explained that some of her clients complained of obesity. They had been advised to swim for exercise. But how could they? So few of the suits were becoming, and after all a becoming suit was a prime necessity for swimming. Here was the solution to their problem. White pipings around the edges relieved the black material. The tucks running up and down suggested a sylph-like slimness. The ideal suit for the overly plump or sensitive stout.

It looks like a pocketbook. But it isn't. It's a bathing bag. Very small, and compact, but amazingly roomy. The sleeve of grandmother's voluminous suit might have squeezed inside. Your suit in its entirety, a towel, and slippers will easily fit. Its rubber lining is guaranteed. The fabric covers are in fast colors of blue, rose and brown. Price, 85 cents.

What's In Fashion

Accessories Rejuvenate Tired Costumes and Freshen Summer-Worn Frocks

By Amos Parrish.

If by now—as is probable—you've reached that midsummer "haven't-a-thing-to-wear" state, here's some free advice. For the next few weeks until you can comfortably put on fall things, go right on wearing what you have. But rejuvenate and freshen these tired costumes with new accessories. There are two good ways to do that. One is to change the color of your accessories—your hat or hat band, handbag, gloves, flower, neckwear and jewelry.

Instead of brown accessories with your gray costume, try navy blue. Instead of white with your black linen suit, use a pastel—pink or blue or yellow.

New Colors.

There are new accessory colors, too, any of which go with white outfits, and among which you can find just the right unusual accent to put on your dark costumes or pastel dresses.

There are currant or raspberry red, for instance; turquoise or aquamarine blue; orangey-red. You can give yourself and your costume an exciting new look with any of these.

You wouldn't want all your accessories in these colors, of course. But combinations such as hat band, belt and gloves; handbag, hat and necklace; blouse and gloves or blouse and handbag can be used with telling effect.

New Materials.

Another way to freshen up with different accessories is to change their material. Cotton and linen are still "the thing" for summer. But there's a real taste of fall in some of the new velvet and satin accessories.

High in Back.

Not only does the fabric give you a different look, but the lines of the new beret—high in back, sliding down over the right eye, and often with some kind of peak reaching heavenward—are decidedly different from the hats you've been wearing this summer.

Black satin makes some of the most startling new accessories. You can have it in a beret, for example, or in one of the new visor brim hats.

Gloves and Bags.

But even more unusual are the black satin gloves and the black satin handbags. And what a rejuvenated look they give to a light-colored afternoon frock. Right in fashion with their "dark on light" accent.

What Today Means

"Leo."

IF August 1 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7:30 a. m. to 8:50 a. m., from 11:45 a. m. to 1 p. m. and from 7:35 p. m. to 8:45 p. m. The danger periods are from 9:20 a. m. to 10:55 a. m. and from 5 p. m. to 6:30 p. m.

Influences operating on this date will probably stimulate people to a greater appreciation of the beautiful things of life. The art exhibit or concert planned for this date should prove successful and will "get over" with a bang. Children will feel inspired to create, and you will find many of them busy with pencil, brush and paper or with other materials of expression.

The child born on this August 1 will more than likely be a stubborn little one and will often oppose plans made for him for the sheer purpose of being "ornery." Often this little one will give way to tears, seemingly without reason. You may find him inclined to be nervous, but he should outgrow this.

If August 1 is the date of your birth, every day is about the same to you in so far as you feel that whatever you are doing warrants your very best efforts. You do not believe in luck, or getting the breaks, but firmly take stock in the assurance that you will reap what you sow. You are a person of great faith, you are sure of the existence of a Supreme Being and you trust in His being able to work things out for the best as long as you put forth your very best work. You do not sympathize with inactivity and you like to stir others up and keep them on the job. You could make yourself invaluable in some organization of a sales type where you could use your talents to put pep into others. Your great buoyancy sometimes, if not controlled, gets on the nerves of others and may react to your disadvantage.

Born on August 1, your course through life will not be a wavering or uncertain one. You will more than likely get on the right track early in life and you will seldom if ever get off your course. You are not one to wander along the road and play here and there as you go. You do not like to mix socially with many people, but prefer to have many hours in the company of a few. This is true also in regard to the members of your own family, much as you do love them. There are times, frequent, too, when you want to be by yourself. You will have money.

Lace-Trimmed Gloves Match Chiffon Hankie

The loveliest accessories for a white summer evening frock are white lace-trimmed gloves and a chiffon handkerchief to match. Since they are difficult to buy they can be made with very little time and trouble.

The gloves themselves should be of net organdy or some other delicate fabric. Lace for cuffs can be purchased inexpensively and should be sewn to the glove at the wrist. The cuffs should be deep and slightly flared. It is a simple matter to insert a corner of the same lace into a plain chiffon handkerchief, and the result will be as charming an ensemble as one can find. With a jeweled clasp at the neck of the frock, these accessories will furnish all the necessary trimming.

Refrigerator Cakes and Pies Eliminate Baking Drudgery

By Ann Barrett.

Those gorgeous creations of lady fingers and whipped cream and nuts and macaroons known as refrigerator cakes have long been great favorites. They rate high with Secretary of State Cordell Hull, for example. And radio announcer James Wallington tells me he can eat them till the cows come home—when they've got chocolate in them.

For the sake of making a fine picture, it's this type of refrigerator cake I've shown here. But for times when a less rich and elaborate creation is in order, good cooks of 1933 have opened up a whole new bag of tricks, I find.

In place of so much cream, for instance, they are using mixtures that depend more on eggs and cornstarch and gelatin and marshmallows for the thickening ingredient. Instead of making these desserts always in the form of the deep loaf cake, they are making them up in pie plates to be cut exactly like pies. And in place of lady fingers or sliced sponge cake or angel food, they are using all sorts of sweetened wafers such as graham crackers, chocolate or vanilla wafers, gingersnaps.

To show you just what I mean, here is a recipe for orange pie. (Magic It calls for no cooking and no baking, you notice).

Orange Refrigerator Pie.

First soak 1½ tablespoons gelatin in 3 tablespoons cold water. Then turn this into ½ cup boiling water in the top of double boiler, and stir till dissolved. Next stir in 4 tablespoons sugar. Let mixture cool. Then add 1 cup strained orange juice and 1 tablespoon strained lemon juice. Put some ice water in bottom of double boiler and set the top part into it. Let stand till mixture starts to set. Then beat with rotary beater. Next fold into the mixture ½ cup of diced orange and 2 egg whites beaten stiff.

For the crust to this pie, use either vanilla wafers or gingersnaps. Crush or grind enough of them to make a thick layer of crumbs in the bottom of the pie plate. Line the sides of the plate with wafers broken into halves (rounded side out) with more crumbs between the wafers. Then turn in the fruit mixture and place in the refrigerator to set.

This will take about 4 hours. But there'll be no harm done if you want to make this pie the night before. And in case you'd like to use berries in place of oranges that'll be good, too. Just substitute the same amount of berries and juice.

Spring Form Convenient.

The spring form baking pan is a wonderfully handy contrivance not only for this kind of dessert, but for baking cakes, too. Because the rim lifts right off, leaving the cake safely on the bottom of the pan, so that you can slip the whole thing onto a serving plate without breaking. The size I use and find most convenient is 9 inches across and 3 inches deep.

However, if you want to use a round loaf pan or a bread pan you can do so successfully by lining it first with two thicknesses of heavy waxed paper. Let the paper come above the edge of the tin, so you can get a good grip on it to lift the cake out. Putting a layer of lady fingers or a thick layer of macaroon crumbs in the center of the mixture also gives it more body.

Indian Maid Sings to Aid Native Arts

Princess Atalie Unkalunt Has Council Hall for Indian Artists.

Night shadows protected the slim young mother with the frightened baby in her arms. Silently she skirted the fragrant crepe myrtles. Lilac branches clutched at her crinoline skirt. Across the sheltered lane she joined a waiting band of friendly Indians. A rush of hoofs—Atalie Unkalunt, Rider-in-the-Sunshine and Princess of the Cherokees, paused in the midst of this old story. An odd smile lighted her face.

"I like to remember that my white grandmother found a haven with my father's people," she said. "During the Civil War she fled with my mother for protection to the Cherokees. They left the South and went to 'No Man's Land,' later the Indian Territory of Oklahoma.

Father a Chief's Son.

"The Cherokees brought mother up. Seven years passed before my father, who was fighting for the South, traced them to Oklahoma. He, too, joined the Indians and there my mother grew to womanhood. My father and mother played together as children. He was a chief's son.

"As each new papoose arrived, my father and mother built another room on the cabin. And there were 14 of us! We all went to Indian school and we all had white teachers. It is only within recent years that our young Indian men and women have had a chance to teach their own people, to teach them the ways and lore of the white man, and at the same time preserve and nourish the native arts and traditions that made the Indian a proud and cultured race."

Princess Atalie believes that the blood of both races has mingled in her to make for a finer, deeper understanding of Indian problems than would be possible to either white or red man.

"I have the strength and stoicism of the Indian, I have his calmness and patience," her cool voice related. "But I have also the drive and force of the white man that came to me through my French and English mother.

"I am able to fight for my people because my spirit is less proud than that of the full-blood. I am willing to battle for what I want. I do not sit back and nurse an outraged dignity, I find out why I am not getting the results I have expected and change my methods to suit my opponent's."

Thirteen years ago Rider-In-The-Sunshine founded the First Sons and Daughters of America. Today 2,900 Indians have become members and pledged themselves to keep Indian arts and decorations alive and before the public in the purity of true Indian tradition.

The burden often falls on Princess Atalie, too. For in her New York studio, famous to art lovers, she is the counselor and friend, the big sister and the solver-of-problems.

Many Tribes Gather.

There are at least 150 Indians of a dozen tribes in New York. They form a constant stream in and out of Princess Atalie's wigwam, an Indian council, in studios on West Fifty-eighth street. Here in a hall decorated by eagle feathers, prayer plumes, sand paintings and thunder birds, you may meet perhaps, Will Rogers, distant cousin of the princess, or Princess White Deer, a Mohawk dancer. Or Chief Running Bear, a Powhatan, learned lecturer on the progress of civilization; or Chief Yowlache (Lucky Hand), a Yakima; or Yae Wanota, a Senaca. Her father's Chief Domgesque Unkalunt, the famous Indian senator, Thomas L. Rider.

In addition to spending much of her time traveling about the country to encourage and promote Indian arts—her present Washington visit is in this cause—Princess Atalie is a soprano well known to musical circles. Scarcely an Indian festival or opera is given in North America but she is asked to sing the leading soprano role. The Wisconsin Dells know her well. So does New York and Toronto, where she goes soon to sing in "Montezuma" at the National Exposition.

Her earnings go to her cause. And if you get to know her a little, she may tell you, chuckling slyly, "I must sing to get wampum—for my people."

Rice Stuffed Green Peppers.

Sonnet.

By Katherine Smith.

When I consider how my life is spent
In wasting many hours all alone
While waiting for your voice on the phone,
I know that I'm a fool. Though my intent
Was never to allow a handsome gent
To make me kneel before the lofty throne
On which he sits, I bow my head and moan
And raise my wretched voice in loud lament.
For you, with all the methods you invent
To take a heart to be your very own,
Have taken mine without the decent loan
Of yours in just return. May evils sown
By you reap evils on your haughty head,
And haunt your vagrant ghost when you are dead.

Prints for Evening.

There's a real old-fashioned flavor in some of the new evening gown materials . . . printed satin, printed velvet in particular. Developed into gowns with a last-century look, they can add much to the charm of the wardrobe.

Wooden Dining Sets.

For outdoor dining, wooden salad and berry sets are a smart idea. They have a casual and informal air which goes well with the outdoor setting.

Sleeved Evening Gowns.

With so much interest centered on shoulders it is not too surprising to find that some of the most formal evening gowns have sleeves in order to achieve the desired broad or high shoulder effect. But even with sleeves the dress is apt to be almost entirely backless and the sleeves usually have some sort of slit or other cut-out open effect.

Stay-at-Homes Can Keep Cool In Hot Spell

By Alice Clarissa Richmond.

The Smiths had very limited means and for several summers when their children were small were obliged to stay in the city.

In ordinary weather this enforced sojourn was no hardship, for there were parks and neighboring suburbs to go to for outings, and rainy days were enlivened by visits to museums or even moving pictures.

But there were, of course, days when the pavements were too hot to walk on, and when wheeling a carriage or guiding velocipedes and scooters seemed more than flesh could stand.

Those days they stayed at home, darkened the house as far as possible and accepted the tropical climate reasonably.

Mrs. Smith filled the bath tub, took up the rugs, and then undressed the children. All day long they played through the apartment and, whenever they felt like it, jumped into the tub and cooled off. When they got out they wiped only their feet and legs and the evaporation of the water left on their bodies kept them cool for some time afterward.

Meals were no problem, since, as Mr. Dooley once said, if you want fresh vegetables and fruit and milk and eggs in the summer, stay in the city.

In the evening when the man of the house came home he found a cheerful family, ready to go on a jaunt with him if he felt that a walk in the park or a ride in the cool of the evening would refresh him.

Perhaps the children were not quite so tanned as their friends who had been to the shore or to the mountains, but on the whole they felt pretty healthy and very happy and their parents could never see that their quota of good health had been impaired.

Rev. Strohaver Succeeds Dean At Georgetown

The Rev. Vincent J. Hart Will Resume Studies at Poughkeepsie.

The transfer of the Rev. Vincent J. Hart, S. J., as dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at Georgetown University and the appointment of the Rev. George F. Strohaver, S. J., of the college faculty as his successor was announced yesterday.

Dean Hart, who has been at the Hilltop two years, will leave in about a week to pursue private studies at St. Andrew-on-the-Hudson, the Jesuit house of studies at Poughkeepsie, N. Y. He came to Georgetown first in the capacity of dean of freshmen and last year was made dean of the college.

His successor, Father Strohaver, reorganized and directed the chemistry department at the Hilltop during the past year. He formerly headed the chemistry department at Holy Cross College, Worcester, Mass., and is well known in Washington, having preached in this city frequently during the year.

New Chemistry Director.

The Rev. Lawrence C. Gorman, S. J., who was on the Hilltop faculty four years ago, is returning to fill the vacated office of director of chemistry. He has just completed his theology course at Woodstock College, Woodstock, Md.

Dr. Coleman Nevils, S. J., president of the university, will continue in office for the remainder of the year, when it is expected he will be transferred to some other institution.

Besides Dean Hart, only two other members of the Hilltop faculty are being transferred. The Rev. Francis J. Burke, who taught philosophy, also will study at St. Andrews-on-the-Hudson. Prof. Gerard F. Yates, S. J., will study theology at Woodstock College. He was assistant professor of Latin and acted as moderator of the Mask and Bauble Club, the students' dramatic society.

Four Other Appointees.

Including Father Gorman, there are four other new appointees for the coming academic year. Prof. J. J. P. Walsh, S. J., is coming from Woodstock College to be an assistant in the physics department. The Rev. R. H. Anable, of Woodstock, will become professor of philosophy in the Graduate School and the Rev. D. V. McCauley, also of Woodstock, will lecture on biology.

From St. Joseph's College in Philadelphia, the Rev. J. A. Slattery has been transferred here as professor of Latin and English in the freshman class. Prof. A. A. Hufnagle, S. J., who has been at Woodstock, also is coming to Georgetown to devote the year to private studies in chemistry. Prof. Philip H. McGrath, S. J., who taught physics as an assistant, will make private studies in mathematics.

Gartside to Head Park Policemen

Woodruff, Gillette and Hickey Awaiting War Office Orders.

Frank T. Gartside, chief of the park division of the office of Public Buildings and Public Parks, soon will assume the added duties of park superintendent under tentative plans to be offered Secretary Ickes of the Interior today.

With the office scheduled to be transferred to the Interior Department on August 10, Col. J. A. Woodruff, its director, and his assistant, Maj. Douglas H. Gillette, are awaiting War Department orders returning them to engineering duty. Jobs of 2,700 civilian employees in the office were saved until September 30 by President Roosevelt's executive order.

Under the new setup, the protection division is expected to be placed directly under the jurisdiction of Mr. Gartside as superintendent of National Capital parks. Building guards, now included in the protection division with police personnel, would be transferred to a different branch.

Capt. Doyle O. Hickey, present chief of the park police system, said last night he was awaiting transfer orders from the War Department.

Wentworth Group To Sing 'Mikado'

Opera Will Be Repeated at Sylvan Theater Tomorrow.

"The Mikado" will be presented tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. for the second time at the Sylvan Theater by Estelle Wentworth's light opera group. The musicals are sponsored by the Community Center Department in cooperation with the Office of Public Building and Public Parks.

The outdoor presentation is expected to be staged beautifully with Japanese lanterns, which are an integral part of the opera, much in evidence.

Next Friday evening the festival concert of the United States Navy Band, with Clara Moran Bernheimer, soloist will take place in the Sylvan Theater.

Wife Sues Torrence's Son.

Los Angeles, July 31 (AP).—Mrs. Liliora Green Torrence filed suit for divorce today against Ernst Torrence, jr., son of the late motion picture actor. She alleged mental cruelty. They were married September 13, 1930, the complaint said, and separated last May 26.

Three Lyon Sisters Have Lived for 50 Years in Same House.

By John J. Daly.

In the square bounded by Second and Third, A and B streets southeast, where the first building boom was staged in Washington, the old folks are all packed up. They are going away from the old haunts. They don'e know exactly where they're going, but they're on the way.

Uncle Sam is putting them out of their homes. They believe this in their heatrt of hearts. While most of them are old residents of Washington, men and women raised within the shadow of the Capitol, they hold a certain resentment against the peremptory orders ousting them from their homes.

Others, moved into the old neighborhood recently as 20 years ago—and, therefore, considered newcomers—feel the same way about it.

There is one building in particular where the inhabitants are mostly all newcomers, and this is the graceful old colonial house on the corner of Second and B streets, a house once used to shelter the Supreme Court of the United States.

A landmark will go when the wreckers raze the old house at Second and B streets southeast.

All through the neighborhood is a quiet dissention against the order of Government that stands for the going of these people.

The old neighbors, gossiping among themselves, point to such cases as those of the three Lyon sisters who have lived in their home the past 50 years; born there.

"Well, you just don't get over these things," a landlady in the neighborhood complained. "I'm a stranger here myself, been here only 20 years—but these people, who were born in this block, like it—and it's a shame to oust them."

The old neighborhood reeks with the musty smell of age. A door is opened and a century steps out into the open.

Ghosts of the past are getting ready to vacate. By August 15—the deadline for inhabitants of an old Washington block—there will be nothing down that way but a detail of Library police, posted as guards to keep people off Government property.

Sad are the natives. One man died when Uncle Sam sent him a notice to get out within 30 days; out of a house where his mother came as a bride.

Foreign Trade Keeping Pace With Domestic

Exports of United States Maintain Increase Started in May.

(United Press.)

Steady improvement in world trade along with domestic recovery and greater stability in foreign exchange quotations was reported by Governmental officials last night.

Although the administration is putting all its energy into its domestic revival, foreign trade reports are being watched closely with the hope that improvement there would further improve the prospects for recovery at home.

The steady improvement in foreign trade of the United States which began in May has been maintained through the current month. July figures are expected to show improvement over the corresponding period of the previous year for the second successive month.

The United States in June had combined import and export trade of $141,900,000, the highest since October. This rate, it was understood, was maintained through July.

More Stability Seen.

The decision of the administration to abandon further dollar devaluation for the time being was expected to contribute to further stability in foreign exchange markets and thus promote greater exchange of goods with foreign countries.

Increased traffic through the leading ship canals of the world and greater activity in shipyards were reported yesterday by the Department of Commerce as evidence of reviving foreign trade.

St. Lawrence Canal tonnage rose to 994,429 tons in June from 902,784 tons in the same month last year, while Sault Ste. Marie Canal traffic mounted to 3,538,282 tons, as compared with 1,987,882 tons in June, 1932.

Panama Canal traffic in the first 27 days of July was above that of a year ago with tolls amounting to $1,643,006, as compared with $1,194,579 a year ago.

Traffic through the Suez Canal increased 13 per cent in May.

Customs Receipts Grow.

Customs receipts of the Federal Government in the first 27 days of this month rose to around their best levels in eight months at $20,626,235, against only $16,094,046 a year ago, indicating import of more goods.

Increased foreign trade has promoted new activity in the shipbuilding yards. A total of 60 vessels of 34,846 gross tons were under construction in June, compared with 47 vessels of 17,671 tons in May.

Exports of iron and steel products in June were 102,581 tons, against 52,059 tons a year ago; automobile products exports in June were worth $7,213,132, against $6,809,301 a year ago and corresponding gains are being made in cotton goods despite the recent price rise of the product.

Refusal of Permit For Beer Is Upset

The District Commissioner yesterday were ordered by Justice Oscar R. Luhring, in the District Supreme Court, to grant Raymond F. Johnson, 4200 Wisconsin avenue northwest, an "off sale" beer permit.

The Commissioners had refused the permit on the ground that Christian Heurich, jr., treasurer of the Christian Heurich Brewing Co., owned the building and leased it to Johnson. The permit had been rejected by the Commissioners because of the provision in the beer law that no manufacturer or wholesaler shall have either a direct or indirect interest in the business of one to whom the permit is granted.

Justice Luhring held that the lease was a personal dealing between Heurich and Johnson and was not of the type barred by the law.

R. F. C. Loan Talks Spur Hamilton Bank Opening

Reorganization of Reconstruction Finance Corporation loans are being taken up at important conferences between R. F. C. heads and the Treasury Department to clear the way for opening of the Hamilton Bank.

However, Edwin C. Graham, president of the new bank, did not comment yesterday on the loan situation, so the date of the Hamilton's beginning is still unknown.

Branch Relief Stations To Be Considered Here

The District emergency relief committee tonight will discuss steps for establishing branch relief stations as suggested by Alan Johnstone, field representative of the Federal Relief Administration.

George S. Wilson, director of public welfare, said yesterday that probably four stations, where the unemployed may make application for aid, would be sufficient.

Varied Literary Tastes Guide Book Buying for Forest Crews

Buying a book for a friend sometimes turns out to be a day's work—but suppose you had to do it for 300,000 men.

That is the job, or rather one of the jobs of Maj. Joseph J. Teter, of the adjutant general's department of the Army. He selects the reading matter, fiction and otherwise, for Uncle Sam's Civilian Conservation Corps.

If the task were to find books for 300,000 railroad men, 300,000 clerks or 300,000 professional men, it would be a lot easier. But to find volumes to interest the various assortment that fills the conservation camps is something else.

This is probably the reason why one finds among the books a range from Willa Cather's "Shadows on the Rock" to "Gas House McGinty." Or from "Tarzan of the Apes" to Haliburton's "Royal Road to Romance" or Louis Bromfield's "Modern Hero."

On the list are to be found lots of Sax Rohmer's books and scads of novels by Edgar Wallace, Peter B. Kyne and Zane Grey. Strangely, there is nothing by Kipling or Dickens. Conrad is represented by "Lord Jim."

Those two gems of youth—"Treasure Island" and "Tom Sawyer," are in the library and popular, but there's no Alger and not a line about Nick Carter.

11 Bodies Recovered In Spanish Boat Upset

San Sebastian, Spain, July 31 (AP). Eleven bodies had been recovered tonight following upon the capsizing yesterday of the motorboat Jesus.

Search was continued for bodies of the rest of the 20 persons who disappeared when the little boat turned over in a storm while hundreds of persons looked on. Wreckage of the boat was washed upon the rocks, but no survivor has been found.

(Associated Press.)

The text of the code for the furniture, hardware, mail order, clothiers and furnishers, department stores, specialty shop, shoe and dry goods retailers, follows:

On and after the effective date of this code no individual or organization selling at retail small work any employee (except executives whose salaries exceed $35 per week, or registered pharmacists or other professional persons employed in their profession, or outside salesmen, and except outside deliverymen and maintenance employees who may be employed 48 hours weekly or more, if paid time and one-third for all hours over 48 hours weekly), for more than forty (40) hours per week, excepting at Christmas, inventory and other peak periods employees may work forty-eight (48) hours per week for a maximum of not to exceed three weeks in each six months.

And not to reduce the hours of any store or service operation to below fifty-two (52) hours in any one (1) week, unless such hours were less than fifty-two (52) hours per week before July, 1933, and in the latter case not to reduce such hours at all.

The maximum fixed in paragraph 3 (A) (of the President's agreement) shall not apply to employees in establishments employing not wore than two persons in towns of less than 2,500 population which towns are not part of a larger trade area.

Fixes Minimum Wages.

On and after the effective date of this code, retail stores shall establish minimum weekly rates of wages for the retail trade for a work week specified in section 3 (A) (of the President's agreement) as follows:

Within cities of over 500,000 population (by reference to the 1930 Federal census) or in the immediate trade area of such cities at the rate of $14 per week.

Within cities of from 100,000 to 500,000 population (by reference to the 1930 Federal census), or in the immediate trade area of such cities at the rate of $13.50 per week.

Within villages, towns, or cities with a population of 2,500 to 100,000 (by reference to the 1930 Federal census), unless they are included in a trade area as defined by clause (A) or (B), at the rate of $13 per week.

The minimum wages that shall be paid by employers in the retail trade to any of their employees shall be at the rate of $1 per week less in the Southern section of the trade than the rates specified in paragraph (A) (B) and (C) of section (4).

South Is Defined.

The South is defined as the following States: Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Kentucky, Maryland, District of Columbia, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas.

In the entire United States, in villages, towns and cities under 2,500 population to increase all wages by not less than 20 per cent provided that this shall not require wages in excess of $11 per week.

Except that on and after the effective date of this code, union employees between the ages of 16 and 18 years, inclusive, with less than six months experience in any retail store, shall be paid at the rate of $2 less for a work week as provided in section 3—(A) (of the President's agreement) and except that apprentices, employees more than 18 years of age with less than six months experience in any retail store, shall be paid at the rate of $1 less for a work week as provided in section 3—(A), provided that the minimum shall not be less than at the rate of $11 per week.

Except for the changes made by these sections, the provisions of the President's general agreement stand for the industry.

(Associated Press.)

The code that becomes effective today in grocery and food stores throughout the land carries the language of the President's agreement except for the following changes:

Article I.

The term "food and grocery distributors" as used in this code shall mean and apply to and include any person, firm, corporation, partnership, association and any others wholly or partially performing the functions of wholesale and retail distribution (except the farmer as a producer nor shall it be applicable to strictly manufacturing operations) engaged in the business of assembling, distributing and selling raw and/or prepared foods, and merchandise entering into or used in connection with or in the keeping, processing or preparation of the same for use or consumption; and such other merchandise as is by custom classified and commonly referred to as part of a grocer's stock.

Article III.

Section 1. All employees of food and grocery distributors shall have the right to organize and bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing, and shall be free from interference, restraint or coercion of employers of labor, of their agents in the designation of such representatives, or in self-organization, or in other concerted activities for the purpose of collective bargaining, or other mutual aid or protection.

No Joining Required.

Section 2. No employees and no one seeking employment in the food and grocery distributing trade shall be required as a condition of employment to join any company union or refrain from joining a labor organization of his own choosing.

Section 3. All members of the food and grocery distributing trade shall comply with the maximum hours of labor and the minimum rates of pay herein set forth.

Article VI.

Section 1. The maximum hours of labor shall be 48 hours per week and no one shall be employed more than 8 hours in any 24-hour period, excepting on the day preceding a legal holiday and on an additional 12 days (when the maximum hours in any one day shall not exceed 10 hours) in any six months period.

Section 2. The mimimum hours of any store or service operation shall be 52 hours per week, providing, however, that where store or service operations were less than 52 hours per week before July 1, 1933, this minimum requirement shall not apply nor shall such hours be reduced.

Fixes Hours.

Section 3. The maximum hours fixed in the foregoing paragraphs shall not apply to employees in establishments employing not more than two persons in towns of less than 2,500 population, which towns are not a part of a larger trade area, nor to employees in managerial or executive capacity who now receive more than $35 per week, nor to outside salesmen or deliverymen, nor to employees on emergency maintenance and repair work, nor to very special cases where restrictions of hours would unavoidably reduce production, but, in any such special case, at least time and one-third shall be paid for hours worked in excess of the maximum.

Not less than

(A) $15 per week in any city of over 500,000 population, or in the immediate trade area thereof,

Nor less than

(B) $14.50 per week in any city between 250,000 and 500,000 population, or in the immediate trade area thereof.

Nor less than

(C) $14.00 per week in any city of between 2,500 and 250,000 population, or in the immediate trade area thereof.

(D) Employees with less than six (6) months' experience in this trade may be paid $1 per week less than wages hereinbefore prescribed.

(E) The minimum wages which shall be paid by employers in this trade to any employees shall be at the rate of $1 per week less in the Southern section of the trade than the rates specified in paragraphs "A," "B," "C," and "D" hereabove.

States in South.

(f) In towns of less than 2,500 population all wages shall be increased by not less than 20 per cent provided that this shall not require wages in excess of $12 per week.

(g) Population for the purpose of this code shall be determined by reference to the 1930 Federal census.

(h) Not to reduce the compensation for employment now in excess of the minimum wages hereby agreed to, (notwithstanding that the hours worked in such employment may be hereby reduced) and to increase the pay for such employment by an equitable adjustment of all pay schedules.

Article V.

This agreement in all respects subject to (1) the provisions of the agricultural adjustment act and (2) the executive order dates June 26, 1933, by which the President delegated to the Secretary of Agriculture certain of his powers and functions under the National Industrial Recovery Act.

King to Urge Gas Tax Fund Release

Obtains Data to Fortify His Plea Before Douglas Next Week.

Senator King, chairman of the Senate District Committee, yesterday obtained data from the District Commissioners to fortify his plea to the Budget Bureau to release District appropriations from the gasoline tax and water rent surplus funds.

After seeing the Commissioners yesterday, Mr. King stated he would call upon Budget Director Lewis W. Douglas as soon as he returns next week and would urge the early approval of the proposed expenditures for highway and water system improvements.

"I intend to point out to him the stimulus these programs will give to employment in the District," the senator said.

The Commissioners recently estimated proposed highway improvements would provide more than 8,000 man-months' employment, besides saving jobs of hundreds in the highway department. Some 460 jobs are dependent on release of the water rent surplus. Mr. King is particularly interested in obtaining the release of the initial appropriation of $575,000 included in the gasoline tax fund surplus appropriation to start construction of the Calvert Street Bridge.

Vice Trials Put Off For Man, 3 Women

Trio Arrested in Drive, Freed on $500 Bond, Plead Not Guilty.

Cases against three women arrested on disorderly house charges in a week-end vice drive of police were continued for a week in Police Court yesterday after they had entered pleas of not guilty.

A charge of pandering against James Atkinson, 30, of Charleston, S. C., was also continued for a week when police testified that Ruby Sprinkle, 16, is too ill to appear against him.

The three women are Alma O'Dell, Maxine McArthur and Eva M. Leavinster. They were released on $500 bond each.

Charles A. Jones, manager of the District office of the Home Owners Loan Corporation, and Paul J. Frizzell, his assistant, made this announcement late yesterday at the end of the first day's operations of the loan office.

"Job hunters have bothered us so much today," Mr. Jones said, "that they have interfered with our real work—giving attention to the distressed home owners of Washington. We have had 3,500 applicants for jobs, and 500 applicants for loans. When we do employ a regular staff it will not consist of more than ten persons. When we are ready to consider appointments for these positions we will make it known. Until then it will be appreciated if the job hunters leave us at peace. If they do bother us, I can not guarantee them a cordial reception."

Despite the persistence of job hunters, the first day's work at the local loan office progressed smoothly. A crowd of 300 waiting at the office prior to its opening was disposed of within half an hour. Applicants came into the office at the rate of about two a minute during the major portion of the day.

Applicants Diminish.

After 4:30 p. m., however, there was a decided diminution in the applicants. This was regarded as indicative that Government workers are not in need of help or are not eligible for such aid.

Smooth running of the office was accredited to the efficiency of the volunteer staff of 25 donated by banks, real estate concerns and financial houses of the District. This staff will be decreased as the work lessens.

Cases of a pressing nature were given immediate attention. Mortgage holders were called and agreement to defer foreclosure was obtained in every case, it was announced.

Pathos and humor were intermingled as the stream of applicants flowed into the refurbished offices on the Fifteenth street side of the Shoreham Building. A widow walked all the way to the office from the Southeast section of the city. She said she didn't have money to buy a 2-cent stamp with which to mail back the application blank.

Applicant Is Excited.

An excitable Italian, who spoke in gestures, couldn't make himself understood, so he was referred to Italian Bank for assistance.

One woman almost collapsed when she was told the Government could not aid in the refinancing of her home, on which she has three trusts totaling more than $10,000.

Most of the applicants grasped what they were told quickly and went on their way with their application blanks. They will now take consent blanks to mortgage holders for signing. In cases of a deserving nature, the loan office will make every effort to have the mortgagees consent to receiving the bonds of the loan corporation, it was announced.

War Department Keeps Control Over Arlington

Arlington National Cemetery and the United States Soldiers' Home Cemetery will not be transferred from the jurisdiction of the War Department to the Interior Department, it was announced yesterday at the War Department.

They will be retained under the War Department, although the Office of National Parks, Buildings and Reservations will take over 750 other national cemeteries. The War Department is also retaining control over the cemeteries of Europe where the World War dead ar buried.

New Span Design Plans Demanded

Calvert Street Contract Must Wait 4 Months, Gotwals Says.

The District Commissioners yesterday took the first steps of complying with the demands of the Fine Arts Commission in the Calvert Street Bridge controversy.

"We're going to get that bridge started by the middle of September," said Senator King, chairman of the Senate District committee.

Engineers Commissioner John C. Gotwals predicted that it will be at least four months before a contract can be let.

Senator King expressed approval with the action of Commissioners in requesting Modjeski, Masters & Chase, Philadelphia, designing engineers, to prepare a preliminary drawing of a multiple arch masonry bridge in conformance with the ideas of the Fine Arts Commission.

Chrysler Auto Makes Profit Of $7,785,616

New York, July 31 (AP).—The Chrysler Corporation today added its name to the growing list of American corporations testifying—through sharply improved earnings statements—to the general business recovery of the country.

Swinging into the second quarter of this year with the handicap of a $3,038,082 loss for the first three months, the corporation reeled off a net profit of $7,785,616 for the quarter ended June 30, 1933, equivalent to $1.80 per share on the common stock.

This compares with a net profit of $1,186,052, or 27 cents per share, for the second quarter of 1932.

Announcement was also made of the declaration of a special dividend of 50 cents per share on the common stock, payable September 15 to stockholders of record August 15. The last previous payment was 25 cents covering the quarter ended December 31, 1932.

Thus for the first six months of this year the corporation was able to absorb not only the loss of the first quarter but show a net profit of $4,747,534, equal to $1.10 per share on the capital stock, as compared with a net loss of $880,432 in the first half of 1932.

Profits are computed after allowing for interest, taxes and depreciation charges.

Current assets, as of June 30, amounted to $85,935,285, of which $55,247,189 was in cash and marketable securities. Current liabilities stood as $28,776,047. On the corresponding date a year ago current assets were $76,455,874, of which cash and marketable securities were $53,761,136, while current liabilities amounted to $10,821,762.

Atlanta, July 31 (AP).—Directors of the Coca Cola Co. today declared the quarterly dividend of $1.50 on the common stock, payable October 2 to stockholders of record September 12.

The company said that for the three months ended June 30, net earnings, after income taxes, were $3,354,573, compared with $3,805,317 for the second quarter of 1932.

Allowing for dividends on that period of the class "A" stock outstanding in the hands of the public, second quarter net earnings applicable to the 1,000,000 shares of common stock amounted to $2,849,688, which compares with $3,298,632 for the second quarter of 1932, after the same deductions.

For the first six months of 1932, net earnings after income taxes and class "A" dividends amounted to $4,151,021, compared with $5,102,067 in the first half of 1932, after the same deductions.

New York, July 31 (AP).—The United Gas Improvement Co. reports for the quarter ended June 30 net income of $6,904,866, equivalent to 29 cents a share on the common stock, compared with $7,822,052, or 33 cents a share for the corresponding period last year. For the twelve months ended June 30 net income was $29,602,858, or $1.27 a common share against $32,875,404, or $1.41 a share for the preceding twelve months.

National Distillers Products Corporation and subsidiaries report for the six months ended June 30 net profit of $476,348, equal after dividend requirements on the preferred stock to 80 cents a share on the common. This compares with $291,031, or 29 cents a common share in the first half of 1932.

Stone & Webster, Inc., for the quarter ended June 30 had a consolidated net loss of $296,687 against net income of $240,174 in the same quarter last year.

Pennsylvania Water & Power Co. had net income of $1,046,022 in the six months ended June 30, equivalent to $2.41 a common share. This compares with $1,034,686 or $2.40 a share in the first half of 1932.

Canada Dry Ginger Ale Co. reports net income of $184,970 for the June quarter, equal to 36 cents a share, compared with $364,168 or 71 cents a share in the corresponding period of 1932. For the nine months ended June 30 the company's net income was $273,285, equal to 53 cents a share, against $382,350, or 74 cents a share in the same period of the previous year.

Trade Trends.

(Associated Press.)

Flour—Signs of new buying interest, visible a week ago, have largely disappeared as a result of wheat market weakness in the last few days, according to mill representatives and brokers. Prices are easier.

Chemicals—Slackening of operations in some of the major consuming industries has brought a somewhat lessened demand for many of the heavy chemicals, trade interests report.

Wool—Receipts of domestic wool at Boston during the past week were 19,867,200 pounds against 14,044,800 in the previous week.

Paper—Demand for most products continued through July at a volume about equal to June. Boxboard business is reported slightly less active.

Rally in Bonds Fails to Make Up Early Loss

Most Categories Join Drop in Dull Session; Sales, $13,661,000.

New York, July 31 (AP).—The bond market turned soft today, apparently in sympathy with stocks, and most categories showed losses of 1 to 3 or more points despite a late rally.

With the regular trading schedule of 10 a. m. to 3 p. m., resumed, following last week's abbreviated sessions, the activity was not pronounced. Sales totaled $13,661,000, par value, and the average for 60 domestic corporate loans dropped 0.4 of a point.

While the financial district apparently was favorably disposed toward the Government's terms for August financing, involving some $1,000,000,000, Treasury issues and Liberty bonds lost 1-32 to 14-32 of a point. The Treasuries were more active than usual.

Secondary railroad liens were subjected to pressure throughout, declines of 1 to around 6 points being suffered by maturities of Alleghany Corporation, Chesapeake Corporation, Chicago & North Western, St. Paul, Rock Island, Missouri Pacific, New York Central, Nickel Plate, Frisco, Denver & Rio Grande, St. Louis Southwestern, Southern Pacific, Southern and Wabash.

The industrials and utilities displayed some resistance and the better grade loans of these groups maintained a fairly steady position. Among the losers of 1 to 3 or more, however, were issues of American Metal, Colorado Industrial, Goodrich, Hudson Coal, International Telephone, McKesson, Philadelphia, Reading Coal & Iron, Portland General Electric, Postal Telegraph, St. Joseph Lead, Studebaker and Warner Bros.

Foreign government obligations were irregular. Some Argentine bonds recovered 2 to 4 points and French 7s and 7½s were up more than a point. Swiss 5½s lost 2⅛ points and British 5½s eased in heavy trading.

Foreign Markets.

(Associated Press.)

London—There was little evidence of speculative activity in the quiet session of the stock exchange today. Kafirs was one of the brighest spots of the market on South African support, while international issues were generally weaker. Argentine bonds and rails improved on reassuring financial advices from Buenos Aires. The market closed quiet.

Paris—Monthly settlements caused a heavy tendency on the Bourse today, although the volume of business was diminished owing to summer vacations. Oil, rubber and gold mining shares held firm. The closing was steady.

Berlin—Prices on the Boerse were firm today owing to favorible industrial reports.

Stocks Forced Down As Dealing Turns Dull

New York, July 31 (AP).—Financial markets bogged down today. Trading on most exchanges was dull, but buyers held aloof and the month ended with speculative positions in sharp contrast to their status at its beginning.

Wall street's expectations of a "secondary reaction" following last week's recovery appeared to have been realized. Believing that a setback was due many traders were content to stand aside, letting prices take their own course and find a level which would attract support. There was a mild rally, presumably on short covering, in the late trading and extreme losses were cut by fractions to a couple of points. Volume dropped to 3,092,188 shares for the five hours.

Further liquidation of old accounts as well as short selling doubtless accounted for much of the mild pressure, to which leading stocks offered mediocre resistance. New buyers seemed unwilling to reach for recently favored issues, while pools were either disposing of recent holdings or standing aside to await developments. The market was very thin at times.

U. S. Steel dipped under 50 for an extreme loss of approximately 5 points, but cut its loss to 2¾ net. This leader was fairly typical of other "pivotal" issues. American Telephone ended the day 2⅝ lower, whereas it had been off more than 4. American Can, Bethlehem, Allied Chemical, Consolidated Gas, New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio, Kennecott, Du Pont, Woolworth, Southern Pacific and Chesapeake & Ohio were down roughly 2 to 3, while Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Western Union, Peoples Gas, Case and U. S. Smelting suffered more extensively.

	Mon.	Fri.
Advances	35	167
Declines	681	433
Unchanged	98	124
Total issues	814	724

Stocks.

Prices drifted lower in dull trading. The month ended with speculative positions in sharp contrast to their status at the beginning of July. Losses averaged 3.8 points. Sales totaled 3,092,188 shares.

Bonds.

Curb.

Losses followed the big board to lower ground. Declines ranged from 1 to 6 points. Scarcity of bids was blamed. Sales mounted to 473,000 shares.

Wheat.

Complete collapse again overtook the grain market. Wheat dropped the extreme limit allowed under the rules. Leading specialists blamed restrictions. July wheat sold at 89⅞; Mat at 99⅞.

Cotton.

Prices dropped approximately $2.50 per bale on liquidation and scattered selling. Weakness of other markets was blamed. December sold at 10.34; October at 10.12. The general market was down 44 to 51 points. Liverpool reported prices 10 points lower.

Rubber.

Sugar.

Coffee.

Silver.

Gold.

Dollar.

The United States dollar was lower on foreign exchanges. It stood in New York, with reference to other currencies, $4.48 to the English pound; 5.28 cents to the French franc and 32.15 cents to the German mark.

Dried Fruit Market.

New York, July 31 (A.P.).—Evaporated apples steady; choice unquoted; fancy, 9½@10. Prunes, steady; California, 5⅛@9; Oregon, 5½@6½. Apricots, steady; choice, 9¾; extra choice, 10½; fancy, 11. Peaches, steady; standard, 6¾; choice, 7; extra choice, 7½. Raisins, steady; loose muscatels, 3@4¼; choice to fancy seeded, 3¾@4¾; seedless, 4½@4¾.

Wheat Slumps Again to Limit Under Rulings

Leading Specialists Blame Restrictions; All Grains Join Decline.

Chicago, July 31 (AP).—Complete collapse overtook grain markets today for the third day in succession, prices going down the extreme limit allowed, and later remaining prostrate.

Definite fixing of 3 to 5 cent boundaries for daily market fluctuations either up or down appeared to operate at least temporarily as a means of unsettling instead of re-establishing confidence of traders.

Some leading grain specialists said the limits which had been adopted by the various American exchanges in connection with Government officials at Washington had soured holders of future delivery contracts, and had disturbed prospective new buyers. More stringent requirements as to financial margins needed were also a factor.

Business at Standstill.

During much of the day, all grain business was virtually at a standstill, with receivers of cereals unwilling to accept rural offerings because there was practically no futures market available in which purchases of immediate delivery grains could be "hedged." By "hedging" is meant a trade method equivalent to insurance for operators who wish to avoid a speculative risk whether down or up.

Wheat closed almost lifeless, 4⅞ to 5 cents under Saturday's finish; corn, 4 cents down; oats, 3 cents off, and provisions at 12 to 50 cents decline.

Liquidating sales were strongly in evidence from the outset, and, although numerous sharp rallies developed in the early dealings, the markets later succumbed to persistent pressure to get rid of ownership of every kind of grain futures.

Rains Prove Factor.

Not much notice was taken of ordinary market influences, but selling became intensified to some extent owing to reports of rains in Canada and somewhat lower temperatures there likely to benefit crops. There were also advices that Argentina, Russia and Canada had been offering wheat cheaper in Liverpool.

On the other hand, the bulk of the day's news directly relating to grain was of a character which under usual conditions would irresistibly spell higher prices. This was the case in particular as to August monthly unofficial domestic crop summaries looked for tomorrow and expected to show the smallest aggregate yield of wheat and oats since 1893. In some quarters, the flattening-out of prices was attributed partly to reports that currency expansion plans would be sidetracked for other methods of business recovery.

Corn and oats preceded wheat and other grains in falling to bottom-most levels permitted. The corn visible supply increased 2,859,000 bushels.

Provisions gave way with grains and as a result of packers' selling.

U. S. and Latins Study Plans to Boost Trade

Tariffs May Be Revised at Capital Meeting as First Step.

(Associated Press.)

President Roosevelt's hopes for restoring a normal flow of trade between the United States and Latin-American countries permeate initial conferences under way here with representatives of Mexico, Paraguay, Uruguay, Argentina, Brazil, Chile and Cuba.

It is the administration's idea that reciprocal slashing of import duties might stimulate an exchange of goods, and the discussions are centering around the possibility of tariff trades on the larger items bought and sold between the two continents.

That the major items may be emphasized in a series of treaties, each dealing with single items, is suggested in the present conferences over sugar.

Sugar From Cuba.

Cuba's economic backbone is sugar. This country gets its sugar from domestic producers, Cuba, Puerto Rico, the Philippines and Hawaii. Officials are trying to increase the market for American producers without disturbing the Cuban national income enough to cut purchases in United States markets.

During the world slump Latin-American countries approached almost complete stagnation since they produce, in the main, basic commodities such as copper and hides which the manufacturers were no longer buying in any great quantity.

The result was a receding flow of gold into Latin-America and a weakening of currencies. Most countries there are using controlled currencies and permit imports by government permission only.

Discussion of Treaties.

Discussion of the treaties has given rise to the suggestions that the two continents might become self-sufficient. Economists say the surmise is not entirely true. There are still some few products which are not found in the Western Hemisphere and there are some such as rubber, which could be produced only if the rise in world prices would become high enough to make its development practical.

U. S. exports to Latin-America in 1930 amounted in value to $686,-044,000. Imports were worth $780,-784,000. The year 1930 is taken because trade had fallen off from the inflated 1929 peak, and yet had not developed the abnormal cessation of trade true in the last two years.

In 1930 the United States furnished a market for 35.1 per cent of all that Latin-America sold abroad and Latin-America bought 36 per cent of all this country sold in foreign countries.

Six Leading Countries.

The six countries to which the United States sold the most and the six from which it bought the most are, as follows:

Sold to:	Value
Argentina	$129,862,000
Mexico	116,135,000
Cuba	93,510,000
Brazil	53,809,000
Chile	46,374,000
Panama	35,900,000
Bought from:	Value
Brazil	$130,854,000
Cuba	121,949,000
Colombia	97,139,000
Mexico	80,293,000
Netherland West Indies	78,345,000
Argentina	71,891,000

The six leading exports in Latin America were machinery, vehicles, petroleum and its products, iron and steel, cotton and manufactures and grain and their preparations.

The lists of imports and exports are extremely varied and run into many items with some countries. This country sends Argentina 130 different items and under that number are miscellaneous classifications such as paper manufactures. It buys from Argentina 39 products, excluding gold and silver.

Products on List.

Some of the products which are most likely to enter the projected trade treaties are indicated by the larger single items sold the various countries.

The two largest items the U. S. sells to each of her six best customers are:

Country.	Product.	Value, 1930.
Argentina—
	Agricultural machinery	$17,438,996
	Passenger cars	9,635,435
Mexico—

Musical Film Will Begin Run at RKO-Keith's Tomorrow Night

All-Star Cast Assembled for New Revusical

Miss Barrymore Sees Film; Vacation Season Here; About Showshops.

By Nelson B. Bell.

Somewhat in the nature of a tuning-up process for the Greater Show Season to be inaugurated in all RKO theaters on August 28, announcement is made by the management of the RKO-Keith Theater in this city that the engagement of Universal's special production of "Moonlight and Pretzels" will be inaugurated tomorrow night at 8:15 o'clock, instead of on Friday as previously indicated.

Under this last-minute arrangement, Washington amusement seekers will have their last opportunity to see Lew Ayres and Ginger Rogers in "Don't Bet on Love" at the performance beginning at RKO-Keith's tomorrow evening at 6.

"Moonlight and Pretzels" is modestly heralded by both Papa Carl Laemmle and his son, Junior, as one of the most impressive musical films to find its way to the screens of the Nation since "42d Street" gave the renaissance of this type of celluloid entertainment its initial impetus last March.

Among a cast that is characterized as "a million dollars worth of talent" will be found such notables as Bernice Claire, soprano; Alexander Gray, barytone; Mary Brian, Leo Carillo, here with the "Forty-second Street Special" last Inauguration Day; Herbert Rawlinson, one-time master of ceremonies at Loew's Palace and since seen at the National in Rachel Crother's "When Ladies Meet," the only legitimate theatrical production attended by President Roosevelt since his occupancy of the White House; Roger Pryor, last seen here in "Blessed Event," "Up Pops the Devil" and "There's Always Juliet;" Richard Keene, the Four Eton Boys, of radio fame; Mary Lange, and Lillian Miles.

This list of principals, of course, takes no account of Jack Denny and his Waldorf-Astoria Orchestra, last heard locally on the Fox stage and at Wardman, and Frank and Milt Britton and their lunatic band, late of the Ziegfeld "Follies" and since seen as a local vaudeville headline act.

Bobby Connolly, who staged "Good News," "Follow Thru" and "Flyin' High," not to mention the dance numbers in a majority of the late Flo Ziegfeld's productions, directed the dance and musical numbers in "Moonlight and Pretzels." The music was written by four well-known tunesters, by name E. Y. Harberg, Jay Gorney, Al Segal and Sammy Fain.

Since there are eight song numbers in the film, that would figure out to two apiece, unless my trigonometry is as bad as usual!

One of the unusual features of tomorrow night's opening of "Moonlight and Pretzels," by the way, and an aspect of the occasion that is not being especially stressed by the management, is that the bargain hunters here will have an opportunity to buy two shows for one—if any among them is that avaricious.

In other words, there is to be no interval between the closing of "Don't Bet on Love" and the opening of "Moonlight and Pretzels" during which either the box-office or the house will be closed. Thus, those who attend the final presentation of the Ayres-Rogers vehicle may, if they wish, remain through the new offering at no additional cost.

No additional cost, that is, to any one but the management in case an SRO crowd turns out.

Ethel Barrymore, the distinguished headline artiste of the stage bill current at the Earle, where she is appearing in a revival of Sir James M. Barrie's "The Twelve Pound Look," is enjoying what is presumably, for her, an orgy of picture-viewing during her brief visit to the Capital.

She is to be accorded a private screening of "Rasputin and the Empress," in which she was regally imposing, but which she has never seen; hopes to view "The Stranger's Return," starring her brother Lionel, at the Palace, and yesterday morning slipped into the Metropolitan to view a short-reel subject in which she has a particular interests—an item in a "Screen Souvenir" symposium of old-time movie shots, in which her uncle, the late Sidney Drew, appears with Clara Kimball Young in a bit of what was, in its day, a swell piece of celluloid artistry.

There is a bit of friendly badinage in "The Best of Enemies," the consistently entertaining comedy-drama now on view at the Columbia, that probably not one patron in a thousand will appreciate, unless he is a member of the "profession," familiar with the personnel of the various producing companies.

In one sequence of the picture, in the old, preprohibition days, there are a few shots of a part of New York that could do with a little improvement in the way of landscaping and structural beauty. Right in the midst of it is perched a building bearing the seemingly meaningless sign of "The Roger Ferri Construction Co."

Roger Ferri, if you must know, is Fox Films' ace exploitation expert—a diminutive but dynamic little fellow, who smokes big, black cigars that he can hardly lift, and who, for a time, at least, was editor of the Fox house organ, "The Fox Dynamo."

Recently, just to give you a further idea, Mr. Ferri attended one of their gala "permeers" out in Hollywood and the announcer, when he alighted from his chariot, bellowed, "And here, ladies and gentlemen, comes Mickie Mouse!"

For those who know him—and he is a grand little person—that "Roger Ferri Construction Co." is as funny as if it had been the "Prof. Moley Construction Co." in the same neighborhood.

And speaking of "The Best of Enemies"—and don't think we aren't on this page!—the free lunch, spread out in Gus Schneider's New York beer garden before the coming of prohibition, will reduce you to a maudlin state of drooling, gustatory anguish that nothing but a return of those happy days of gastronomical prodigality ever will overcome. You will weep in your beer every time you think of it!

Freddie Clark, musical director at the Earle, in case you had noticed, is vacationing in New York, looking over such fragements of the last theatrical season as are still extant and accumulating a trunkful of special arrangements for the further demonstration of the skill as a "working orchestra" of the instrumentalists under his charge.

During his absence, the Earl Orchestra is under the conductorship of Alexander Podnos, who has served in the same capacity on many previous occasions. Alex is a veteran of the Crandall-Stanley-Warner musical organization and a violinist of the first rank when not swishing the stick.

With George Raft coming to the Fox screen on Friday in "Midnight Club," with Clive Brook, Alison Skipworth, Helen Vinson and numerous others of note, it is of interest that in his next picture, "All of Me," he will have Carol Lombard as his leading woman. His character in the new piece, instead of a tough egg of the underworld, will be that of an internationally famous dancer. This is more like it. An internationally famous dancer is what George Raft really was before he crashed the films.

J. Raymond Bell, former manager of the Palace Theater in Athens, Ga., erstwhile newspaperman connected with the Atlanta Georgian and the Detroit Times and at one time a practicing attorney in Atlanta, arrived in Washington yesterday to assume the position of assistant director of advertising and publicity for the Loew theaters in the Capital—the Palace, Loew's Fox and Columbia—under Lew Brown.

Mr. Bell—no relation, so far as I have been able to find out—takes up his new duties today. Welcome to the carillon, brother!

Gene Ford, producer of the "All-Washington Revue" to be staged at Loew's Fox Theater the week of August 18, interviewed 112 specialty dancers, singers, impersonators and other stage aspirants in the Willard Hotel last night.

Despite the hot weather, the Willard room seating over 400 persons, was packed with those seeking a chance to be in the revue.

A second audition will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Willard, and although Mr. Ford will not be present, Ned McGurn, his assistant, will put those in attendance through their paces and select those whom Mr. Ford will interview later.

Mr. Ford advised those present that all selected would be notified by mail within the next few days.

In the meantime, a call has been issued for a number of girls to be present at the Willard Hotel at 10 o'clock this morning. These girls will be given routines by Mr. McGurn.

With more members needed for the chorus, both men and girls, a further call for this material has been issued. Any one wishing to join the chorus should report to Mr. McGurn at the Willard Hotel at 8 o'clock tonight or at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Mr. Ford and Mr. McGurn wish to stress the fact that all members of the chorus will be paid a salary and will be costumed for the show.

Announcement is made from Kansas City, where Tom Mix has been filling a theatrical engagement, that he and Zane Grey are to form a partnership for the production of Western motion pictures. Grey's fund of Western stories will keep the new production company well supplied with film material and Tom will star in most of the pictures.

This pretty thoroughly does away with the old theory that acting and producing won't Mix!

"THE BEST OF ENEMIES." Fox picturization of a screen play by Sam Mintz, with dialogue by Rian James, featuring Buddy Rogers, Marian Nixon, Frank Morgan, Joseph Cawthorn and Greta Nissen. Directed by Rian James. Reviewed Monday afternoon.

Combining a romantic theme, cut from the pattern of "Romeo and Juliet," and the warring houses of Montague and Capulet, with a dash of the accented combativeness of two old cronies who are strongly suggestive of "Friendly Enemies," this comedy-drama of beer gradens and belligerence affords an hour of thoroughly agreeable, if not completely novel, entertainment.

Its major claim to distinction lies in the splendid performances contributed by Joseph Cawthorn and Frank Morgan, as the embattled fathers of an older generation, whose daughter and son, respectively, fall in love. The daughter is played with quiet capability by Marian Nixon, who does not look quite the German fraulein, even a full generation removed, and Buddy Rogers appears—a little awkwardly a good deal of the time—as the rich man's son who goes to Germany to study music and ends by conducting a "hot" band in the Schneider Hofbrau, owned and run by his father's best-hated friend.

It all comes about when the elder Hartman lends his influence and his fortune to promoting the cause of prohibition, thus putting out of business Gus Schneider, one of his most prosperous tenants, who conducts a beer garden under his lease of the Hartman property.

The action then leaps ahead twelve years and to Germany, where the Schneiders are not doing too well and young Jimmy Hartman has fallen in love all over again with Lena Schneider. He has just managed to convert one of her compositions—the one that did not win the conservatory competition—into a popular hit and has started the Schneider Hofbrau on the road to prosperity when William H. Hartman, pere, puts in his appearance with a beautiful blonde clinging to his arm. From that time on, the youngsters have things about their own way. There are sequences aboard ship, coming back to America, that are among the best in the picture and the most cleverly contrived.

The productional values of "The Best of Enemies" are none too high, but the characterizations are so handsomely looked after and the musical embellishments so adroitly worked into the action that the deficiency probably will not be noticed.

Joseph Cawthorn, as Schneider, has the best screen role he has had in months, enjoying many sublime opportunities to mutilate the queen's English, precisely as he used to do in the old days when he was invariably cast as chief comedian in the Elsie Janis musical comedies. Frank Morgan, likewise, is as well met in the role of Hartman as he has been at any time since "Topaze," or "The Band Wagon," on the stage. Greta Nissen completes the notable list of principals in a small part, which she decorates effectively.

The supplementary attractions include a Clark & McCullough comedy, "The Druggist's Dilemma," which is no funnier than it should be; a "Do You Remember?" reel of ancient news shots and the latest release of the Paramount Sound News, packed with world personalities.

Stars of "Big Top" Will See City's Zoo

Stars and executives of Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus, here tomorrow and Thursday at Fifth street and Florida avenue northeast, will visit National Zoological Park as guests of Dr. William M. Mann, director of the zoo, during their two-day stay in Washington.

Included in the party will be Jess Adkins, circus manager, and his family; Clyde Beatty, wild-animal subjugator; "Poodles" Hanneford renowned equestrian; Emery Styles, boss of the circus wild animal menagerie and who for 40 years has been associated with animals under the big tops; "Cheerful" Gardiner, circus elephant boss, and others.

Particularly interested are the circus people in the zoo's new reptile house and in the African elephant. Only Indian elephants are carried by American circuses, the Africans being harder to train and of stubborn disposition.

Theaters Earn More as Trade Begins Revival

New York, July 31 (AP).—Theater revenues, in sad arrears for the past several years, are now reported to have come back to around the level of twelve months ago.

While most of the companies are still operating in the "red," the recent revival in general business has brought sharp increases in gross receipts and there is hope that, with expenses pared to the bone, normal profits will return within the next twelve months.

Since the beginning of the depression, the broad decline in theater receipts has resulted largely from reductions in admission charges and a falling off of patronage.

Prices of admission are still about the same as they have been and a general advance in these charges is not looked for until National purchasing power has been expanded sufficiently to permit materially larger attendances.

The motion picture companies, although cheered by increasing business, are still battling to reduce costs and readjust financial burdens which they shouldered during the boom years. Extensive operating economies have already been effected in both the producing and distributing divisions of the business.

Trade reviews estimate that production costs for the 1933-34 season will average around $190,000 a feature, or some $60,000 less than the season now ending, and from $250,000 to $300,000 below the 1929-1930 season.

Efforts are now being made to raze the top-heavy structures of several of the large picture companies. Reconstruction plans under way are based principally upon the divorcement of production and exhibition. In other words, the trend apparently is to turn back the theaters to independent exhibitors and thus eliminate the enormous financial responsibilities incident to the precarious centralized control.

Figures supplied by the Standard Statistics Co., show what has happened in the theater industry in the past few years. In 1930 the average weekly attendance was 90,000,000, whereas in 1933 this attendance is estimated at 65,000,000.

Weekly gross revenues in 1930 approximated $36,000,000, against an estimated gross in 1933 of $19,500,000. This year admission charges average 30 cents compared with 40 cents in 1930. The decline in gross revenues has been 45 per cent; in weekly attendance, 28 per cent, and in admission charges, 25 per cent.

New Drive on Chinese Army

"Christian General" Plans to Defy Japanese Move on Desert Retreat.

Peiping, China, July 31 (U.P.).—A new Japanese offensive against loyal Chinese troops in the mountains and desert country of extreme western Jehol Province, north of the Great Wall of China, was announced by the Japanese military authorities here today.

Col. Shibayama, Japanese military attache, announced that a punitive expedition of Manchukuoan forces led by Japanese officers had been dispatched against Dolon Nor, Chinese stronghold on the border between Jehol and Charhar, about 150 miles north of Peiping.

The communique said that the column had reached the village of Weichang, southeast of Dolon Nor, and were continuing their advance on the garrison defying their authority there.

The campaign is directed against Marshal Feng Yu-Hsiang, so-called "Christian General," who has retired into this mountainous retreat and gathered about him a considerable force of Chinese soldiery. Marshal Feng announced he intended to hold out against the Japanese invasion. He recently intimated he might commence counter-offensive against their garrisons now controlling Jehol.

The Japanese sought to persuade Marshal Feng that his cause was hopeless last spring.

Yanks Win, 13-9, Cut Nats' Lead to 1 Game; Harris Gets 2 Homers

This Morning

With Shirley L. Povich.

THAT age-worn crack about the old order changeth can be dusted off and applied to the situation in the American League pennant race for the rest of the week.

It seems that the Nats will be occupied with the Boston Red Sox for the next few days while the Yankees will be battling the Athletics. That situation ordinarily is a made-to-order opportunity for the Nats to inflate their one-game league lead. But I regret to say there are complications at this writing.

Three games with the Red Sox in the offing used to cause Washington fans no qualms, particularly with the A's giving battle to the Yankees at the same time, but there is serious doubt at this time as to how much battle the A's can give the Yankees, and as for the Red Sox, they loom no more like push-overs than the Commerce Building.

Boston Club Acting Up.

Boston had been acting up of late in the American League while the Athletics have fallen into evil ways and the Yankees appear to have far the best of the schedule for the remainder of the week.

For the first time since 1918, the Red Sox are looking and acting like a big league ball team. Their most recent accomplishment was three straight wins over the Athletics in which they battered both Grove and Earnshaw. They have quit their perennial place in the cellar and are now in a virtual tie for sixth place, 10½ games above the Browns. And, I might add, only 2½ games behind third place.

No more are the Red Sox to be disparaged. George Pipgras, Lloyd Brown, Bob Kline, Gordon Rhodes and Lefty Weiland have provided them with a pitching staff. Smead Jolley, Johnny Hodapp, Dale Alexander, Dusty Cooke and Roy Johnson are a healthy hitting line-up. Beware, Nats, or words to that effect.

Leg Man For Ruth.

Maybe you've noticed that stock line they've been running beneath the Yankee box scores this season: "Byrd ran for Ruth in eighth." It might have been the seventh or the ninth that the running act took place, but you can usually depend on Byrd getting into the lineup via that medium.

Sammy Byrd is the leg man for Ruth in the late innings whenever the day is hot or the Yankees are so far ahead that the presence of the great man is no longer required. There is a story they tell about it.

Last year when the Yanks were in training at St. Petersburg, a young lady attended the daily practice sessions and obtained autographs of all the players. She asked Byrd to sign her book.

Byrd signed. "What do you do on the team?" she asked him.

"I take Ruth's place," Sammy told her.

"Aw G'wan," she told Sammy. "I'm serious."

Runs, Hits and Errors.

Who said it was the woman who pays? . . . 6,500 of 'em didn't pay yesterday . . . and the Nats paid and paid and paid for those errors by Kuhel and Cronin in the fourth inning . . . if it's any satisfaction to the Washington pitching staff, only one of those seven runs in the fourth inning come under the heading of earned runs . . . but I dare say the explanation won't satisfy Cronin . . . when McAfee went to the mound in the fifth, the Nats added hitting strength only . . . who was it that said the Yankees would fold up in hot weather? . . . Fred Schulte was playing out beyond the District line for Ruth's triple in the Furious Fourth . . . and Manush was backed up against the left field wall in the sixth . . . so Babe simply dumped a double over third base . . . Ossie Bluege's single in the fourth was his first and only hit of the four-game series . . . it was too bad those regulars had to come along in the ninth and gum up the rally the rookies had started . . . Wilcey Moore's sinker ball almost sunk the Yanks.

All-Star Card At Twin City Tonight

Tramberia and Knowles, De Beve and Gomer on Laurel Card.

By Lewis F. Atchison.

THE boys who invariably provide most of the action and receive the smallest portion of the gate receipts will have their inning tonight at the Twin City proving ground where thirty-four rounds of boxing will be served the fans. Three eight-rounders, a six and a four comprise the program.

The eight-round bouts are on par in attractivness. If there is a shade difference it must be given the Irving-Bailey argument. Joe Knight's rugged sparring partner steps into the ring bearing the reputation of the most promising middleweight to emerge from the Cotton State in a long time. His record, which includes victories over several important boxers, bears out the reputation.

Is in Good Shape.

But "Popeye" has little regard for reputations and is prepared to lower the colors of his rival in short order. Irving is in good shape for the scrap and has an even chance of getting the honors.

Jimmy Tramberia, of Baltimore, and Perry Knowles, Goldie Ahearn's Indian, furnish another eight-rounder, with Knowles given the edge. Tramberia is a good, tough boy, and will give the Chief a fight, but the Indian is in better condition and should be able to do better than hold his own.

Charley Gomer, another Baltimorean, and Arthur DeBeve are opponents in the third eight. The two broke even in a pair of fights, the Frenchman upsetting his younger rival several months ago in Baltimore.

String of Knockouts.

K. O. Broide's engagement with Walter Kirkwood probably will draw as many patrons through the turnstiles as any of the remaining bouts. Broide boasts a string of seven consecutive one-round knockouts. No opponent has lasted more than a minute with him, but tonight he may meet his Waterloo in the cagey Kirkwood. The latter is far more experienced than Broide, and has fought men who hit just as hard over longer distances. Kirkwood looms as the winner unless, of course, he gets hit with one of those right uppercuts.

Sammy Romano and Angelo Brocato open the show with a four-rounder.

Around-the-ring selections—Gomer over DeBeve; Irving to stop Bailey; Knowles ahead of Tramberia; Kirkwood to give Broide his first loss; and Romano to halt Brocato.

London's Wildest Welcome to Perry

London, July 31 (AP).—Great Britain's tennis stars, carrying the Davis Cup with them, arrived at Victoria station today to receive as wild and tumultuous welcome as London ever has seen.

Thousands who thronged the station awaiting the arrival of the train, which was late, broke restraint when the victorious Davis Cup squad finally detrained.

Fred Perry, who conquered Andre Merlin, of France, on Sunday in the match that clinched the British victory, was singled out for special attention. H. W. (Bunny) Austin, George Patrick Hughes and H. G. N. Lee were virtually ignored. Everybody was yelling for Perry.

Post Mortems . . .

Second guessers had little to say after yesterday's Washington-New York game . . . Manager Joe Cronin made five changes and cashed in on four of them . . . Rice and Boken tripled and Bolton and Kerr singled, all in the ninth . . . only Berg failed . . . and Bolton, it might be mentioned, singled to right instead of to left, as he had done on the two previous times he had been used as a pinch-hitter . . . D. E. Doeller showed real seamanship in the recent Gibson Island regatta . . . the main halyard on his boat, Restless II, parted shortly after he started in a race . . . he climbed the mast, reeved in a new one and lost but ten minutes in time . . . it looks as though the Muskogee Oilers are about through in the Western League . . . only seven showed up for a game Sunday . . . the Yanks' 18 hits netted a total of 27 bases yesterday . . . thanks to Dave Harris' two homers, the Nats hit for 25 bases on their 13 safeties . . . all told, there were two homers, seven doubles and five triples hit.

Following the dissolving of the Indian Spring Golf Club and the turning back of the lease of the property to Owner Tom Moore, Indian Spring Village, Inc., today takes over the club . . . Moore declares that the course will be a private and not a public one in denying rumors flying about . . . Jack Ogden, former Baltimore pitcher, is back with the Orioles . . . and he is using the same locker assigned him when he was there several years ago . . . S. Hill, of Dayton, Ohio, using a foot-power or stirrup-type bow with a pull of approximately 125 pounds, claims a new archery record . . . he sent an arrow 503 yards 2 feet 4¾ inches . . . Marshall Hunt was the only New York scribe who turned up at the Anacostia course yesterday in the scheduled match with home baseball writers . . . despite the hot weather, all of the others suffered an attack of cold feet.

7 Passes Help Browns Beat Indians

All Come in Seventh Along With 3 St. Louis Hits; Final Score Is 12-8.

ST. LOUIS, July 31 (AP).—The St. Louis Browns took three hits and with a donation of seven bases on balls, stretched them into eight runs in the seventh inning of a 12-to-8 victory over the Cleveland Indians here today.

Tribe Hurlers Pass Seven.

The Indians led St. Louis, 8 to 4 in the first half of the seventh. West tripled, Campbell and Levey singled and the Cleveland pitchers issued seven passes, giving Hornsby's men a four-run margin which they held to the end.

Cissell, Hale and Kamm hit homers.

Levinsky Is Engaged To Wed Blues Singer

Though Lena's in favor of it, she said she hoped his marriage to Frances Faye would not take place until he gets another match out of the way September 8. The latter is with Jack Sharkey.

"I don't want King eloping until he beats up this Sharkey fellow," was the way Lena phrased it, but she said Frances was "one nice girl."

Red Sox Open Series Here Tomorrow

Nats Have Off Day Today; Weaver Will Hurl in Series Opener.

By Frank H. Young.

AN idle day on the schedule gives the Nats an opportunity today of considering and repenting their baseball errors of Sunday and yesterday while at the same time casting a weather eye at the Boston Red Sox series which starts here tomorrow.

Even when the Bostonians were occuying the cellar, they were tough foes, and now that they have gotten the idea that they really can play ball, and are doing it, Manager Joe Cronin and his charges will have to travel at full speed to beat them. If there is any doubt as to this, the Yankees will bear witness, for they lost four in a row in a series with the Sox this year.

Instead of calling on one of his regular starters to do the flinging tomorrow, Skipper Cronin has decided to turn over the job to "Prof." Monte Weaver. Weaver beat the Beaneaters all four times he faced them last year and once this season, and so this looks like it might be a good spot for him in his attempt to earn himself one of the regular starting berths.

Of particular interest to Washington fans is the fact that Joe Judge, who was a hero here more than fifteen years, is now a mem-

McLarnin Gets $30,000 Bid for Boston Fight

By Shirley L. Povich

THE Nats suffered a severe attack of Bronxitis yesterday, superinduced by that old scourge of the big leagues, the batting power of the New York Yankees, who ravaged three Washington pitchers to the extent of 18 hits to all corners of the Griffith Stadium premises.

With everybody, including the 15,000 fans, running a high temperature, the Nats came down with a 13-to-9 defeat, and their situation last night was diagnosed as critical, with their league lead having shriveled to one game, nullifying the gains they made in the first two games of the series.

Two Homers for Harris.

It was no fault of Dave Harris, who ran a poor third in the scoring yesterday, which should properly read, New York, 13; Washington, 9; Dave Harris, 3, for the opulent outfielder smacked two home runs, one with a man on base, to help the cause in no small degree, but one Harris was insufficient.

The situation became grave in the fourth inning, when Walter Stewart primarily, and Bob Burke, secondarily, came down with a seven-run beating, in which a pair of errors and George Herman Ruth played lead roles. After that very little mattered.

Nats Lead Withers.

Until that relapse in the fourth inning the Nats were enjoying a comparatively healthy 3-to-1 lead, and the 6,500 Ladies' Day guests who had left their washing in the tubs to partake of Mr. Griffith's hospitality were shrieking their joy at every pop-up, be it a Nat or a Yank.

Filly Scores Over Bright Shadow

CHICAGO, July 31 (AP).—Princess Camelia, a 4-year-old daughter of Royal Canopy—Sunmelia, running for Mrs. John Marsch, of Chicago, showed a surprise victory in the Cascades Purse, top event of Hawthorne's opening program today.

Ignored in the wagering, Princess Camelia paid the robust price of $50.80 to win. Jockey Earl Pool booted Princess Camelia into the lead in the first few strides and managed to keep her there to win over the Audley Farm's Bright Shadow by a head. John J. Coughlin's Karl Eitel finished third. The winner raced the 6½ furlongs in 1:18 2-5.

An innovation in pari-mutuel wagering, $1 bets across the board, attracted many of the 10,000 spectators to the windows.

Miss Purray Winner.

Empire City Race Track, July 31 (AP).—The Tranquillity Farm's filly, Miss Purray, which displayed splendid form in the spring but which had no chance with the start in her one start at this course, put an end to the winning streak of favorites here today when she was up to win the Dyckman Purse by a neck. The 6-to-1 shot closed with a great rush to outfinish War Banner. The latter was a length before Granny's Trade for the place. Miney Myerson, the odds-on choice, was a tired fourth, just outside the picture. The time for the short 6 furlongs was 1:09 3-5.

Miney Myerson obviously was well meant, but the gelding was used up racing Granny's Trade into defeat in the first 5 furlongs. Form players relaxed complacently when Miney opened up a two-length lead in the stretch, but the son of Amberjack suddenly tired and the field swarmed in on him. Miss Purray, although she lost ground, received a rousing ride from little J. Sullivan in the final drive. War Banner also closed with a fine burst of speed.

Strange as It Seems —By John Hix

ICE—dry ice, which is much colder than ordinary ice—is actually taken from a well in the Imperial Valley, Calif., one of the hottest places in the country. The well is located on the edge of Salton Sea, a sub-sea level salt water lake in the valley, and from it pours a steady stream of pure carbonic gas from a depth of more than 1,000 feet.

Pure gas is the only ingredient of dry ice, 50 tons of which can be produced daily at the Salton Sea well. Dry ice, unlike the ordinary ice, contains no water—it is gas frozen into a solid, snow-like mass which is 110 degrees below zero. Strange as it seems, dry ice never melts. Instead it evaporates, passing off as a gas without reaching an intermediate liquid stage.

The strange desert ice well and its plant were recently filmed by Universal's Strange As It Seems motion picture company for one of the current Strange As It Seems films.

Trains are notoriously deadly to wandering live stock, but one Northern Pacific passenger train found its equal—more than its equal—in an unassuming mule called "Missouri." He was standing on the track near Walla Walla, Wash., when the train came along. The train hit Missouri, he kicked a switch. Net result: the train was derailed, Missouri was unhurt.

Hawthorne Race Track, July 31.

Dear Al:

Six winners! I said SIX WINNERS. And if you don't believe it, check these off: My Boss, $9.04; Lampblack, $9.04; Postscript, $7.16; Snaplock, $8.86; Scimitar, $5.22; Lahor, $12.54. With that substitute race thrown in, I was only a head away from a perfect day. Bright Shadow, my other pick, was beaten that margin. Yes, sir, it looks like happy days for Mrs. Bennings' boy now that the Drug Store Handicaps of Arlington are a thing of the past. I cleaned up today and the boss has given me a week off. So I'll hike over to Canada and let the good old Mike give them a battle. Here's my parting shot.

BILL.

First race—As I see it, this race lies in the hands, or hoofs, of Amscray, Liberty Oak and Drole Polly, and I like them in the order named. Amscray gets 11 pounds from Liberty Oak and two from Drole Polly. Looks like a lively scramble.

Second race—Peedeque was my best bet the last time out and this young gelding came from far back in the field to finish second, I had reason to believe the stable was shooting in that race. I know nothing of their plans for tomorrow. However, he looks like the best betting proposition. Legal Gamble and General Parth for the rest.

Third race—Ladykin has been whispered here, there and everywhere, and I can foresee no better spot. I'm going to string along. Gets in with only 99 pounds. Night Jasmine appreciates races of this sort and may be dangerous.

Fourth race—Le Bruyere figures a couple of buckets of oats in front of this gang and is the Bennings best bet. Happy Anne is the one I'm afraid of. Sweet Chariot has some chance and moves up if track conditions change.

Fifth race—Spartan Lady is better than generally rated. Has some encouraging races and steps lively in the morning. Rocky News and All Rowes to battle it out for the rest.

Sixth race—Hope to Do came West from Rockingham, where a killing was made with this speedster. Shipped well and will be ready to show the boys something tomorrow. French Knight's last was a beaut. Big Red to show.

Seventh race—Village Vamp showed a lot of promise in that effort over at Arlington the other day. This may have been the indicator that a purse is not far off. I'm taking tomorrow as the day. Old Depot's race over the way was a brilliant one.

Eighth race—They don't come cheaper than this group. Foxland Hall appears best to me.

U. S. Jurymen Hear Doping Witnesses

22, Including Officials of Two Chicago Parks, Give Evidence.

By Charles Dunkley.

CHICAGO, July 31 (AP).—A Federal grand jury heard and weighed the Government's startling charge of wholesale "doping" of race horses today as twenty-two witnesses, among them trainers, stable owners, and officials of two of Chicago's most important parks, paraded before the witness stand.

None of the evidence given the jury was revealed, but Leslie E. Salter, assistant attorney general in charge of the investigation, said he was confident indictments on charges of violating the Harrison narcotic act would be forthcoming within a few days.

Oyler To Continue Work.

Simultaneously with the grand jury hearing, it was announced that Ralph H. Oyler, who led a squad of Federal agents in a raid at Arlington Park last Friday and arrested seven horse handlers, would be assigned to track down other suspects in race horse "doping." It was emphasized, however, that the Government's only interest was enforcement of the law forbidding illegal possession and transportation of narcotics and that any disciplinary action from the turf angle would have to come from racing officials themselves.

Four of the seven men arrested at Arlington Park were questioned by the Federal grand jury as it hurried through the examinations. They were Ivan Parke, former noted jockey; Dr. Edward Nelson Southard, a veterinarian, from Louisville, Ky.; Charles Mitchell and William Payne, stable boys during the rich Arlington meeting.

Will and Downey Clash Today in Public Park Golf Finals at East Potomac

Rivals Rated Close to Even

Downey Slight Choice, Because of Greater Experience.

Winner to Meet Rippy, Rock Creek Victor, for D. C. Honors.

HARLAN WILL, son of a greenskeeper at Woodmont Country Club, will battle John Downey, veteran municipal golfer, this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the finals of the East Potomac division of the District public links championship.

A torrid battle, perhaps to be as hot as the sultry weather, is in prospect, with the youthful Will determined to break the jinx that usually pursues the medalist who goes to the finals of a tournament.

Downey looms as the favorite, in view of his experience in local competition. Low amateur in the 1932 National Capital open at Kenwood, Downey won his first championship of the year by defeating Claude Rippy in the East Potomac spring event.

Will, whose 72 set the pace in the qualifying round at East Potomac, recently teamed with A. B. Thorn to capture first prize in the pro-amateur tournament at Indian Spring.

The winner of the Downey-Will match will earn a crack at Rippy, who triumphed in the Rock Creek division of the public links championship, beating John Baer, jr., in the finals. The city championship match, 18 to be played at East Potomac in the morning and 18 in the afternoon at Rock Creek, will be held tomorrow.

Nats Bow, 13 to 9; Ruth Leads Yanks

a Burke pitch high against the dead center field fence for one of the longest blows ever seen in Griffith Stadium, and galloped to third, chasing three runners home. Gehrig grounded to Myer and the Yanks had their seventh run of the inning.

Fortified by this lead, Lefty Gomez breezed home, allowing a run here and there, turning the job over to Wilcy Moore in the ninth, when the Nats, in one fitful rally, rose up and scored four runs to bring the score down to a respectable margin.

Ruth was a plague all afternoon. Besides his triple, he connected for two doubles and actually beat out an infield hit to Myer for his fourth safety of the day.

The Yanks had put a pair of doubles by Combs and Ruth together to score a run in the first inning, but the Nats claimed a 3-1 lead in their half when Cronin brought Manush home with a single and then rode home himself ahead of Harris who, with a two-strike count on him, clouted Gomez's third pitch three-fourths of the way up in the open-faced left-field stands.

The next show of offensive power was the Yanks' 7-run third inning. They picked up two more runs in the fifth when Lazzeri doubled and Dickey tripled against Burke, and Gomez singled against McAfee. They added another in the seventh following a walk to Dickey and Crosetti's third single and they made their twelfth and thirteenth runs in the ninth when Combs' triple scored Farrell and Crosetti.

Washington picked up its fourth run in the sixth when Harris and Kuhel put together a pair of doubles with two out, and Harris gave them another run in the eighth with his second homer of the game.

Eight runs behind, the Nats' reserve line-up grew mischievous in the ninth. Boken singled, Pinch-hitter Cliff Bolton singled, Kerr singled and Rice tripled, scoring four runs, but along came a couple of regulars, Cronin and Schulte, and the rally peacefully expired.

Houghton Wins At Bedford Springs

BEDFORD SPRINGS, Pa., July 31 (AP).—Al Houghton, Kenwood Country Club pro of Washington, today captured the Bedford Springs Golf Club annual professional tourney with a score of 140 for the 36 holes of medal play.

Perry Delvichio, of Greensburg, Pa., trailed Houghton by only one stroke, and Nelson Zimmerman, of the Wildwood Country Club, Pittsburgh, was third with 144.

Peter O'Hara, also of the Pittsburgh district, and Horace Brand, of Uniontown, Pa., shared fourth and fifth prize money with 145's.

A. B. Thorn, of Washington, broke the Bedford Springs course pro record with a sparkling 68 in the morning round. The former mark was 69 for the par 71 layout. Thorn shot a 78 in the afternoon to finish with 146, just outside the money.

Houghton put together 9-hole scores of 34—36—34—36 to pace the field. His game was the strongest and the most consistent of the day. Thorn, representing the Woodmont Club, of Bethesda, Md., shot 34—34 in breaking the course record.

Scores of other leaders were: Sam Parks, jr., South Hill Club, Pittsburgh, 147. Bob Barnett, Chevy Chase Country Club, Washington, 148. Ted Luther, of Corry, Pa., and Mel Shorey, of East Potomac Park, Washington, 149. Hugh McInnis, of York, Pa., and Carroll T. MacMasters, of Hillendale Club, Baltimore, 152. Dave McKay, of Pittsburgh; Bill Stocker, of Clearfield, Pa., and Morris Gravatt, of Lewistown, Pa., 153. Charles Manning, of Shannopin Country Club, near Washington, Pa., 154. Rader Jewett, of Wheeling, W. Va., and Fred McLeod, of Columbia Country Club, Washington, 155.

"Doped Horses Better Off Than Duped Fans"—Pegler

Hop-Needle or Sponge and Stock Ticker Might Be Manipulated by Same Type of Citizen, Writer Regrets to Say.

By Westbrook Pegler.

NEW YORK, July 31.—Your correspondent is going to remain quite calm in the face of the revelation that some unscrupulous characters have been jabbing horses with hypodermics at some of the horse-plants and just put it down to bad home training rather than any innate badness. It is too bad for the steeds, of course, that their nerves were upset and their strength imposed upon for purposes of monetary gain, but worse suffering goes on and the running horse has a fairly easy time of it, at worst.

The people who love horses, including that considerable element who think they love horses but merely love to own them, will kick and scream and carry on about the terrible cruelty of such acts and your correspondent will say for himself that he would not personally do any such thing, if that is any concession. But it is doubtful that the sufferings of the horses which were stuck with the needle or otherwise stimulated by the parties who were arrested in Chicago on Saturday were at all comparable to certain other discomforts which could be cited off hand.

Very Low Customers.

On the turf there is great scorn for the unscrupulous element, and the members thereof are deemed to be very low customers. But they were out to make some money, and there is much evidence to show that persons who are out to make some money will resort to many tricks which they did not learn in their copybooks.

And, if this be depravity, that is just too bad, but the low characters of the horse business are by all odds the most interesting and picturesque. You never read a good horse-park fiction story about a refined, society type, but if your taste in reading runs at all to such fiction you will have read quite a few good pieces concerning the sordid specimens.

Their gall and cunning and resourcefulness make them interesting far beyond the customer of some pompous stock promoter who wishes to be regarded as an ornament to the sport or some young man who is a noted turfman by reason of his father's having died and left him some odd million dollars and a stable.

Your correspondent never has enjoyed the delusion that the refined or society type of operator in the horse business must, of necessity, embody any more actual virtues than the frowsy swipe behind the barn. He wishes he could believe this because many of the boys around the tracks, who speak so reverently of Mr. Which, the big millionaire sportsman, or Mr. Those, the distinguished pillar of the American turf, seem to have a beautiful belief in them, and faith is good for the soul.

But your correspondent is quite a hand to examine motives and conditions, and it always has seemed to him that such parties might be honest in horse matters only, because, with all their money, they can not be tempted by the comparatively petty profits which might be derived from chiseling in the races. How well would they stand off temptation if they were in the position of the frowsy swipe behind the barn?

The collapse of the great big, gorgeos boom and the revelations which ensued tended to confirm a sad suspicion that a refined or society type of citizen might be a spiritual brother of the vulgar type and engaged in the same general line of work but merely using different tools—a stock ticker instead of a hop needle or sponge, for instance.

Hard to Appreciate.

It is hard to appreciate the moral superiority of the man who plays mischievous pranks with the citizens' savings in the market over the hoodlum horse-park operator who cuts himself a slice of cake out of the betting pool before posing the odds on a race just run or the boys who stimulate a steed to excel himself. Some of the most distinguished society types cut themselves slices of cake in Wall street and in their board rooms.

Unfortunately, in too many cases, the money happened to represent the widow's mite or the old people's nest egg, whereas, after all, when the horse-park prankster inflicts damage, he only cheats a few citizens out of their bets. And most bets are small and, moreover, the party who drops a bet at the races, whether by fair means or foul means, isn't much hurt. Gambling money is spare money as distinguished from the grocery money and the rent.

Junior Tennis Match To Army-Navy Team

Army and Navy won three singles and two doubles. In the tightest match of the day, J. Tansill, of Taft, defeated J. Hatch, 8—6, 8—6.

Results:

Singles—R. McClung (Army-Navy), beat E. Pinkham (Taft), 6—2, 6—0; B. Oldfield (Army-Navy), beat A. Robbins (Taft), 6—0, 6—0; G. Davis (Army-Navy), beat B. Sample (Taft), 6—2, 6—2; D. Pinkham (Taft), beat J. Laubach (Army-Navy), 6—2, 6—3; H. March (Taft), beat B. Brown (Army-Navy), 7—5, 6—2; J. Tansill (Taft), beat J. Hatch (Army-Navy), 8—6, 8—6.

Doubles—Oldfield and Laubach beat Robbins and Sample, 6—0, 6—1; McClung and Brown beat Pinkham and Pinkham, 6—1, 9—7; Tansill and March beat Davis and Bingham, 6—1, 6—4.

Scribes Golf (?) a Wee Bit; Nothing to Write Home About

THE critical golf match between Washington and New York sports writers passed safely into history yesterday to the great relief of the citizenry adjacent to the Anacostia golf course on which the embroglio was staged. The New York scribes were represented by one intrepid niblick wielder, Marshall Hunt, who explained that his teammates were kept away from the match by fallen arches, hay fever, dandruff and other ailments.

The affair was won by Jack Keller, who left the club house only once, to investigate a rumor that he was actually on a golf course. The losers were the Anacostia golf course and mine host Winfree Johnson, of the Public Welfare and Recreational Association. Both were reeling groggily and on the verge of a knockout at the finish. The match was featured by Clyde McCauley's blue shirt, Shirley Povich's eagle ten and Walter Haight's driving en route to the golf course. Dave Herman, Bill McCormick and Garrett Waters, who appeared on the course with two clubs, used one of them. Bob Considine took the great circle route from tee to green.

Philly Scribes Seek All-Star Major Game

Philadelphia, July 31 (AP).—An invitation to hold an all-star interleague baseball game in Philadelphia next year was wired today to the American and National Leagues by the Philadelphia Sporting Writers Association.

The association announced that if the invitation is accepted the proceeds would go to charity.

Betty Nuthall Wins Tennis Final

EAST HAMPTON, N. Y., July 31 (AP).—Betty Nuthall, British Wightman Cup star, captured the singles championship of the eighth annual Maidstone invitation tennis tournament today, defeating Alice Marble, rising young Sacramento, Calif., player, 5—7, 6—3, 6—0, in the final round.

England also shared in the doubles as Margaret Scriven, another British Wightman Cup player, teamed up with Elizabeth Ryan, veteran Californian, who has made her home in England for many years, to defeat Miss Marble and Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, 6—2, 9—7.

Miss Marble, seeded first among the American players in singles, fought a courageous battle against Miss Nuthall, but it was her third match on one of the hottest days of the year and she faded quickly after she had smashed through to win the first set. She offered stubborn resistance in the second set, but fell into frequent errors in the third and lost it at love.

108 Games Too Much Tennis.

Earlier in the day Miss Marble had won her singles semifinal from Mrs. Marjorie Gladman Van Ryn, of Orange, N. J., 6—3, 6—8, 6—1, and teamed with Mrs. Moody to beat Miss Nuthall and Mary Heeley, of England, in the doubles semifinals, 6—4, 4—6, 6—1. So that on a day when the temperature reached 100 degrees, the young Californian played a total of 11 sets and 108 games.

In the end it proved too much. Miss Nuthall raced into a 4-2 lead in the first set, but Miss Marble hit out with an effective deep court game which kept the English girl on the run and tied the match at 5-all. The Californian won the eleventh game on her own service and won the twelfth and set when Miss Nuthall double-faulted twice after the score had gone to deuce.

Except for a brief spurt in the second set when she evened the score at 3-3, Miss Marble could no longer cope with the English girl's attack and Miss Nuthall ran off nine games in succession, many of them on the Californian's errors.

Nats, Idle Today, Awaiting Red Sox

John (Whitey) Campbell, the right-handed curve-ball pitcher recently bought from the Albany club, has been returned to the International Leaguers. He left here yesterday afternoon. No strings were kept on him.

If Lou Gehrig keeps his health, his temper when arguing with umpires, and is not injured, he will equal Everett Scott's consecutive-game playing streak on August 16. Scott participated in 1,307 contests before missing one.

If the Washington Club wants to make a hit with its paying customers, it will follow yesterday's plan of admitting ladies' day guests to the upper stands only. This scheme gives the down-trodden males a break in that all the best seats are not taken long before they can get away from business and hustle out to the park.

Combs, Yankee lead-off man, has given the Yanks a start in all of the four games of this series. He walked in the first one, singled Saturday and Sunday and doubled starting yesterday's contest.

Bluege came in fast to make a good play of Lazzeri's topped one ending the first. His rifle peg nipped the runner by the closest of margins.

Living up to the New York tradition of doing everything in a big way, one of the scribes with the Yankees had a portable radio running in the press box yesterday.

Gomez's glove proved to be a big help to the Nats. Myer scratched a hit off it in the first and Manush benefited the same way in the third.

Kuhel broke his good habits of the entire season when he dropped Lazzeri's easy pop-foul in the fourth. Then the batter took advantage of the break by singling Chapman home from second.

Ruth's triple in the fourth, which emptied the filled bases, struck near the top of the center-field wall, just to the left of the flagpole.

Seeing there was no first-base coach on the job opening the Yanks' fifth, Lazzeri solved the problem by hitting a double, so that the third-base one could tell him what to do.

Seven Ryder Stars Seek P.G.A. Crown

Runyan, Wood, Dudley Only Team Members Not in Title Tourney

Milwaukee, Wis., July 31 (AP).—At least seven of the ten members of the American Ryder Cup team will compete here next week in the National Professional Golfers tournament, C. B. Johnson, chairman of the Milwaukee committee directing the event, announced today.

Leo Diegel submitted his entry today, Johnson said. Others who have promised to be present are Walter Hagen, Denny Shute, British open champion; Gene Sarazen, Olin Dutra, Horton Smith and Billy Burke. The entries of Paul Runyan, Craig Wood and Ed Dudley have not been received.

Hagen and Shute cabled from London they planned to sail on the Europa today, arriving in New York Friday. The tournament starts August 8 and will be played at the Blue Mound Country Club course.

Ryder Cup players were permitted to qualify automatically after a number of them objected that sectional qualifying dates came too early. Hagen and Shute have been on an exhibition tour of England and other members were booked for matches in this country.

Southampton Net Upsets Feature

Bryan, Murphy Eliminate Hall and McCauliff, Respectively.

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., July 31 (AP).—Robert Bryan, of Chattanooga, and Dick Murphy, of Utica, N. Y., furnished the Meadow Club's forty-third invitation tennis tournament with a brace of upsets on the opening day of play today.

Bryan outlasted the veteran South Orange, N. J., player, J. Gilbert Hall, after a three-hour battle, 9—7, 6—8, 6—4, while Murphy, a student at Hamilton (N. Y.) College, put out Dr. Eugene McCauliff, of Yonkers, 6—3, 8—6, thus summarily removing two seeded stars from the tournament. Hall was seeded sixth and McCauliff eighth.

Other Favorites Score.

Meanwhile, other favorites, including Frank Shields, winner of the Seabright Bowl last week; Frankie Parker, 17-year-old National Clay Courts champion; Sidney B. Wood, defending titleholder and top-seeded player; Gregory S. Mangin, national indoor champion, and Bryan Grant, little Atlanta star, advanced into the second round by straight set victories.

Shields depended almost entirely upon his sizzling service to oust Richard Covington, of Asheville, N. C., 6—4, 6—3, but Parker had to call on his best strokes to turn back the hard-hitting Brooklyn player, Edward W. Burns, 6—3, 6—3.

Wood had no trouble with Henry Culley, Santa Barbara, Calif., and advanced with the loss of only two games, 6—0, 6—2, and Grant easily disposed of the veteran Fred C. Baggs, of New York, 6—1, 6—2.

Dorothy Poynton, 18, To Wed Nelson Hill

Los Angeles, July 31 (AP).—The engagement of Dorothy Poynton, 18-year-old diving champion, and Nelson L. Hill, Hollywood business man and athlete, was announced today by the swimmer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Poynton. Miss Poynton has been in the East, competing in swimming events.

Welsh-O'Neil Advance To Finals by Default

The doubles team of Gene Hermann and C. Blanchard defaulted a semifinals match in the Public Parks Tennis championship tournament to Barney Welsh and Maurice O'Neil yesterday. The default was made necessary by Blanchard's absence from the city.

The Shore-Latona duo will meet Goldsmith and Wallenstein in a semifinals match today at 5 o'clock, on the Reservoir courts.

Braves Purchase Pitcher Bob Smith From Reds

President Emil Fuchs, of the Boston Club, said the purchase price was "considerably over the waiver price."

Smith, a right-hander, originally went from the Braves to Chicago, going from there to the Reds. He will report to the Braves in New York tomorrow.

British Davis Cup Win Called Outstanding

Aberdeen, Wash., July 31 (AP).—The victory of the English in the Davis Cup matches is one of the really outsanding and unexpected events of the year in international tennis, Harry H. Knox, president of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, said today.

"Both the United States and Australia were considered more apt to take the trophy from France this year, but both were eliminated by the surprising play of Perry and Austin. England has made a remarkable record this year and deserves our unstinted congratulations," Knox added.

Radio Dial Flashes

"MANANA" seems to be the status of the North American Radio Conference in Mexico City. According to the grapevine wireless, little if anything has been accomplishe to date, "but maybe something will happen tomorrow." One report has it that an impasse has been reached.

All meetings are secret, but it is said that the stumbling block—as had been predicted—is that Mexico and the Latin-American republics want more frequencies than the United States is willing to give up. Also that they will not be satisfied with anything outside of the present broadcast band.

The only definite thing learned is that a dispatch has been received from James W. Baldwin, observer for the National Association of Broadcasters, in Mexico City, that the conference may end in two weeks.

New York City will surely give the Mollisons, the unlucky English flyers (who, however, are probably lucky to be alive), a hearty reception this morning at City Hall. (WRC, 11 o'clock.) The Mollisons are the house guests of George Palmer Putnam, at Rye, N. Y., and his wife, Miss Amelia Earhart.

Helen Wills Moody, tennis champion, will be interviewed over the WABC network at 5:45, but not WJSV. Betty Nuthall will discuss Britain's chances of regaining the trophy over the same network tomorrow at 5 p. m.

KLARA KAE KNECHT is a new kind of a circus advance agent. She travels ahead of the Hagenbeck-Wallace giving radio talks. Miss Knecht will tell this afternoon over WRC at 4:45 o'clock about the training of animals for their circus jobs.

An hour later over WOL give a follow-up talk, "On the Other Side of the Circus," a description of how the circus arrives, how it unloads, how the tents are put up, how they cook for the cricus and how the circus people live.

A nation in midsummer heat will hear the dramatic story tonight of the heroic Boy Scout, Burtus Juhl, of Crystal Lake, Iowa, who risked his life in a blizzard, at 20 degrees below zero, that the lives of his schoolmates might be saved. (WRC, 9 p. m.)

"The Good and Bad in Sunlight," a discussion which doubtless will be of interest to many, was crowded out last week by Gen. Balbo's arrival. Dr. Norman E. Titus, of Columbia University School of Medicine, is, however, again scheduled to tell about this over WJSV at 9:45 a. m. today.

Gov. Edward C. Johnson and Senator Costigan, of Colorado, will speak from the Century of Progress Exposition on Colorado Day, over WMAL, at 3:15 p. m.

PAUL J. LEVERONE, principal of the Columbia School of Drafting, will speak over WRC this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock under the auspices of the Vocational Guidance committee of the Kiwanis Club. Mr. Leverone has had years of experience in all branches of drafting both in the Government departments and in private employ.

In 1910 he had prepared for Arthur Powell Davis, then director of the U. S. Reclamation Service, the first drawing of the Boulder Dam, which is now under construction. In his radio talk Mr. Leverone will describe the various branches of drafting and the opportunities they offer the young man and woman of today.

H. L. Woolhiser, city manager of Winnetka, Ill. Ora L. Wildermuth, attorney of Gary, Ind., and Carl H. Milam, secretary of the American Library Association, consider "Reducing the Library Budget." (WMAL—6:15 p. m.).

The Hall Johnson Negro Chorus will be heard with the New York Philarmonic Symphony Orchestra tonight. (WMAL—8 p. m.).

Debussy's "Cortege" will be the opening number of the two-piano recital by Schirmer and Schmitt over the WEAF network, but not WRC at 4:30 p. m.

Old hymns of the church will be featured over WRC at 5:30 p. m.

TWO new features will be with us today. Don Ross, barytone, strengthening the daytime offerings, will start a series over WJSV at 1:30 p. m. each Tuesday and Thursday. Don Ross is the husband of Jane Froman. While playing in amateur theatricals at Ohio State University he met Jack Brooks. They paired up and began a vaudeville career as Brooks and Ross.

A series with Husing's sports thrills, Leon Belasco's Orchestra, Barbara Maurel, contralto, and the four Hummingbirds, will be presented over WJSV every Tuesday and Thursday at 9:30 p. m., beginning tonight.

Highlights from "Martha," will be presented at 9:45 p. m. over WJSV.

"THE Bankers' Part in the Recovery Program" will be outlined by Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, in the National Radio Forum. (WRC, 9:30 p. m.)

ADMIRAL HORTHY, regent of the Kingdom of Hungary, and Lieut. Gen. Sir Robert Baden-Powell, famous Scout organizer, will be heard addressing the International Boy Scouts Festival at Budapest, Hungary, this morning. (WMAL, 10:30 o'clock.)

Four Dots Quartet, from the Glen Echo ballroom, will leave their sylvan retreat tonight long enough to appear with Radio Joe. (WMAL, 6:30 o'clock.)

It will not be necessary for most fathers to tune in on "The Father's Part in the Summer Vacation," because they probably know by this time what it will cost them. Nevertheless Leroy Bowman, of the Child Study Association, who is to talk on that subject, may have discovered some new angle of it. (WRC, 2.30 p. m.).

"Chu Chin Chow" melodies, a reminder of wartime days to many doughboys who saw it in London at that time, will be an important part of "Curtain Calls" tonight. WJSV, 7:15 o'clock.)

Five years ago tonight Fred Waring brought three girls on-stage in substitution for the falsetto voices he had been using for off-stage background. The musical effect created a sensation. That is how Priscilla and Rosemary Lane, together with Babs Ryan, happen to be singing this evening with Waring's Pennsylvanians. (WJSV, 9 o'clock.)

Sons of Erin not attending the Irish Day ceremonies at the Chicago exposition can hear the festivities at 3 p. m., over WMAL.

"THE New Deal and the Dollar," will be the topic of a Republican member of the Roosevelt family today, Nicholas, femerely U. S. Minister to Hungary. (WMAL, 3:30 p. m.)

Episodes associated with the composing and the first public performance of "Oh, Susanna," will be portrayed in "The Life and Songs of Stephen Foster," over WRC at 7:30 p. m.

Crime Waves.

SOME day our Government will rise, determination in its eyes, and say, "These waves of crime must cease, these murderers disturb the peace, set bad examples to the young and many of them should be swung. The divers States are often tricked, the bounds are set, their laws conflict; the criminals may cross a line, and officers take in their sign. Now it is up to Uncle Sam to put the sinners in a jam, and he must have a central booth, presided over by a sleuth who's wise to all the gins and snares that capture bad men unawares." The kidnap industry still thrives, the only business that survives the great depression unimpaired, and millionaires are tricked and snared, and held in bondage for a while, until they shell out half their pile. And children, too, and stately dames are victims of these beastly games; and constables go on the trail, without much skill, and bound to fail. These constables are able men when tracking down a straying hen, or hunting for a stolen cat—they're used to just such crimes as that. The Government should take in hand all deadly crimes throughout the land with officers so highly trained that their success is preordained.

New Yorker Today

By Mark Barron.

New York—Perhaps it is difficult to barge through a cordon of secretaries for an interview with famous people, but these celebrities have their own difficulties, too.

John D. Rockefeller, jr., telephoned a friend of his, a call that was particularly urgent. The friend was out, and the call was answered by his daughter, a girl just home from college.

Try as he would he could not convince the coed scoffer that he was serious. Eventually he had to hang up and call his friend the next day at his office.

Surprising Morgan.

Which recalls the time that Jay Racusin, then a gangling cub reporter from Philadelphia, was added to the staff of a New York daily. Being eager and ambitious, he was continually pestering his city editor for more work to do.

No reporter ever interviewed Morgan, but this was a little axiom that Racusin had not yet learned. Taking the city editor at his word, he boarded a subway and hurried down to the Morgan bank in Wall Street.

It so happened that in that one moment in a million the scores of Morgan secretaries were either elsewhere or had their backs turned and Racusin walked unmolested through the suites of offices until he entered the private office of Morgan himself.

The famous banker was so astounded, and later amused, that he granted Racusin a long interview and then put his signature to the transcript to prove it authentic.

"Oh, Yeah?"

Returning to the newspaper offices, Racusin was greeted by a growling city editor. "Where have you been all afternoon?" he asked.

"Interviewing J. P. Morgan," was the answer.

Statistics show that Brooklyn is the most inexpensive neighborhood in which to live in New York. A worker with wife and one child can maintain a fair standard of living there for $25.94 weekly. It would cost him $1 more per week to live in Manhattan.

A cloak-and-suiter came across the word "doldrums" and asked his partner what it meant. "You should know," was the retort, "you've been in them since October, 1929."

Then they tell of the novice watching a horse race for the first time at Jamaica track. "My horse was leading," he bemoaned, "and then the caddy fell off."

Business Men's Floats to Mark Firemen's Fete

Several Planning to Help Make Capital Parade Notable Success.

Commercial concerns of Washington, welcoming an opportunity to enter this year's National Firemen's Labor Day parade, are drawing plans for floats.

Yesterday, Fussell's Ice Cream Co., Abner Drury Brewery, Southern Dairies and Try-Me Beverages stated they were participating in the big fire fighters' celebration and would enter beautiful floats on which considerable time and money will be spent.

The parade committee recently decided to allow commercial entries this year, providing they convince the judges they are an addition to the pageant. The firemen decided to place a $15 entrance fee on all commercial concerns, the money to go directly to the parade fund.

The addition of the floats from Washington's business houses and manufacturing concerns and other enterprises will be a distinct contribution to the parade, the committee believes. It has been pointed out that at the great parade of roses in California, business houses aid greatly in the event.

With many beautiful commercial entries, and the floats that will be entered by fire companies, police divisions, volunteer firemen, labor and civic organizations, the line of march for 1933 should be the most colorful in its 11 years of history.

Herewith is published an entrance blank for business houses. Sign one of these and mail it to the Commercial Float Committee, National Firemen's Labor Day Parade, D. C. Fire Training School.

As a limitation will be placed on the number of floats, the committee urges early registrations.

Announcement was made yesterday by Edward J. Murphy, chairman of the sweepstakes committee, of the events that will immediately precede the parade on Pennsylvania avenue.

They are:

All entrants must be amateurs and each event will be a mile in length. The committee has decided to run other races, and announcements of these will be published shortly. Prizes will be given all successful contestants.

The races start at 10:30 a. m. and the parade at 11 a. m. Spectators are urged to make seating arrangements now. Plans are being completed by the firemen to seat about 10,000 persons along the Avenue at various points for the entire program of the day.

Gentlemen:

in the eleventh annual National Firemen's Labor Day Parade. This concern will abide by the regulations of the parade committee relative to the artistic merit of our float. It is understood that we will pay an entrance fee of $15 to the parade committee.

O'Ryan Delays Fusion Line-Up In New York

Withholds Acceptance of Mayoralty Bid; Foes Gain Support.

New York, July 31 (AP).—The fusion mayoralty status was still far from a settlemetn tonight as Maj. Gen. John F. O'Ryan announced he would take several days more to consider the nomination tendered him by one group of fusion leaders headed by Charles S. Whitman, former Republican governor.

"This is no time for hurried decisions influenced by the ambitions of individuals or the clashes of partisan politics," said Gen. O'Ryan, an A. E. F. commander, in a statement issued at the headquarters of the City Party, a nonpartisan group allied with the Whitman fusionists.

Samuel Seabury, whose investigation into New York City's government led to the resignation of James J. Walker as mayor, continued his steadfast opposition to the choice of O'Ryan by the Whitman group. He termed this selection a "sell-out" to Tammany Hall.

Gen. O'Ryan conferred with Seabury during the late afternoon and afterward Seabury said he had not altered his stand and told the general he could not win the mayoralty race.

The opposition to the Whitman choice also drew support from W. Kingsland Macy, Republican State chairman, who messaged from a Canadian fishing camp that he sided with Seabury.

Rev. B. C. D'Easum Dies In Boise, Idaho, at 67

Boise, Idaho, July 31 (AP).—The Rev. Basil Chichester D'Easum, 67, recently retired from the Protestant Episcopal ministry after a score of years of writing and teaching in Idaho, died here today.

Born in Bombay, where his father was stationed in British Government service, Mr. D'Easum spent his youth in India. He went to Canada shortly before the Boer War and later went to South Africa with the Canadian Mounted Rifles.

Lifer, in Solitary 7 Years, Pardoned

Atlanta, July 31 (AP).—Gov. Talmadge has pardoned Bill Green, life-term murderer who spent seven years of his life in solitary confinement after stabbing Leo Frank, figure in a noted Georgia case a number of years ago.

Green was convicted in Muscogee County and was received at the penitentiary in 1913. The records did not show the crime for which he was convicted.

Frank was lynched by a mob at Marietta, Ga., after he was convicted in Atlanta on an indictment charging him with the murder of a girl employee. His sentence of execution had been commuted to life imprisonment by the then governor, John M. Slaton.

Sea Scouts Will Meet To Plan 10-Day Cruise

Plans for a ten-day cruise will be discussed at a meeting of the Sea Scouts tomorrow evening at the Sea Scout base, Engineer Wharf. At that time the scouts will also inspect the Edith Marcy, the sailing ship owned by Capt. John Bryant, in which the cruise down the bay will be made.

In an effort to stimulate scouting, the officers are also planning several additional cruises during the summer and fall. At the tomorrow gathering National Commander Tom Keene will address the scouts.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 29, 1933—
THOS. J. OWEN & SON, Auctioneers.

Trustee's sale of valuable improved real estate consisting of a five story and basement stone and brick apartment building containing 78 apartments, facing on Harvard Street at the corner of Mount Pleasant Street Northwest, Washington, D. C., known as "The Embassy."

Whereas, default having been made in the payment of the semiannual interest on the debt secured on the hereinafter-described land and premises by a certain deed of trust bearing date May 1, 1924, and recorded May 3, 1924, in Liber 3213, folio 309, of the land records of the District of Columbia, and also in the payment of taxes, and at the written request of the holder of the bonds secured by the said deed of trust, the undersigned, the trustee named in said deed of trust, will offer for sale, under the provisions thereof, at public auction, in front of the premises, at THREE O'CLOCK P. M., on TUESDAY, the TWENTY-NINTH DAY OF AUGUST, 1933, the following described land and premises in the City of Washington, in said District of Columbia, namely: Part of the tract of land called "Mount Pleasant," being a portion of the land conveyed to David O. Swain, by deed in liber 981, folio 470 of the Land Records of the District of Columbia, described as follows: Beginning for the same at the intersection of the westerly line of Mount Pleasant street with the northerly line of Harvard street, as said Harvard street was condemned and opened by proceedings in District Court Case No. 970 in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, and running thence along the said north line of said Harvard street, south seventy-two (72) degrees thirty-one (31) minutes west, sixty-five and eighty-eight hundredths (65.88) feet to a peg; thence on the arc of a circle, deflecting to the right whose radius is two hundred and forty-five (245) feet, the distance of one hundred and fifty-seven and eighty-two hundredths (157.82) feet to a peg at point of reversed curve; thence still with said north line of Harvard street, on the arc of a circle deflecting to the left, whose radius is nine hundred and forty-five (945) feet, a distance of twenty-five and sixty-nine hundredths (25.69) feet to the southeasterly corner of the land conveyed to John G. Wolfe by Mary B. Swaim Thompson, by deed dated April 27, 1921, and recorded in liber 4516, folio 411, of said land records; thence north on said Wolfe's east line, one hundred and twenty-one and forty-six hundredths (121.46) feet to an alley; thence on said alley, south eighty-six (86) degrees fifty-one (51) minutes east, one hundred and four and seventeen hundredths (104.17) feet to the said west line of Mount Pleasant street; thence on said west line, south seventeen (17) degrees twelve (12) minutes east, one hundred and six and fifty-two hundredths (106.52) feet to the place of beginning. At the date hereof, the above described land is designated on the books of the Assessor of the District of Columbia, for taxation purposes, as lot 808 in square 2591. Together with all buildings and improvements of every kind and description which have been erected or placed thereon, including all engines, boilers, elevators, dynamos, heating and lighting apparatus, refrigerating plant, and also all, each and every of the permanent or immovable interior improvements and fixtures of every kind and description in or upon said premises, or used in connection therewith, together with all and singular the ways, easements, rights, privileges and appurtenances and hereditaments to said premises belonging or in any wise appertaining.

TERMS OF SALE: One-third of the purchase price in cash, of which a deposit of $15,000 must be made with the trustee at time of sale, and the balance in equal notes of the purchaser, payable in one and two years after date of sale, with interest at the rate of six per centum (6%) per annum and payable semiannually, secured by deed of trust on the property sold, or all cash, at the option of the purchaser. The terms of the sale to be compiled with within fifteen days from date of sale, in default of which the property will be resold, at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser, after five days readvertisement in some newspaper published in Washington, D. C., all conveyancing, title examination, recording and revenue stamps to be at the expense of the purchaser. UNION TRUST CO. OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA, Trustee. By GEORGE E. 4 Felled Here By Heat Wave Gripping East

Washington sweltered through one of the hottest days of the year yesterday. Citizens gathered little comfort from the fact that most other cities on the Eastern Seaboard were experiencing their peak heat of the summer.

With the mercury soaring to 97 degrees at 5 p. m., within three degrees of the record 100 June 9, thousands flocked to beaches and pools and sought relief sleeping in the parks during the night.

More than 10,000 persons gathered on Hains Point with the vain hope of a cooling breeze from the river. Whole families settled themselves on the golf course to spend the night, hoping for a little sleep.

Park Police said the traffic was as heavy as at the height of the cherry blossom season. One driver reported taking an hour to drive the length of the Speedway.

Four Are Prostrated.

The temperature reached 99 on July 1, for the second hottest day of the year, and the month was ushered out with the year's third scorcher.

Four cases of heat prostrations were taken to hospitals for treatment. No deaths as a result of the heat were reported. Those prostrated were:

William Hudson, 25, 3527 Fourteenth street northwest, who was in a serious condition at Garfield Hospital; James Dolan, 38, 2626 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, at Garfield; Earl Light, 26, colored, at Emergency, and P. Charias, Baltimore, at Freedman's.

Humidity Also Rises.

The mercury here had dropped to 89 degrees at 8 p. m. yesterday. The humidity, however, rose from 59 to 70.

In New York, where the temperature reached 100 for the first time in 15 years, closely approaching that city's all-time record of 102 degrees, 10 deaths were attributed to the heat.

President Roosevelt, vacationing at Hyde Park, where the mercury reached the scorching point of 101 degrees, spent the day indoors avoiding the blazing sun.

No immediate relief here or in other portions of the East was promised by the United States Weather Bureau, and Washington faced the prospect of possibly higher temperatures before the end of the week.

Relief in West.

Cooling winds and rainstorms were reported from various localities, where thousands of acres of crops were damaged by the burning sun.

The only immediate hope for relief in Washington and the rest of the East lies in the winds that cooled the Midwestern section. The Weather Bureau declined to forecast that they would ever reach this part of the country.

Reports from different sections of the country indicated that the heat wave is responsible for a death toll of more than two score persons.

Heat Drives Thousands to Parks, Many Spend Night

Washingtonians took to the parks in an effort to escape the stifling heat which gripped the Capital yesterday. Upper—Johnnie, Patsie and Tommy Dale found this bench partially submerged in the cooling waters of Rock Creek Park and proceeded to read their favorite comics . . . in The Post. Center—Mr. and Mrs. Earl Combs were among the thousands who took their children and retired to the cooling greens of Hains Point last night. Lower—These children couldn't resist the sight of the swirling waters of Rock Creek, so off came shoes and stockings.

Telephone Co. Again to Defy P.U.C. Order

Letter Refuses to Give Data Commission Asked April 20.

By J. D. Secrest.

The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. today again challenged the jurisdiction of the Public Utilities Commission over telephone depreciation charges.

On April 20, last, the commission ordered the telephone company to produce data on the service life of its equipment by August 1. The order, while seemingly in accord with a similar demand made on all subsidiary telephone companies of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. by the Interstate Commerce Commission, actually was very significant.

"Its significance lay in the fact that the Interstate Commerce Commission order was not mentioned, though the dates corresponded, and in the additional fact its only authority was the local public utility act. The Interstate Commerce Commission postponed the date until August 1, 1934.

The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. has insisted that the right to fix depreciation charges rests solely with the I. C. C.. A combination of State and public service commissions and the District Commission recently attacked this theory before the I. C. C.

Yesterday the local telephone company sent a letter challenging the commission's right to demand the depreciation data and refused to provide the data.

Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chairman of the commission, said he had received no formal word from the telephone company and could not say until today whether the commission's order would be obeyed. He said the matter will be discussed today with R. A. Van Orsdel, counsel of the Chesapeake & Potomac Co.

3 Injured in Crash; Driver Freed on Bail

William L. Edwards, 3701 Jocelyn street northwest; his wife, and Miss Minnie Schultz, of Lansdale, Pa., were injured yesterday when their car fell over an embankment and crashed into a tree after colliding head-on with a car driven by Miss Bertha Foley, of Cleveland, Ohio, at Sixteenth street and Alaska avenue northwest. The injured were treated at Walter Reed Hospital. Mrs. Foley was freed by Sixth Precinct police in $500 bail on a charge of reckless driving.

7 Held, 3 Others Sought in Shooting

Assault Warrants Issued in Affray Resulting in Two Wounded.

Police last night continued their search for two men and a woman wanted in the shooting of two men at Nineteenth and K streets northwest last Friday morning. Charges of serious assault were placed against the seven principals now being held, two of whom are in hospitals.

Those charged yesterday are Louis Levin, 19, of 2801 Thirty-third street southeast Louis Tapponier, 26, of 473 H street northwest; John Mitchell, 22, 1835 K street northwest; Harry B. Eury, 20, of 2811 Fourteenth street northwest; Fred A. De Boe, 19, of 1002 Tenth street northwest; Joseph De Ambrosio, 20, of 228 First street southwest, and Barney Munitz, 19, of 306 Four-and-a-half street southwest.

Three other persons taken into custody in connection with the shooting have been released. They are James P. Kyle, 28, of 1825 K street northwest; Mrs. Gertrude Eury, 18, of 2811 Fourteenth street northwest, and Daniel De Ambrosio, 26, of 247 Delaware avenue southeast.

Held on Third Degree Charges

Detectives J. W. Shimon (left), and W. V. Christian of Third Precinct, who have been suspended in connection with third degree charges made by Thomas B. Washington, colored tap dancer.

Boy Hurt in Fight With Chum Over Toy Dies of Skull Fracture

Thomas, according to police, was playing with two boys in an untenanted house on Twelfth street, two blocks from his home. He came home crying and told his mother the boys had beat him.

Early Saturday morning the boy staggered into his mother's bedroom, crying that his head hurt and that he could not see. Removed to Sibley Hospital, it was found he had a skull fracture.

The other boys told police they quarreled over the scooter, belonging to one of them, and that in the ensuing scuffle Thomas fell, striking his head on a nail projecting from the toy.

The boy's mother, Mrs. Jacob Loewy, was hysterical last night and near collapse. Another son died three years ago.

Hero's Body Waits Word From Father

The body of William John Brosko, 28, first class aerographer at Naval Air Station, who was drowned Sunday in the Anacostia River saving the life of an 11-year-old boy, was at Naval Hospital yesterday awaiting instructions from the hero's father, Michael Brosko, of Detroit.

The tragedy ended a five-year career in the Navy during which Brosko became known as an expert in aviation weather forecasting. He has been stationed at the air station here since July 8.

Maj. Brown to Leave On Health Try Abroad

Maj. C. J. Brown, director of the Washington Independent Boys' Band, will sail from New York tomorrow with his son for an extended trip through France and the British Isles. The bandmaster is making the voyage for his health.

A "So Long" reception was given to Maj. Brown by members of his band at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Sabin, 622 Delafield place northwest. During the major's absence the band will be under the direction of L. Z. Phillips, well-known musician and composer.

Diver Finds Body Of Drowned Youth

The body of Emmitt McNeill, 18, of 1611 Irving street northwest, who drowned July 20 in the C. & O. Canal near Widewater, Md., was brought up yesterday by Fred George Michels, a Navy diver.

Michels found the body buried in a 40-foot mud hole 10 minutes after he submerged in his diving outfit. The Bethesda Fire Department had been dragging the canal unsuccessfully for 10 days.

Funeral services for McNeill, a senior at Central High School, will be held at 3 p. m. today at the Chambers Funeral Home, Fourteenth and Chapin streets northwest. Burial will be in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

Two Detectives Are Suspended In Beating Case

Prisoner Allegedly Abused in Third Precinct to Obtain Information.

Two detectives were suspended from the Third Police Precinct yesterday for allegedly beating a prisoner to obtain information.

They are Joseph W. Shimon and W. V. Christian. The suspension was ordered after a preliminary investigation by Inspector Thaddeus A. Bean and Capt. Edward J. Kelly, commander of the Third Precinct. A report will be submitted to United States Attorney Leo A. Rover for possible criminal action.

The suspension recalls the case of two years ago, when more than 20 policemen and detectives were indicted by the Federal grand jury for abusing prisoners.

Policeman William Laflin and Detective James A. Mostyn are serving one-year sentences in the District Jail resulting from the investigation. Detective Sergt. Robert J. Barrett is still under suspension, following two trials which resulted in hung juries.

Detectives Shimon and Christian were identified by Charles Brown, 26, colored, at Gallinger Hospital, where he is suffering from a fractured jaw and severe cuts and bruises.

Complaining of his injuries from the alleged beating, he was taken to Emergency Hospital Sunday morning. After preliminary treatment, he was returned to his cell. On Monday night Capt. Kelly ordered the prisoner taken to the Municipal hospital for further examination.

Injuries Fatal To Worker.

William F. Johnson, 56, colored employee of the Bureau of Mines fuel yards, died at Providence Hospital yesterday from injuries received at the coal yard July 26 when his legs became enmashed in the gears of a crane.

Special Police Guard Against Tong Outbreak

Extra Protection Ordered Here Following Warfare in New York.

Washington's Chinatown seethed with expectancy last night as special police protection was thrown into the area near downtown H street to guard against a repercussion here of New York's latest tong outbreak.

The protection was asked by leaders of the On Leong Tong, Chinese trade association. Fear of reprisal here for the killing of an On Leong Tong member in New York last week by a Chinese identified as one of the Hip Sing Tong was given by authorities as the reason for precaution.

The On Leong Tong here has among its members the majority of local well-to-do Chinese merchants. The Hip Sing Tong is represented here by Chinese seamen, laundrymen and restaurant workers.

The On Leong leaders discounted the likelihood of a local outbreak. They explained their request was merely as a precaution against tong members from other cities.

In 1929 a series of outbreaks among the tongs spread along the seaboard cities, but Washington escaped violence.

2 Jailed as Jobless March on Aid Office

A man and a woman were charged with disorderly conduct yesterday after they led a group of unemployed men and women on the emergency relief committee of the Board of Public Welfare headquarters at C street and John Marshall place northwest.

Six white and 20 colored persons demanded immediate relief. The two alleged leaders who were arrested told police they were Communists. They are Andrew Powaznick, 26, 525 Twenty-third street northwest, and Gertrude Krupp, 24, 808 First street northwest.

Fido, Beware!

If Fido hasn't a new license, he is likely to be picked up by the poundmaster any time now.

The District Commissioners yesterday ordered the poundmaster to take all dogs not wearing the new license tags, and indications are that there are about 12,000 unlicensed. Last year more than 20,000 dogs were licensed, but only 8,000 tags have been issued so far this year.

Dogs at large also must wear muzzles during August and September.

2 Vinall Boys To Be Returned To Home Today

U. S. Aid to Meet Youths on Landing; Grand Jury Investigating Case.

Taken to England without their father's knowledge or permission by H. Priestley Brock, Episcopal rector, whose reported masquerading in the clerical cloak is under grand jury investigation, the two youthful sons of Robert P. Vinall will be returned to Washington today, The Post learned last night.

The two, Robert, 16, and Richard, 15, who were taken out of the country by Brock in March, will reach New York this morning on the steamship American Trader. A representative of the State Department, which located them in Wales and brought them back, will meet the ship and bring them to Washington.

Meanwhile, the District grand jury is hearing evidence that Brock, whose alleged impersonation of a minister went without discovery by Episcopal churchmen of the diocese until he left with the boys and an investigation was begun, took a sum of money from a Washington Grove, Md., woman under the pretense of aiding a school for boys he had established at Cockeysville, Md.

Other than to say the boys would reach here today, the State Department would not comment on the case. It is not believed that Brock is with the boys. It is thought that official reticence in connection with the affair is due to the fact that extradition will be sought if an indictment is returned.

City Manager Here Foreseen By Dr. Ballou

Delay in Appointing New Commissioners Held to Point to Change.

Speaking at a Rotary Club meeting at Waterville, Me., yesterday, Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of District schools, declared, "President Roosevent's delay in appointing a board of commissioners for the District of Columbia indicates strongly he is contemplating a change in the government of Washington."

Dr. Ballou is spending the summer at Belgrade Lakes.

"The fact that advisors of the President believe the government of the District should be invested in one person, furthers the belief that a city manager form of government will be adopted," he said.

Seventy-five per cent of the funds expended for the District is raised by its taxpayers, continued Dr. Ballou, and they have nothing to say as to how it will be spent. Congress decides that issue. A popular slogan in Washington today is "taxation without representation," he said.

"I believe that the people of the District should have participation in local government," he said. "As conditions now exist, a half million people are without franchise. Many desire to obtain national representation, preferring the present local system to that of the city manager form, providing, however, they be allowed to vote for the President and representatives in Congress."

According to Dr. Ballou, the delay in the appointment of commissioners forecasts a general "house cleaning" of the other Capital boards.

"There is no justification for modifying the present government on the grounds that it is not functioning properly," he said. "Because it is the most honored system in the country, ultimately, however, there will come an amendment to the Federal Constitution seeking national representation from the District and this, of course, will be decided by general vote."

Whitehurst Requests 16th Street Paving Bids

Capt. H. C. Whitehurst, director of highways, yesterday sent to the District Commissioners a request to advertise for bids early this week on the repaving and improving of Sixteenth street from Columbia road to the bridge just north of Spring road, at an estimated cost of $110,000.

The project is one of three approved last week by the Public Works Administration, which will advance a total of $481,000 out of the District's allocation of nearly $2,000,000. The other items approved are the P Street Bridge and the repaving of Foxhall road from the Reservoir road to Nebraska avenue. Bids will be asked on these within a few days.

Man Held in Fight; Victim Badly Injured

Walter W. Branbridge, 29, 1518 Seventeenth street northwest, was being held by police last night for investigation in connection with a fight with Fred H. Christensen, 28, 2140 N street northwest, at Fourteenth and I streets Sunday night. Christensen was in a serious condition at Emergency Hospital from a skull fracture, suffered when knocked to the pavement allegedly by Branbridge.

Bank Directors Answer Note Suit

Denying that they had individual possession of, or control over, two $500 notes that were left in the Park Savings Bank for collection by L. Helen Bentley, 3485 Holmead place northwest, 28 directors of the bank yesterday filed a formal answer to a suit for possession of the notes.

The directors disclaimed any personal knowledge of the notes, which are now pledged with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation as part of a list of securities posted to secure a Government loan.

Attorneys Joseph T. Sherier, Otis Beall and Ralph B. Fleharty represented the directors. The Bentley suit was filed in the District Supreme Court last month.
